THE STANDARD SOUTHERN NEWSPAPER

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

ASSOCIATED PRESS SERVICE

VOL. LIII., No. 168. Entered at Atlanta P. O. as Second Class Mail Matter. ATLANTA, GA., MONDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 29, 1920. ONLY MORNING NEWSPAPER PUBLISHED IN ATLANTA. Daily and Sunday, weekly, 20c; monthly, 70c. Single copies: Daily, 5c; Sunday, 10c.

SINN FEIN USES FIRE TO TERRORIZE BRITAIN

ENGLAND IS TRYING TO KILL ALL IRISH, SAYS BISHOP GUNN

War of Extermination Is Being Waged, Claims Former Atlanta Pastor Who Is Just Back From Erin.

TERROR REIGN THERE "DELIBERATE," HE SAYS

States "Black and Tan" Threatened Him With Pistol and Cursed and Reviled all Americans.

"If Americans could know real conditions in Ireland today, there would be a howl of execration from this free land that would shake the British throne; a wild wail of rage against those who are turning Ireland into shambles!" Bishop John E. Gunn, of Natchez, Miss., formerly beloved pastor of Sacred Heart parish, of Atlanta, for thirteen years, told a Constitution reporter last night at the Sacred Heart rectory, where he was a guest yesterday upon his return from a trip to the devastated districts of Ireland. Sunday-morning he described conditions in Ireland in the course of a sermon to his former congregation.

"The British government is relentlessly conducting a deadly campaign to exterminate the Irish—really exterminate every living Irishman in Erin; waging a deliberate reign of terror to cause famine and complete annihilation of the race," he added. "I was amazed—horrified—to see with my own eyes the unspeakable atrocities now actually mere everyday events in Ireland.

Atrocities Beyond Belief.

"I didn't go to Ireland as an investigator. My thirty years and more in America had dulled my childhood memories somewhat. But what I saw—the actual evidence of atrocities beyond belief here in America—was worse, far worse than Belgian, Armenian or Serbian atrocities ever could have been. And I visited those tyrannized districts, too, but nothing there could compare in awfulness of conditions in Ireland today."

In the bishop's talk he went into detail, citing specific instances of outrages by the score. One of the occurrences was in regard to the bishop's status as an American citizen.

"I was halted on the streets of Galway in the early afternoon by a 'black-and-tan,'" the bishop said. "He offensively demanded my papers and asked me what I was doing on the streets. I said I was an American and, as I reached in my pocket for my passport, asked him by what authority he was interfering with me. 'By this authority,' he snarled, pressing an automatic revolver against my temple. 'Do you want some more of it?' I handed him my passport, and he began to curse me and revile all Americans in general. I passed on, but not before I had heard him remark to his partner, another 'black-and-tan,' that he had done 20 years in prison for manslaughter, and had been turned loose so now he could kill all the Irish he cared with no questions asked."

Washington Stories True.

Referring to the Washington in-

(Continued on Page 2, Column 3.)

Policeman Kills Man in Liquor Raid

Shepard Viscera Contained Poison Says Dr. Everhart

Atlanta Chemist Returns From Testifying in Poison Case at Fort Valley. Funke Substantiates Statements.

Dr. Edgar Everhart, Atlanta chemist who was retained by the state to make a chemical analysis of the viscera of Fred D. Shepard, wealthy Houston county peach grower, whose death in a Macon hospital on June 1 was the cause of the investigation, which has brought about the arrest of three persons charged with murder, stated Sunday night on his return to Atlanta from Fort Valley that his examination had proven that bichloride of mercury could have been employed to bring about Shepard's death since he had found positive traces of it in his analysis.

This is substantially the same statement Dr. Everhart made to the coroner's jury in Fort Valley Saturday afternoon, which was the basis for the verdict returned by the jury that Shepard had been poisoned.

"There is no way of telling how much poison was employed," Dr. Everhart stated. "In all probability it was a very large dose, but it could have been administered in small quantities for several days in succession. This poison has its effect within one to five days after administration and is soluble in whisky."

Dr. Everhart also stated that his testimony had been substantiated by that of Dr. John Funke, Atlanta pathologist, who was employed by the state to make an additional examination following the second exhumation of Shepard's body when all of the vital organs were removed and brought to Atlanta.

MRS. MURPHEY IS DEAD

Funeral Will Be Held at Residence This Afternoon.

Funeral services for Mrs. Bennetta Crawford Murphey, wife of Dr. C. E. Murphey, who died at 8 o'clock Saturday night at the residence, 156 Peachtree circle, will be conducted from the residence at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Rev. W. S. Wasson, pastor of St. Mark's church, of which Mrs. Murphey was a devout member, will officiate, and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

The pallbearers will be W. A. Allbright, O. L. Jernigan, N. F. Davidson, Dr. W. N. Powell, R. P. Ripley and J. H. Ewing.

Mrs. Murphey is survived by her husband, Dr. C. E. Murphey; a daughter, Miss Mary Murphey; a brother, A. L. Crawford; sister, Mrs. Ella P. Jenkins, and a nephew, D. C. Jenkins, all of Columbus, Ga., and a niece, Mrs. Norman Davidson, of Atlanta.

Mrs. Murphey's death came as a shock to her many friends in Atlanta and throughout the south, her end coming after an illness of only two weeks. She was one of Atlanta's best-known women, and was actively engaged in the religious, social and charitable affairs of Atlanta.

WIDOW TO BE MADE A DEPUTY SHERIFF IN NORTH CAROLINA

Asheville, N. C., November 28.—A woman will be deputy sheriff of Buncombe county when the newly elected officers assume their duties on December 6, according to announcement made here by J. A. Lyerly, sheriff-elect of the county. Mrs. O. R. Keith, a widow with five small children, will be given the position Mr. Lyerly states.

DR. ELMER GOES TO SIDE OF WIFE IN MACON JAIL

Jacksonville Physician Rushes to Macon, Where His Wife Is Confined on Charges of Murder in Shepard Case.

TWO OTHERS ARRESTED ARE HELD IN PERRY

Mrs. Ione Henry, Sister of Mrs. Elmer, and Ernest Hopson Confined Under Guard at Henry Home.

BY TURNER JONES.
Staff Correspondent.

Macon, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Announcement was made tonight by attorney Charles M. Durrance, counsel for Mrs. F. E. Elmer, held in the Bibb county jail on charge of murder in the Shepard case, that her husband, Dr. F. E. Elmer, a Jacksonville, Fla., physician, is en route to Macon and is expected to be at his wife's side Monday morning.

Mrs. Elmer, who was brought to the local jail following sensational developments in connection with the investigation of the mysterious death of Fred D. Shepard, millionaire peach grower of Huston county, on June 1 last, and the verdict of the coroner's jury in Fort Valley Saturday that Shepard had met his death by poisoning, summoned several people to her cell today, but denied herself to all other callers. Several hundred people tried to see Mrs. Elmer at the jail today, but were all refused.

Mrs. Elmer was hysterical on her arrival at the jail last night, but ate heartily today. She occupies a hospital cell in the old Bibb county jail, which has confined such characters as Green and Gaynor, of the Savannah harbor frauds; Mrs. H. C. Adams, of Atlanta, who killed Captain Spratling; Lee Cross and many others.

To Fight Bail.

Solicitor General Garrett stated tonight that he will oppose the granting of bail to any one o fthe three arrested under any and all conditions.

Reuben Arnold, prominent Atlanta criminal lawyer, has been mentioned here today as a possible assistant for the state prosecution, although no definite decision has yet been arrived at.

Judge James Brunson, of Perry, Ga., has been retained by Mrs. Ione Henry, also of that city. It is understood that Judge Brunson and Judge John P. Ross, her other attorney, held a lengthy consultation at Perry tonight. Neither issued any statement, however.

Ernest Hopson was removed from the home of the Henrys tonight and confined in the Houston county jail by order of Judge H. A. Mathews, pending further arrangements. He will not be brought to Macon immediately.

There was no movement to obtain an early preliminary hearing or to obtain bail for any of the calm and self-poise throughout the entire recital of her story. Only when speaking of her sister, whom persons under arrest, although Attorney Durrance and Solicitor General Garrett held a two-hours' conference.

"Mr. Durrance explained some of the features pertaining to the property interests involved in the case and gave some interesting sidelights," Mr. Garrett said at the conclusion of the conference. "This may be of value in the final ascertainment of the truth, which is all that we are trying to get. The state is not trying to persecute any one."

Mrs. Ione Henry, sister of Mrs Elmer, who is under arrest in Perry on a murder charge, evinced deep solicitude for the welfare of her sister. She declared that Shepard was sick long before his death.

Mrs. Henry, a brunette of striking beauty, showed the greatest she characterized as the "clinging-vine type, poorly endowed to stand up under this unjust and absurd treatment," did she evidence any unusual emotion. "It is awful what they have done to us, but I only wish that they might have left my sister out and done it all to me, for I am of a better temperament to stand it," declared the woman.

Hopson, a dark brunette of stocky build, termed recent events a "realistic scenario."

Confined at Home.

Mrs. Henry's home has been tem-

Continued on Page 2, Column 4.

Widow Attempts To Restore Life To Dead Husband

Sheriff Summoned Finds Woman at Grave With Quantity of Clothing Praying for Husband's Resurrection.

Sylvester, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Last night, Sheriff Sumner, of this county, was called by phone to go to Doles, twelve miles north of Sylvester; that a woman had been murdered and left laying across a grave.

Upon reaching the scene, the sheriff found that no murder had been committed, but that the woman in question had been carried to the grave of her husband, Robert Rouse, white, who died about four years ago, by two ministers of the Holiness church for the purpose of her praying her dead husband back to life.

So strong was her faith in the resurrection of her husband, that it is reported that she had bought about $110 worth of clothing and had the clothes there ready. They also had the necessary tools to go into the vault, but abandoned the idea upon the arrival of the sheriff.

GAMBLING PROBE WILL BE PUSHED

Additional Evidence Secured and Will Be Brought Before Grand Jury at Meeting Next Tuesday.

Probe of the alleged activities of professional gamblers, confidence men and crooks in general will be resumed Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury, it was stated Sunday by Solicitor General John A. Boykin. Mr. Boykin said that additional evidence will be presented to the grand jury in connection with the names of several persons said to be under surveillance by the authorities as suspects in the alleged swindling and gambling syndicate.

Because of the utmost secrecy required for the successful completion of the investigation, Mr. Boykin said that he was not in a position to disclose any information as to the character of the evidence.

Meantime he is receiving scores of anonymous letters and telephone calls from persons volunteering information, which, according to Mr. Boykin, has proven very valuable to his department in connecting up various links of the complicated chain of circumstances. In many cases the informants furnish the solicitor's office with their names and addresses, but the majority have failed to do so.

Perhaps one of the most interesting recent developments in the probe was the announcement Saturday from the solicitor's office to the effect that a mysterious "Miss Ruth" is being sought in the case. Evidence of the existence of such a person was said to have been discovered in one of the three alleged gambling dens raided on Saturday, November 20, under the personal supervision of the solicitor. No intimation as to "Miss Ruth's" connection with the alleged syndicate was forthcoming.

TUMULTY OFFERED POSITION ON BENCH BY THE PRESIDENT

Washington, November 28.—Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, has been offered by Mr. Wilson an appointment to the customs court of appeals, but has reached no decision with regard to its acceptance. This was disclosed tonight in a statement issued by Mr. Tumulty, prompted by various published reports as to what he planned to do when his duties at the white house cease next March.

The statement also took notice of reports that Mr. Tumulty planned to enter a law partnership here with former Representative T. T. Ansberry, Ohio.

"I have made no definite plans for the future and have not under considertion a law partnership of any kind," Mr. Tumulty said. "It is true that the president has generously offered to me the judicial post made vacant by the death of Mr. Chief Justice Montgomery, of the customs court of appeals. I have this matter now under consideration, but have reached no decision regarding it."

LEAGUE DISAGREES OVER ESSENTIALS FOR WORLD PEACE

Disarmament, Mandates and International Court Debates Scheduled for Current Week.

ADMISSION OF STATES ANOTHER BIG ISSUE

Direct Pressure Method of Handling Nations Breaking Covenant Probably Will Be Plan Adopted.

BY A. E. JOHNSON.
United News Staff Correspondent

Geneva, November 28.—After a week given over largely to commission meetings the league of nations assembly will reconvene Tuesday, still seeking decisions on the most difficult problems confronting the nations of the world.

The coming week will be extremely active, and will mark the resumption of open debates on the assembly floor. It is predicted that the disarmament, mandates and international court debates will be extremely heated, and that a wide divergence of views will be revealed.

The neutrals and smaller powers generally demand immediate action as to disarmament. France and Roumania have openly declared they will not disarm until their former enemies are entirely disarmed. Delegate Negulesco, of Roumania, declared that the obligation to disarm should include non-members of the league. Fock, of the Netherlands and Lange, of Norway, are seeking to reorganize the permanent disarmament commission, believing it should be made up of civilians instead of military men. Lord Robert Cecil, Nansen and others are putting stress upon the importance of recognizing the use of the economic blockade weapon, and a special committee is now sitting in secret, perfecting an economic proposition which will be submitted to the assembly.

International Army.

It is expected that this will result in Rene Viviani, of France, again bringing forth his country's proposition for an international army, as a counter-move to the attempt to put economic pressure above the force of arms. In the meantime, England looks with disfavor on any general disarmament plans, while the United States, Russia and Germany are out of the league.

The question of mandates promises to result in considerable friction because of the widely conflicting interests. Japan is interested financially in South Africa. France is seeking mandatories which will produce black troops. Australia is seeking to exclude Orientals, and to create a "white Pacific." England is seeking oil and other natural resources. The South American countries and neutrals, who are not inpose perpetual mandates and unlimited powers of mandatories.

Chances Against Russia.

Another difficult question arising will be that of the admission of new states to the league. The arguments will hinge on whether admission shall involve de jure recognition. If it is decided that it does, then there is no hope for Rusisa.

As to the international court, the Root draft will be accepted virtually intact, except for a reservation as to compulsory arbitration. An attempt will be made to divide the

Continued on Page 2, Column 4.

ALLEN IS ELECTED HEAD OF RAILROAD TRAINMEN IN CITY

The annual election of officers was held Sunday afternoon by Lodge No. 866, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, at the regular weekly meeting of the lodge. The lodge now has a membership of nearly 1,000, and is said to be the largest in the entire state of Georgia.

C. F. Allen was elected president for the year. E. Walter Tripp chosen vice president, and others elected were as follows: P. H. Hutcheson, secretary; S. W. Davis, treasurer, and H. T. Lother, agent for the brotherhood's official publication. Messrs. Allen and Tripp were elected legislative representatives.

Fifty medals have been received by Lodge No. 866 from the Grand lodge for distribution among members who served "overseas" in the great war, and many were presented to the veterans Sunday afternoon.

Wife of Harding Flew Over Canal In Big Seaplane

Mrs. Harding Greatly Enjoyed Experience--Party Starts on the Homeward Trip.

Colon, November 28.—Mrs. Harding, wife of the president-elect, has long had a reputation for viewing things from all angles before forming an opinion. Which may or may not account for the fact that before packing her trunks and leaving here for home again, she went up in a seaplane and is now the proud possest NC type planes used by the Limon bay as personally observed from the flying machine.

During a visit to the naval air station at Cocosolo Mrs. Harding accepted an invitation to make a flight, spending fifteen minutes over Limon bay in one of the largest N Ctype planes used by the navy. The plane attained a height of about one thousand feet, and though it was her first experience at flying, Mrs. Harding appeared to enjoy it immensely.

While prospective presidents are forbidden the thrills of risky ventures like skyplaning, nevertheless, Senator Harding carries back with him a vivid picture of the bay from the air, recounted by Mrs. Harding.

Several others in the party also flew over the canal, but their experiences suffered in the telling as compared with those of the next first lady.

Promptly at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon all trunks were packed and all the party ready and not a little eager to start on the trip for home.

The steamer Pastores, bound for Norfolk by way of Kingston, Jamaica, left Cristobol late today with the president-elect and members of his party aboard. The vessel will reach Norfolk Saturday. Senator Harding will proceed to Washington before his return to Marion. His last day in the canal zone was spent quietly resting.

METHODIST BISHOPS FOR PURITAN SUNDAY

Atlantic City, N. J., November 28. A campaign about to be inaugurated by the Lord's Day Alliance of New Jersey for a puritanical Sunday was given the approval today of the house of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church. The program in its tentative stage was submitted today to the bishops in session here.

The campaign, if successful, would result in the closing of all stores on Sunday, prohibit the playing of all games, stop the running of trains and the publication of newspapers.

The house of bishops today received a communication from Frank Gilmore, executive secretary of the Actors' Equity association, expressing on behalf of that organization, indignation at the stand taken by the Methodist church with respect to dancers and dancing masters, and inquiring if persons in the theatrical profession are equally barred from membership in the Methodist church.

The church soon will begin a nation-wide appeal for candidates for the ministry, it was announced. The present "shortage" in ministers was said to be unprecedented.

CITIZEN OFFICER CLAIMS HE FIRED IN SELF-DEFENSE

A. B. Smith, 13 Corput Street, Accused of Drunkenness, Shot Dead by M. V. Ragsdale, Following Arrest and Flight Into Yard.

SLAYER SURRENDERS; IS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

Alleged Complaint of Woman Starts Officers on Fatal Trip—Wife of Dead Man Returns to Family Unaware of the Tragedy.

In an alleged attempt to escape, following his arrest and the search of his home for whisky, A. B. Smith, of 13 Corput street, was not shot and killed at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon near Corput and Marietta streets by M. V. Ragsdale, aged 22, of 208 Payne avenue, a citizen policeman. Ragsdale fired once, the bullet penetrating below the left eye of his victim who, though mortally wounded, advanced the several feet separating them and dropped dead at his slayer's feet.

Ragsdale was accompanied in the search of Smith's home by Patrolman B. R. Hutcheson, who aided in the arrest. Ragsdale claims that he shot in self-defense when Smith broke away from them and then approached again with his hand behind him as if about to draw a weapon from his hip pocket. The officer surrendered at police headquarters and is being held without bail.

A large crowd, attracted to the scene by the commotion attending the arrest of Smith and search of his home, had gathered in time to see Smith emerge from his backyard after the fatal shot, walk slowly past Patrolman Hutcheson, half strike, half grasp at Ragsdale, and fall to the sidewalk dead. According to witnesses no weapon was found on Smith's body.

Tells of Shooting.

According to Ragsdale's story to the police, he was at the Moon gasoline filling station on Marietta street at about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when Mrs. G. C. Moon, who was on duty at the station in the absence of her husband, told him that she wanted to have a case made against a drunken man. Patrolman Hutcheson came into the filling station at this time, he said, and he and the officer started an investigation.

Smith at this moment, Ragsdale claimed, came out of a house at the corner of Marietta and Corput streets, opposite the filling station, with an axe in his hand. A woman and a girl appeared from the house and took the axe away from him, he said, and Smith went back into the house. He was followed by Ragsdale and Hutcheson, who placed him under arrest, charged with being drunk and disorderly. They then searched the house and

Continued on Page 2, Column 5.

TORCH APPLIED AT LIVERPOOL TO WAREHOUSES

Several Great Structures, Packed Mostly With Raw Cotton and Manufactured Goods, Are Burned by Incendiaries.

EIGHTEEN BAD FIRES GOING AT ONE TIME

Policeman Shot Dead While Trying to Arrest Suspect — British Government Attributes Fires to Sinn Fein, and Says More Terrorism Is to Come.

BY PERCY SARL.
United News Staff Correspondent.

London, November 28.—Sinn Fein carried the Irish war into the industrial heart of England with an outbreak of arson in Liverpool Sunday morning. Twelve warehouses, stocked with cotton and other materials and a number of lumber yards were set on fire simultaneously. A oliceman was shot dead as he tried to arrest a man running from one of the burning buildings, and a boy who had the misfortune to observe the firebugs on one job was another victim.

At one time there were eighteen bad fires going in the warehouses and lumber yards, including six in the Bootle section alone. All the Liverpool fire engines as well as those from the suburban stations were out simultaneously and other apparatus was summoned from the neighboring towns.

Enormous Damage Done.

No estimate of the damage can yet be attempted, but it will certainly amount to many thousands of pounds sterling. Many fires were still burning despite the best efforts of the entire fire and police departments, at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Several score of firebugs are believed to have worked on the "job" in parties of varying numbers.

When the police rushed to the fires in the north end they were fired upon by the pickets stationed to stave off interference. None was his, however.

Bootle had a total of twelve fire alarms during the arson orgy. Several huge six-story warehouses, crammed with raw materials just unloaded from ships or with manufactured goods about to be shipped, were burned out. At one time there were three great fires going, including one lumber yard containing thousands of feet of timber badly needed for housing construction. In Sandsfield lane a similar lumber yard went up in flames and two immense cotton warehouses were badly damaged.

Outbreak According to Plan.

The outbreak took place according to the plan attributed to the Irish republican army and revealed to the United News on Thursday by the Irish office. As these dispatches announced at the time, the plan favored Sunday morning as the best time to attack Liverpool and Manchester with the torch and explosives.

While Liverpool was being threatened with destruction, and the entire forces of the great seaport city were making a bewildered fight against attacks in manuy quarters, precautions went forward in London to protect Lloyd George and other high officers of the government.

Heavy police guards were stationed throughout the Whitehall and Westminster districts, housing, respectively, the many government departments and parliament, St. James park, including a large parade ground, in the rear of the prime minister's residence, the admiralty and the foreign office was turned into a mobilization field for the special police and a concentration of these officers was kept there all day ready to be shipped to any point of attack on a second's notice.

The government is still reticent regarding the details of the plot, but the plan of destruction is re-

Alexander Reaches Atlanta And Reads Voluminous Mail

Alexander, "The Man Who Knows," arrived in Atlanta last evening and immediately proceeded to open up the thousands of letters which had been received at the office of The Constitution for him. The volume thus far received would seem to presage that aside from his performances at the Atlanta theater, which will commence tonight and continue all week, the mystic will be kept pretty busy answering the anxious through the columns of this paper.

Of course it will be a physical impossibility for Alexander to respond to all the questions received, but he will answer as many each day as his time, and the space, will permit.

Questions of every nature may be propounded, except those that have anything to do with a crime. These the psychic will not answer, nor will any attention be paid to queries not signed with the full, correct name and address of the questioner.

All that is necessary in submitting your query is to write the same clearly and briefly, signing as directed above, seal in an envelope and send to "Alexander, care of The Atlanta Constitution." In the published answers only the initials will be used.

The first set of questions and answers will appear in tomorrow's edition of The Constitution, and through this medium and during his entertainments at the Atlanta theater are the only ways you can receive the seer's advice. Under no conditions will any attention be given to requests for a private interview, this being absolutely prohibited by the contract he has with Manager Lewis Haase, of the theater, and The Constitution.

The Weather

RAIN.

Washington, November 28.—Forecast:

Georgia—Fair Monday and probably Tuesday; no change in temperature.

Virginia, North Carolina—Cloudy Monday and probably Tuesday; no change in temperature.

South Carolina—Fair Monday and probably Tuesday; no change in temperature.

Florida, Extreme Northwest Florida, Alabama and Mississippi—Fair Monday and probably Tuesday; no change in temperature.

Tennessee and Kentucky—Cloudy Monday; probably rain extreme west portion; Tuesday unsettled, probably rain and cooler.

The Christmas Shopping List

It means such a lot of time wasted and so much energy expended if it isn't compiled systematically.

Of course you can put down those things you want, but where to get them? That is the problem, and can you get all of the things your Chirtsmas list demands for the money you wish to spend?

Let The Constitution solve your Christmas Shopping Problems. Read carefully what the merchants of Atlanta have to say.

Compare offerings, revise your list until it fits the pocketbook and then sally forth with a smile, secure in the knowledge that you will not have to walk from store to store, but know exactly where you want to go and what you want to buy.

Read Constitution Advertisements Carefully Daily

vealed as the most elaborate in the history of the Irish troubles, with hundreds of men implicated.

Planned to Use Dynamite.

In Manchester and Liverpool precautions had been taken, as well.

There are thousands of Irishmen and others of known Sinn Fein leanings in both of these great seaports and manufacturing centers, and the government, evidently, had reason to fear trouble from some of them. As the original plot was said to have purposed the dynamiting of docks and other important public works in both cities, that part, at least, of the reign of terror has been thwarted, and in the absence of trouble in Whitehall, it was believed that the presence of the guards had scared off dynamtiers or assassins, if any had actually planned to make their attack today.

Five arrests were made in Liverpool. Hundreds of empty gasoline cans were found near the scenes of the fires. Entrance to the warehouses was gained by the forcing of locks or by cutting them out of the doors.

The police reported that a total of 18 fires had been started between 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning. They were in widely separated neighborhoods, on the north and south side of the city, some being 6 miles apart. The police stated that there must have been a number of well-trained and organized gangs of firebugs, wel acquainted with the interiors of the big warehouse buildings, which were the largest in the port.

Alleged Plot to Assassinate.

It was reported in London that the government had discovered an elaborate plan for the destruction of government property and the assassination of Lloyd-George and other government officials. This plan was to have been carried into execution on Monday, it was said, and the names of several plotters are understood to be known to the administration. The government is taking a very serious view of the plots, evidenced by the effort expended to organize for resistance in Whitehall.

There was another report that Sinn Fein assassins planned to ride through Whitehall in automobiles on Sunday, toss bombs into Downing street, where the premier lives, and speed away. It was in respect for this plan that the high barricade was erected across the mouth of Downing street.

The assassin who shot the policeman at the scene of one of the Liverpool fires was reported to have been arrested later. Further arrests were promised by the police.

Attacks Stiffen Government.

The extension of terrorism from Ireland into the heart of England sent a shudder over the land lest this be the beginning of a reign of terror even worse than that of the Fenian outbreaks 25 years ago. But it is plain that attacks of this nature will only stiffen the government's resolve to stamp out Sinn Fein to the very last sparks. The authorities regard the terrorism of the last two Sundays as the expiring struggle of a beaten adversary. They believe Sinn Fein did not turn its attention to England until it became too hard pressed by the soldiers and the black and tans in Ireland.

Observers believe the first reaction of the English people to the Liverpool fires will be a feeling of horror and resentment which will line up the nation solidly behind the government. As reports of the fires circulated through London Sunday ordinary Londoners were saying, "This is war—the Irish war," and the strife of two successive Sundays seemed to have shocked the Englishman out of his apathy, solidifying sentiment against Sinn Fein.

More Attacks Expected.

Government officials are candid in admitting that they regard the troubles in Liverpool as only the first of a series of outrages which will be attempted in various parts of the country. They intimate the possibility of more attacks in the larger cities during the coming week. Sinn Fein spies have thoroughly familiarized themselves with the lay of many buildings which would be ideal objects of attack from the attackers' standpoint—such as power houses in the industrial regions.

The home office has advised local authorities in the cities where attacks are expected to take precautionary steps. Sinn Fein meetings and other public demonstrations of sympathy are to be suppressed.

FIRES BROKE AT SAME TIME.

London, November 28.—A dispatch to the press association from Liverpool says:

"An alarming outbreak of Sinn Fein violence occurred Saturday night shortly before 9 o'clock. Fires broke out simultaneously both in the south and north ends of Liverpool and also in the Bootle.

"There were seven fires in Bootle and eleven in various parts of Liverpool.

"Subsequent discoveries revealed a well planned Sinn Fein plot to spread a holocaust of fire among the warehouses in the dock area. The fires were spread over almost all of the whole seven miles of the dock area.

"Owing to the inflammable nature of the contents of the warehouses the flames quickly gained a strong hold, and by 1 o'clock in the morning the whole sky was lit up. The local fire brigades were unable to cope with the situation and were obliged to call brigades from other suburbs. The police commandeered all telephone wires and took all steps to prevent further outbreaks by concentrating policemen along the line of docks.

"Three youths, watching the suspicious movements of two men at the cotton warehouse in Parliament street, warned the police, who challenged the suspects. Thereupon the latter bolted and fired upon the police, who pursued them. The police were unhurt, but a bullet pierced the heart of a youth, Daniel Ward, who was among those who had warned the police, and he fell dead.

"The fires in some instances were quickly quenched. Others, in cotton warehouses, burned fiercely the night long. One in the south end and another in Bootle, at the north end, are taken as proving that there was careful organization. It was found that all the locks on the warehouses had been cut with bolt cutters. Many empty petrol oil cans were found on the scene. Each fire started at more than one place. At one timber yard there were three separate outbreaks.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ON LIVERPOOL FIRES.

Belfast, November 28.—A statement issued tonight from Dublin Castle, after giving an account of the Liverpool fires and accompanying incidents, adds:

"Read in conjunction with the documents discovered last week in which plans for Sinn Fein reprisals against the English towns of Manchester and Liverpool, among a number, were detailed, these things have a very sinister aspect. The fact of the police being fired on suggests that the methods of the Sinn Fein murder gang in Ireland are being employed against the English people, even if the personnel of the murderers is not the same."

CORK BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Cork, November 28.—In additional incendiary fires Saturday night an extensive block of buildings in St. Patrick's street was destroyed, involving damage estimated at 100,000 pounds. The buildings destroyed included the Black Thorn house, which had been twice previously bombed and partially wrecked. The fire started in this structure on the present occasion and eventually involved the drapery store and the boot store on either side.

The fire broke out at 1 o'clock this morning and burned fiercely until daybreak.

MANY CASUALTIES OCCUR IN IRELAND.

Belfast, November 28.—Several casualties from clashes with the authorities and from other disorders occurred here and other parts of Ireland last night and early today.

A school teacher at Broadford, County Limerick, failed to respond to an order to halt given by crown forces, and was shot dead last evening.

At Cappoquin, County Waterford, a constable was dangerously wounded by three armed men.

In Belfast this morning a laborer returning to his home was wounded by a gunshot.

Moonshiners Pipe Water for 2 Miles To Monster Still

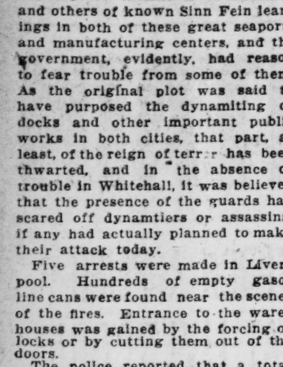
Lyerly, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Using an engine to pump water to their "wildcat still," a distance of two miles, Robert Love and James Fitzpatrick, two well-known farmers of Walker county, were arrested by Deputy United States Marshal Wardlaw and Deputy Collector Williams. The officers destroyed the still, a 40-gallon capacity outfit, together with 16 gallons of whisky and 2,000 gallons of beer, considered one of the biggest catches the officers have made in some time in this section.

The still was located in a "dry" place, there being no water for a distance of two miles, and a pipe line had been laid from a creek direct to the outfit in the hills, a gasoline engine being used for pumping the water. The outfit evidently had been in operation for some time and was prepared to do an immense business.

Revenue officers have been kept busy for the past several weeks in this section and quite a number of stills have been captured.

To Prevent Chills
Take GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC to destroy Malarial Germs in the Blood and thus Prevent Chills.

DRINK OR DRUG
POISONING requires ELIMINATION. The Neal Treatment acts as an ANTIDOTE for these poisons, creates a loathing for drink or drugs and overcomes the diseased condition. (No Hyoscine used.) Dr. J. H. Conway, 10 years with the "Keeley," in charge. Neal Institute, 229 Woodward Ave., Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)



A MAN'S collar is like the piano in an orchestra; if it is right nobody notices it; if it is wrong nobody notices anything else.
EARL & WILSON, TROY, N. Y.

ZELWOOD SPURWOOD
Collars & Shirts

CHENEY'S EXPECTORANT
FOR COLDS, COUGHS, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH

MAKES FEET FEEL FINE!

The instant you apply a little strip of soothing Red Top Callous Plaster to that sore, "achey" callous, corn or bunion, you'll forget your foot troubles.
RED TOP CALLOUS PLASTER
removes hard growth by painless absorption, takes out swelling, soreness, pain and you walk with comfort from the start. RED TOP is the sure, safe way to foot comfort—it's simple, easy to apply, comforting to wear. Sure relief or money back.
Many applications in each "handy roll." Sold by
SOROSIS SHOE DEPT
Price 35c.
Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

No One Need Buy Cuticura Before He Tries Free Samples
Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. Samples free of Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. X Malden, Mass.

Pleasant way to break up colds-
EVERYONE in the family can rely on Dr. King's New Discovery, the standard remedy for the last fifty years, to break up coughs, grippe and stubborn colds. No harmful drugs. At your druggists, 60c and $1.20.
For colds and coughs
Dr. King's New Discovery

Sallow Skin Not Pretty
Constipation destroys the complexion, making it yellow and ugly. Keep the bowels at work cleaning out the system daily by using Dr. King's Pills. They do the work thoroughly and gently Buy a bottle today, 25 cents.
Prompt! Won't Gripe
Dr. King's Pills

CARDINAL DENOUNCES HORRORS IN IRELAND

Primate Logue Arraigns the Methods Pursued by British Government.

Dublin, November 28.—Cardinal Logue, the primate of Ireland, in a pastoral letter read today in all the churches of the archdiocese, denounces the murders in Ireland and declares that if a balance were struck between last Sunday's assassinations of officers and the shooting by the police in Croke Park, he believes it "should be given against the forces for the crown."

The cardinal's letter scathingly arraigns the methods the government is pursuing, but warns the people "against any association, secret or open, which would lead them into any disorders or crime."

The cardinal in the letter says the ardent hopes of the Irish people for peace are charged by European and other countries. In support of this he cites a letter from the archbishop of Malines and all the Bishops in Belgium conveying their cordial sympathy to the Irish people. The pastoral proceeds to condemn in the strongest terms Sunday's tragedies, declaring belief that every man and woman in Ireland deplored and detested these "cold-blooded murders," which the cardinal says "no object could excuse and no motive justify," and adding:

"The perpetrators of such crimes are not real patriots but enemies of their countries."

Turning to the Croke Park affair, the cardinal says the forces of the crown were bound by their officers to protect and not destroy the people, especially those within their rights and innocent of any offense.

"The assassination of individuals is a detestable crime and a terrible outrage against God's law," he continued, "but it is a greater shock to humanity, a graver outrage against the divine ordinance whereby human life is protected, to turn lethal weapons against defenseless, unarmed, closely-packed multitudes."

With reference to reprisals, Cardinal Logue says lives and property are being sacrificed in cases where there has been no outrage which could give color to retaliation, and that the activities of the military were being carried into districts which hitherto had been considered peaceful.

ENGLAND IS TRYING TO KILL ALL IRISH

(Continued from First Page.)

vestigation of conditions in Ireland, the bishop was asked if things were really as bad in Ireland as reported in Washington, and if he could make any suggestion as to a remedy.

"Those are two questions," replied Bishop Gunn, "I will answer them separately and completely.

"Things are far worse in Ireland than are represented in America and worse than anything that has been said yet by the witnesses in Washington. Reading the American papers on Ireland is a loss of time. Most of them are slavish copies of English thought and English expressions.

"Following the principle of self-determination laid down by the United States, and explicitly accepted by Lloyd George, on behalf of England, the Irish people in 1918 voted for their country an independent status by a majority twice as great as that in virtue of which Lloyd-George holds office in England.

Gives Statistics.

"The reply of the English government to this expression of a nation's will has been since January of 1919—38,720 armed raids on private houses and on Irish citizens; 4,982 arrests and imprisonments; 1,604 armed assaults; 102 sackings and burnings of towns; 77 murders of unarmed inoffensive civilians, including women and children from 10 to 15 years of age. For these outrages upon civilization and the consequences that have followed, the government of England is solely responsible.

"The Irish people have to endure countless indiscriminate raids and arrests in the depths of night, prolonged imprisonment without trial, savage sentences from tribunals that command and deserve on confidence, the burning of town halls, factories, creameries and crops; the destruction of industries to pave the way for famine—all done by uniformed English servants, maddened with plundered drink and bent on loot. The flogging and massacre of civilians are perpetrated by the forces of the British crown, who have established a reign of frightfulness, which for murdering the innocent and destroying their property has a parallel only in the horrors of Turkish atrocities.

"What is the remedy? Remove the cause—namely, the army of occupation, the only forces of disorder, anarchy and murder in Ireland. Remove the savagery, the destructive savagery which is England's 'grappling hook,' and the Irish question is permanently solved. Keep up the government of the 'black and tans,' and the result will be either Ireland's extermination or England's suicide, or both."

Explains Sinn Fein Idea.

Asked to explain just what the Sinn Feiners are, the bishop said:

"The phrase in Gaelic means 'for ourselves.' The term means to an Irishman what the Monroe Doctrine means to an American. The Sinn Feiners are a political party in Ireland comprising about 80 to 84 per cent of the eligible voters. The party's main purpose is separation from English rule; that and nothing more. Sinn Feiners are not selfish, clannish persons without sympathy and love of their fellow man, as the mistaken idea in some sections might lead one to believe."

Defining the "black and tans," the bishop said: "The 'black and tans' are so called because they wear the black hats of the police and the tan, or khaki, uniform of the military. They are the riff-raff of the British army; the ex-convicts pardoned under the condition that their liberty belongs to the English to use for the suppression and massacre of the Irish nation. In America they would correspond to a band of jail-birds and gunmen, mobilized for work too repulsive for any self-respecting person to do."

Bishop Gunn suffered injuries in a railroad wreck in the United States some time ago, and decided to make use of his enforced idleness with a trip to Rome. From there he visited the battlefields of Europe, and then proceeded to Ireland, to have a brief season of rest at his childhood home, in County Tyrone, Ulster, where his mother, aged 84, and a number of brothers and sisters still live. He had not seen his aged mother for seven years and anticipated a joyful vacation. He had no intention of "investigating" conditions in Ireland. In fact, he explained that his Americanization over a period of thirty years had been so complete that Irish troubles had not given him much thought.

Visits American Graves.

Coming from the battlefields of Verdun, Rheims, Chateau Thierry and the Argonne, where he visited the cemetery containing the graves of 27,000 American heroes, and having witnessed the monuments of German atrocities in the devastated areas, he says he was horrified to find conditions even worse in his own native land.

"Every official in Ireland is English," Bishop Gunn explained. "Passports are vised and then holders insulted by Englishmen; the courts do not function except to condemn the unfortunate Celts; the mails, the railways and the telegraph services in Ireland are devoted solely to the British plan of exterminating the Irish. The only way I could get around in Ireland was by way of motor lorries. Englishmen are everywhere, hostile to all but their own kind.

"I finally decided to visit every part of Ireland possible. I proceeded down the east coast, crossed just north of Cork, and advanced up the west coast, stopping in scores of towns, making a circuit of the devastated area, which really is the entire island. I saw burned towns and their victims. I witnessed scenes of horror almost unbelievable. It would be too harrowing to describe these sights. I was amazed and filled with horror, for it is evident that the British government has deliberately decided upon a campaign of ruthlessness such as the Hun never dreamed to accomplish—the actual extermination by starvation, famine and massacre of the entire Irish nation."

Reverting to his return to Atlanta, Bishop Gunn said his former parishioners here held a very warm place in his heart. He added that he had had a delightful day in his old parish.

Bishop Gunn left last night for Brunswick, Ga., and will return to his Mississippi post Wednesday.

DR. ELMER RUSHES TO SIDE OF WIFE

(Continued from First Page.)

porarily converted into a jail for herself. She is confined there under guard of two deputy sheriffs.

"We have nothing to say until later except that we are innocent," she stated. "But if The Constitution desires to ask any special questions I will try to answer them since your paper was so fair to me in the interview of Saturday a week ago." Mrs. Henry was questioned concerning the gathering of the family at Abbeville on May 17, when John S. Hopson, younger son of Mrs. Elmer by her first marriage, was shot.

"My sister, Mrs. Elmer, was called to Abbeville on May 17 to nurse her son, who lay at death's door from gunshot wounds. I also went there, as did Fred Shepard and Ernest Hopson. The following day Fred and myself returned to Perry. Fred remained here with us until about May 22. During this entire time he was sick. When he returned to Abbeville it was during that time, on May 20, that he made the will which has caused so much mystery.

Witness Will.

"Mr. Shepard and attorney Bloodworth brought the will to our house that day asking that my husband and myself witness it. I did not wish to do so since he had made it as the result of a slight tiff with his wife, but complied finally. He permitted me to read the will hurriedly, after which he placed it in his inside coat pocket and I did not see it again until it was presented for probation.

"Mr. Shepard returned to Abbeville and came back to our house on May 24, where he remained until May 27, when symptoms of his sickness became acute."

At this point young Hopson came into the room. His manner was cheerful, but determined. His only remarks were, "this affair appears like a scenario, too realistically wirtten. I have nothing to say yet, but when the time comes they will find that we are no fools," he concluded with animus.

Mrs. Henry laid her hand affectionately upon the boys shoulder and in pleading, tense terms asked, "why do they charge him with anything? I gave Fred Shepard every drop of medicine which he ever took in this house. He gave him nothing."

When asked about the alleged poisoning of Frederick Grandall, nephew of Shepard, by a drink of liquor given him by Hopson, the latter had nothing to say. Mrs. Henry interposed, "Fred Shepard was a constant drinker, a night and day drinker. The accusation concerning Fred Grandall is absurd."

Mrs. Henry and Mr. Hopson closed the interview, humorously scoring the state of affairs and expressing optimism for future developments.

Passing through the towns of Fort Valley at "the prosecuters," and feeling and interest were found to be running high. In street-corner groups Perry citizens spoke of Fort Valley as "the prosecutrs," and Fort Valley citizens referred to Perry as "The Defendants." There are few neutrals in the opposed camps.

Arnold Denies Being Retained.

When asked Sunday night if he had been retained by either the state or defendants in the Shepard poisoning case, Reuben Arnold, prominent Atlanta attorney, replied that nothing had been said to him by any of the principals involved.

LEAGUE DISAGREES OVER ESSENTIALS

(Continued from First Page.)

court into two sections, one to deal exclusively with labor questions.

The question of amendments to the league covenant is expected to be reopened before the assembly adjourns, and it is anticipated that some changes will be made during the present session.

The commission studying the economic boycott proposition is now working on a scheme for the creation of immediate machinery to be employed against members of the league found guilty of violating covenant provisions. The machinery is intended to deal with cases such as General Zeligowsky, who refuses to recognize the Lithuanian-Polish arbitration agreement.

Direct Pressure Desired.

Addressing the commission, and urging the adoption of some plan for dealing with covenant breaking states, Lord Robert Cecil pointed out the requirements of Article 16, which provides for severance of all relations by other members of the league.

"The council has recommended the formation of an international commission to determine ways and means, but a more direct form of pressure would be simpler," he declared. It is quite clear that considerable amount of pressure may be exercised and applied by the league as things now stand. All that is necessary is the machinery with which to inform the members that the necessity of pressure has arisen. They are consequently bound to take action."

Cecil recommended first, the creating of machinery to ascertain when the necessity of an economic blockade has arisen, and, second, the immediate appointment of the international commission recommended by the council.

RAW MATERIALS CAUSE CONFLICT IN THE ASSEMBLY

Geneva, November 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The question whether countries shall be allowed to control and dispose at will of their natural resources is the subject of a sharp conflict in a committee of the assembly. The contest arose over a resolution by Gustave Ador, of Switzerland, setting up a permanent economic and financial commission, one of the duties of which would be to examine measures for preventing monopolies in raw materials and the means of controlling their distribution.

The resolution is based on Article 23 of the covenant, which assures all states equitable treatment. It is supported chiefly by Italy, Switzerland and other countries not rich in raw materials.

One of the strongest opponents of the resolution is Sir George E. Foster, of Canada, who has taken the same attitude as N. W. Rowell, also of Canada, who served notice on the assembly in an impressive speech recently that any attempt to exercise such control would be regarded as interference in international affairs, to which Canada would never submit.

Mr. Rowell at the same time said that the entry of the United States could not be hoped for if any such interference were attempted.

The question of mandates is another difficult subject coming up this week. The council has on the agenda for tomorrow the nomination of a permanent mandate commission, and another committee at the same time will take up the general question in the form of trems and the control of mandates. This committee, which is known as No. 6, has recommended that the United States be invited to co-operate unofficially in the study of the question of disarmament.

Still another important matter on the program of the council for tomorrow is the election of a successor to Sir Reginald Tower as high commissioner at Danzig. The council may also finally decide what reply shall be made to the German protest against approval of the results of the Eupen-Malmedy plebiscite. Germany contends that the Belgian troops of occupation exerted pressure on the population.

With respect to mandates, most of the delegates are very reserved regarding the hearing the position of the United States would have in the matter of the exploitation of the Mesopotamian oil fields, upon the settlement of the mandate question by the assembly.

One of the non-European delegates points out, however, that the Mesopotamian mandate is in Class A, which carries with it only advisory powers on the part of the mandatory and that consequently it is for Great Britain to advise, not dictate, what shall be the economic policy in Mesopotamia. Others recall that the whole theory of mandates rests on the principle of equality and justice and that it was not intended that territories involved should be exploited for the profit of the mandatory states.

"If it is true that the nations seeking mandates are looking for the utmost good for the people placed under their guidance," said another delegate, "then any profits from the exploitation of economic resources under the mandates will naturally go to the peoples themselves."

CITIZEN POLICEMAN KILLS A. B. SMITH

Continued From First Page.

found a small quantity of whisky, according to Ragsdale.

With Smith still in custody they started for the street, but at the front door, Smith jerked loose, darted back into the house, slammed the door behind him and ran into the back yard. The officers dashed around the house encountering Smith as he ran from the residence. Ragsdale stated that he ordered Smith to stop, but instead of doing so he continued to advance, at the same time thrusting his hand under his coat toward his hip pocket.

Ragsdale fired. He asserted that he did not know he had hit Smith.

Statements Corroborated.

Statements of Ragsdale were corroborated by a number of witnesses and was substantiated by a written statement of Patrolman Hutcheson at headquarters.

Mrs. Moon, on whose alleged complaint the arrest was made, stated that she did not tell the officers to arrest Smith or search his home. After the occurrence she suffered a nervous breakdown and was carried to her home, 91 Plum street.

Wife Told of Shooting.

The wife of Mr. Smith was down town at the time of the shooting, it was stated, and did not know of the affair until she returned at 4:30 o'clock. As she stepped from a Marietta street car, almost upon the very spot which her husband had fallen lifeless a short time before, a number of neighbors gathered about her and told her of her husband's death. Mrs. Smith was so overcome by the shock that she had to be carried into her house.

Feeling in the neighborhood ran high against Ragsdale. W. B. Smith a brother of the dead man, engaged the services of Hamilton Lee, attorney, to assist in the prosecution of Ragsdale.

Mr. Smith is survived by a wife; two children, Reuben Smith, aged 12, and Travis Smith, aged 10; two brothers, E. L. Smith and W. B Smith; his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Smith, and two sisters, Mrs. W. B. Wilson and Mrs. Alma Hutcheson.

WAR VETERANS FORM WORLD ASSOCIATION

Paris, November 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—An international council binding together the war veterans' associations of the allied countries was organized here today by the delegations representing the United States, France, Great Britain, Italy, Belgium, Greece, Jugo-Slavia and Czecho-Slovakia, and was joined later by Portugal, Poland and Rumania.

The council will be composed of one member from each country and will probably meet in Paris as often as necessary. The organization contemplates membership of all national veterans' associations.

The underlying idea is to preserve, particularly in time of stress, the unity that existed among the allies during the war and carry on the comradeship in various ways, notably by international membership cards, an international memorial day and the exchange of information respecting disabled soldiers and the widows and children of soldiers. It is expected that the American Memorial day will be adopted generally.

The plan of organization which will be submitted for approval at a full meeting tomorrow specifies that the council will be directly represented in each allied country by two veterans of that country appointed by the veterans' organization of that country, one of these veterans to be accredited to the government of that country and the other to the press. There will simply be channels for the transmission of memorials formulated by the council. Such memorials must be approved by the veterans' organization of that particular country and must be of a friendly nature, never threatening.

The veterans of the United States were represented today by seven members of the American Legion posts in Paris and London, chosen by the national commander. They included Colonel O. N. Solbert, military attache at London.

The Greek delegation was unable to take an active part in the proceedings. Two of its members were Venizelists and the other two royalists, and they were unable to agree.

Radical Haywood Talks of Taking Over Industries

Tells His Audience It's Up to the People to Open Prison Doors. Romps on Gompers.

Washington, November 28.—The recent industrial revolution in Italy "might be suggestive of the policy to be adopted by the I. W. W." in taking over control of industry for the working classes, "Big Bill" Haywood, leader of the I. W. W., declared here at a meeting on Sunday, called to urge amnesty for so-called political prisoners. Sharing the stage with him was Miss Kate O'Hara, pacifist, released from prison last summer on President Wilson's issuance of a pardon.

"We're not here pleading for sympathy for these prisoners," Haywood asserted. "We're not going to ask the attorney general for paroles in individual cases. I'm here to tell you men it's up to you to open the prison doors, because if you don't you're going to prison yourselves.

"The I. W. W. men are not in prison for anything they did in the war, but because by a revolution in economic organization we hope to re-establish democracy. When you say these changes can not be made, we point you to Russia, where they've established a government of, by and for the people."

This statement was greeted with cheers by an audience of about 1,000. After the applause had died down, Haywood added:

"I hope the United States will not be the last nation to follow in their footsteps. We hope to build an organization which will produce when the capitalistic system collapses of its own rottenness."

Romps on Gompers.

In the course of taking up a collection for the aid of the amnesty movement, Haywood paid his respects to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor.

"None of this money is going to pay any $12,000 a year trade union official," he declared. "There is no Mr. Gompers in the I. W. W. When I first knew Sam Gompers he was 6 feet 8 inches tall, and I've been hammering at him so long I've got him down to 4 feet 10 inches. The American Federation of Labor is a contraption that has got the American workman nowhere. I challenge the 'old man' to point out one thing that his organization has ever done for the working class."

I. W. W. Doors Open.

Scoring union admission rules, Haywood asserted that the bakers and confectioners in Boston would not accept new members. "If this sort of thing is to go on," he said, "what becomes of the young, growing element in the country? Where will they go? Into the navy or the army, or into the I. W. W., where the doors are always open?"

As to immigration, Haywood said his organization "believes that a man has a right to go anywhere on earth he will," but added that he would be opposed to employers gathering in foreigners and bringing them to America to work in competition with native labor.

COUNCILS CONTROL ARMY OF D'ANNUNZIO

But All Subordinate to Poet-Commander—Move for Democracy.

Fiume, November 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gabriele d'Annunzio has effected a drastic re-organization of the Fiuman army administration, abolishing the high commands and substituting "councils" for them.

"This new plan, which is a product of the imagination of our commander, will democratize the entire army system," said one of d'Annunzio's staff to the correspondent tonigt. "It is not bolshevik," he added.

D'Annunzio, under the new plan, retains the title of "commandante" and the councils will be subordinate to him. There are councils, respectively, of operations, provisioning, engineering, tatics and other army affairs. All members of the councils will be equal in rank, although retaining the grades they were entitled to in the regular Italian army, when in the field. All the members of the councils are chosen by d'Annunzio and all their actions must be indorsed by him.

It was the insistence of d'Annunzio on the adoption of this latest scheme of his which caused his disagreement with General Ceccherini, his commander-in-chief, who deserted the soldier-poet Friday, together with a number of officers of the higher grades. The d'Annunzian army's leading places are now filled with captains and lieutenants, who are manifesting extreme pride in their new responsibilities as directors of operations, planners of field movements, and originators of new tactics.

In consequence the guns are thundering daily from both the land and sea batteries, where the youthful commanders are trying out their own systems of warfare and experimenting in handling troops and warships.

EX-CROWN PRINCE IN MONEY STRAITS; LIVES AS HERMIT

The Hague, November 28.—"The German Weekly for The Netherlands" prints details of the financial condition of former Crown Prince Frederick William, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the alleged smuggling of fortunes from Germany to Holland.

Characterizing the story as false, the newspaper says that Frederick William came to Holland in 1918 poverty-stricken, and decided to pawn his watch, rings, scarf pin and jewel decorations. In addition, Herr Grusser, of the banking firm of Grusser, Philippson & Co., loaned him 5,000 guilders.

From then on, the ex-crown prince, says the paper, lived on an allowance from his father and from the former crown princess, most of whose fortune was invested is now valueless Russian securities. She had a few thousand free, which she deposited in an Amsterdam bank, subject to her husband's check.

The newspaper draws a dismal picture of the life of Frederick William, calling him "the hermit of Wieringen."

ARMY ENLISTMENTS SHOW GREAT INCREASE

Washington, November 28.—Army enlistments between November 10 and 20 were greater than for any similar period since the armistice. In announcing the figures—8,300 men for all branches of the service—the war department said today that 2,801 of the enlistments were specifically for the Second division, now stationed at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas, for which a drive for 6,000 men in thirty days had been inaugurated.

Drying the Ink On Bogus Bills When Arrested

Woman Betrays Two Men as They Were Finishing a Lot of Counterfeit Bank Notes.

Cincinnati, November 28.—Following information given by a woman, three policemen entered a room here today and arrested two men who were drying the ink on more than $3,000 worth of $10 bank notes which had been printed from copper plates.

The counterfeiting outfit was seized and police say it is one of the most complete which has ever been found in Cincinnati. The prisoners were registered as Martin Hamman, 47, Cincinnati, and Charles Schwibbe, 25 yars old, Vincennes, Ind.

Nine of the bank notes had been completed and the paper was still wet when the officers entered the room. The men had evidently made many experiments, for several $10 notes which Hamman said were "too thick," were scattered on the table. The paper used was of the best grade, and an artificial toughness was added with a glue. Many books on photographic methods, engraving chemicals and coloring were found in the room.

Police say Hamman was sentenced to serve five years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, after he had been convicted of counterfeiting in Oklahoma. He was recently released. Schwibbe told the police he served nine months in prison for robbing a safe in an Indiana town.

Mrs. William T. Llewellyn, proprietress of the rooming house where the arrests were made, said she became suespicious of the men, who had rented the room two weeks ago. When she overheard the men planning to leave town at 3 o'clock today, she called the police on the telephone and the arrests followed.

When the police arrived Hamman and Schwibbe were leaning over a table on which spurious $10 notes were sactered. Numerous bottles of acid, inks, photographic plates, copper etchings and stamps, dellchemicals and silk fiber covered the table.

The men told the police they had been acquainted for some time. Hamman said he came to Cincinnati two weeks ago from Oklahoma, and Schwibbe said he arrived here recently from Muncie, Ind.

Nine of the $10 counterfeit bank notes had been completed when the officers entered the room.

Mother Accidentally Shot by 8-Year-Old Son; In Critical Condition

Anniston, Ala., November 28.—(Special.)—Accidentally shot by her 8-year-old son at their home at McFall, Mrs. Annie J. Loudermilk is in an Anniston hospital in a critical condition. Mrs. Loudermilk was rushed to Anniston immediately after being shot.

To supply clothing to a neighbor, whose home had been destroyed by fire, Mrs. Loudermilk was looking through the contents of a trunk. She had removed a pistol from the trunk, which she supposed was unloaded, and her little boy picked it up in play. When the pistol was discharged, Mrs. Loudermilk was shot through the left arm, the bullet also entering the left lung.

More Powerful Than Carbolic Acid

What ZONITE will do
A MARVELOUS discovery was made during the world war. This discovery was a new form of antiseptic. It was the result of months of experimenting by surgeons of the Rockefeller Institute, New York City. It was offered to the hospitals of the Allied armies as the first substance known to man that would destroy germs and yet be absolutely harmless to human tissue. The use of this new antiseptic revolutionized surgical methods and saved thousands of wounded from agony and death.

A New Defense Against Infection and Disease

When used in the war hospitals of France, this marvelous discovery would not keep. It had to be made fresh every day. Chemists have been working with this form of antiseptic until it is now ready for general use. Physicians agree that Zonite—as the new antiseptic is called—provides the civilized world with a mighty defense against infection and disease. Until now nothing that would kill bacteria could be applied to the human body in sufficient strength to prove effective. The wonder of Zonite is this: Although more powerful as a germicide than pure carbolic acid, it is not only harmless to body tissue, but it actually has tremendous soothing and healing qualities. The result is that a wound treated with Zonite has little of the soreness and inflammation which mankind has so long had to bear during the process of healing. In the practice of surgery, medicine and dentistry the field for the new antiseptic is growing steadily wider. A few of the many wonders that Zonite will perform when applied to household use are as follows:

Treatment of Wounds

From the smallest scratch to the most serious wound Zonite will instantly destroy any deadly germs that may be present, and will then act as a marvelous aid in quick, clean, sure healing. To families with children, where minor wounds with their attendant danger of infection are of almost daily occurrence, the new antiseptic is little short of a God-send.

To Prevent Contagious Diseases

During the time of epidemics, theatres, street cars, school-rooms and even city streets contain millions of bacteria, which may lodge in the nose or throat. If undisturbed for twenty-four hours, scarlet fever, diphtheria, pneumonia, etc., may result. Heretofore no germicide powerful enough to destroy such germs could be applied to the mucous membrane. Zonite in proper solution may be used as a gargle or sprayed into the nose or throat, as often as desired. The immunity which results can readily be understood.

Ridding the Home of Poisons

Statistics show that either a child or an adult in some part of the civilized world takes poison by mistake every twenty-four hours. It is no longer necessary to keep poisons in the home. They are not only dangerous for the above mentioned reason, but harmful in their use. Every well informed physician knows that bichloride tablets and all other poisonous compounds will permanently injure any delicate membrane to which they are constantly applied. Zonite on the contrary may be used freely and frequently on any part of the human body. It is not only a thorough cleanser and powerful germicide but the membrane to which it is applied remains healthy and unharmed.

Other Uses for ZONITE

The following facts have been established in connection with the new antiseptic. When used as a gargle or spray, it is remarkably effective in cases of sore throat or common cold. If used daily as a mouth wash, it will provide a defense against pyorrhoea, destroy all particles of decaying matter on the gums and teeth and keep the breath fresh and sweet. It will instantly remove all body odors wherever applied. If used on the scalp after shampooing, it will prevent loss of hair by destroying the germ which causes dandruff. Zonite is a colorless liquid that does not stain and leaves no odor.

THE ZONITE COMPANY
New York and Atlanta

Notice to Physicians: Zonite with an equal amount of water makes a Dakin's Solution; no testing required. Zonite has distinct advantages over Dakin's Fluid. It is stable, concentrated and ready for immediate use.

STORM LASHING ATLANTIC COAST

Weather Bureau Issues Warning--Shipping Tied Up in Hampton Roads District.

Washington, November 28.—The weather bureau issued the following storm warning tonight:

"Continue northwest storm warning, 10 p. m., Wilmington, N. C., to Boston, Mass. Northeast and north gales and rain. Storm center over the ocean northwest of Bermuda, moving rapidly eastward."

NORFOLK SHIPPING AT A STANDSTILL.

Norfolk, Va., November 28.—Shipping in the Hampton Roads district virtually was at a standstill today because of the severe rain and wind storm that has been sweeping this vicinity since Saturday afternoon. Only one ship entered port today, and none departed. While none of the vessels in the harbor was damaged during the storm, many of them were in constant danger from dragging anchors.

Traffic in Norfolk was tied up throughout the morning, streets in various sections of the city having been flooded at high tide. Regular trolley service was not undertaken until 3 o'clock this afternoon, when the water had receded sufficiently to allow cars to pass through the streets in the lower sections of the city. At high tide tonight the streets were again flooded.

Reports from Ocean View, a summer resort near here, indicate that the bulk-heading along the cottage line was badly damaged by the heavy seas. No damages to buildings at the resort were reported.

U. S. GOVERNORS GO TO SEE OBREGON ASSUME OFFICE

Laredo, Texas, November 28.—The special train carrying the party headed by Governor W. P. Hobby, of Texas, and Governor Kilby, of Alabama, en route to Mexico City to attend the inauguration ceremony of President-elect Obregon, is speeding toward the Mexican capital tonight after having been held up here by the refusal of the International Great Southern railroad officials to accept an indemnity bond for the use of a dining car and baggage car on the special train.

The railroad men demanded cash money and it was not until a local banker presented a cashier's check for $60,000 that the cars were hooked to the special train.

The party also includes Lieutenant Governor Trapp, of Oklahoma; Lieutenant Governor Huffman, of Kansas, and personal representatives of governors of Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa and Mississippi. Governors and other high Mexican officials will be picked up by the special at various places en route.

Chicago Janitors Demand 10 Per Cent Of Gross Rentals

Chicago, November 28.—If Chicago flat janitors have their way there will be a brand-new class of the nouveau riche in this inland metropolis.

Ten thousand of them came up for air Sunday, and as one man, spoke as follows:

"We demand 10 per cent of the gross rental of all apartment buildings for our service.

"The difference between $20 for a five-room stove-heated apartment and a $75 five-room steam-heated apartment is the service—which is us.

"We won't live in basement apartments any more; or even upstairs in the buildings in which we work, because every time we lose our jobs we have to move. This is disagreeable for our wives.

"We are with the tenants on every reasonable ground they have, but we are with our employers if they will only give us our demands.

"If an agreement can't be reached, the public must suffer a strike December 31."

While the possibility of a New Year's eve spent in the basement shoveling coal struck thousands of Chicago apartment dwellers dumb, the magnificence of the janitors' demands incited worshipful admiration.

Appeals to U. S. Jews For the Money Needed To Develop Palestine

Buffalo, N. Y., November 28—With appeals to the American Jewry for the moral and financial aid which will make Palestine the home of the Jews of the world and the center of Jewish thought and culture, the Zionist organization of America closed its twenty-third annual convention here tonight with a mass meeting. In speeches which pictured the misery of the Jews throughout the centuries since their expulsion from Palestine, speakers warned that the period of trial for the Jews is not yet over. It is for the American Jews, they said, to give the aid which will make a free Palestine possible and which will give the Jews their rightful place among the nations of the world.

Those who spoke were Judge Hugo Pam, of Chicago; Rabbi Abba Hillett Silver, of Cleveland, and Judge Julian Mack, of Cleveland.

Offices for the coming year were elected as follows: Honorary president, Justice Louis D. Brandeis; honorary vice president, Rabbi Stephen Wise; president, Judge Julian W. Mack; vice presidents, Dr. Harry Friedenwald and Nathan Strauss; treasurer, Peter J. Schweitzer.

After an all-night and all-day session, which began on Saturday night and which ended at 8 o'clock tonight, the report of the organization committee was received and adopted. Ten resolutions were adopted which, in many respects, bring about a reorganization of Zionist activities.

Great powers are placed in the hands of the national executive committee, which will determine the functions of the Palestine department which will have full charge of Palestine activities. The committee will also organize groups of Zionists districts, which will not be entitled to recognition by the organization unless they fulfill such requirements as the committee shall prescribe. The national executive committee, states the tenth resolution, shall be the final authority on all matters, subject to the constitution and the recommendations adopted.

MRS. F. A. BRANCH DEAD

Mother of Prof. T. P. Branch of Georgia Tech.

Macon, Ga., November 29.—Mrs. F. A. Branch, mother of Professor T. P. Branch, of the Georgia School of Technogoly and President F. G. Branch of Andrew college, died here early today. Mrs. Branch, who was the widow of a Methodist minister at one time widely known in Georgia, was 81 years old and a native of Florida. She also leaves two daughters.

Today and Tomorrow Given Atlanta Women to Register For Election on Wednesday

Atlanta women already registered may vote Wednesday, when a vacancy in the school board membership is to be filled. Other Atlanta women eligible to be made voters may register today and Tuesday, at the office of Lucien Harris, tax collector, in the courthouse, and cast their ballots Wednesday.

Thus Wednesday will go down in history as the day when Atlanta women first took advantage of their citizenship rights under the nineteenth amendment.

Mrs. Haynes McFadden, chairman of the Atlanta League of Women Voters, announced last night a mass meeting of women citizens, to be held in the chamber of commerce rooms Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, to indorse a candidate for the school board vacancy.

Tax Collector Harris has provided special facilities in the way of extra clerks to facilitate the expected rush of women to register. Since only two days are given for registration, a great rush is expected. And Mr. Harris says he is prepared to handle it.

The two leading candidates for the board vacancy are William L. McCally, Jr., and W. Garland Cooper.

Mrs. McFadden issued the following statement last night, in the interests of the League of Women Voters:

"If the women of Atlanta have the interests of her public schools at heart, they will register at once with the tax collector, Lucien Harris, at the courthouse, in order to participate in the election of a member of the school board Wednesday.

"Fred Winburn, representative of the fifth district, has resigned, and this vacancy has to be filled. No class of citizens has more interest in the schools than the women who are largely concerned with the personnel of the board of education. It is therefore every woman's duty to qualify to take part in an election, which means so much to her children, and having qualified by registering, she should permit nothing to interfere with casting her ballot.

"The Atlanta League of Women Voters urges its members to register at once and to influence other women to register. A called meeting of the league will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the town room of the chamber of commerce to indorse a candidate for the board of education. Members are asked to come on time as a meeting of the citizenship school will be held at 3 o'clock."

First Methodist Congregation Hears New Minister Preach

BY LLOYD F. WHITESIDE.

Speaking with analytical precision, the Rev. C. J. Harrell, a newcomer in Atlanta, uttered a spiritual theory yesterday morning which the congregation of the First M. E. church, south, will very likely ponder over for a long time. The utterance was not sensational in tone or intent; but it presented a vision of life from a new altitude.

This was Dr. Harrell's first sermon as patsor of the First church. The conditions were a test upon him from several directions. The bleakness of the day, for one thing, had a bearing. Dr. Harrell must have been aware that he faced a gathering which was chilled, as well as possessed of critical curiosity.

If Dr. Harrell felt the influence of the test that was on him, he mastered it well. This clergyman talks calmly yet fast. He speaks without great emotion, but his words compel thought. Dr. Harrell's method apparently is to reach the heart through the brain.

Have Power to Be Equal.

He made his sermon a memorable one by means of a declaration to the following general effect: Men of this earth have it within their power to became equal to Christ—to be not merely disciples, but to be exact equals in fellowship and viewpoint of the Divinity.

Dr. Harrell's discourse was woven with the philosophy of great men. He marshalled to the support of his argument the utterances of the unidentified Psalmists, Christ, St. Paul, Shakespeare and Tennyson. And his argument was that there is nothing in life wroth while, save faith, hope and love; but that possessing these things, man becomes a being of infinite understanding—becomes equal, in fact, to the Divinity.

The impression this auditor had of the message intended here, was that with faith men raised themselves to the height of Mount Olympus, and could then see with the eyes of God.

Dr. Harrell is a sturdily built man, smooth shaven. He has a youthful appearance, although he has been preaching the gospel for more than twenty years. He came to this post from the largest church in the North Carolina conference. He was located at Wilson, N. C.

The clergyman's build and his manner of delivery suggest reserve force. Though he uses dramatic gesture with grace and emphasis, yet the observer feels that he could, if he choose, tear loose.

Dr. Harrell took as his text a half dozen selected verses from the Nineteenth Psalm, and from St. Paul's Epistle to the Romans and the Ephesians.

Somber Passages.

For five minutes, quoting the somber words of the Psalm, he assailed the emptiness of and the utter transiency of life. These were typical passages: "For a thousand years in Thy sight are but as yesterday, when it is past, and as a watch in the night. For all our days are passed away in Thy wrath: We spend our days as a tale that is told." And again: "The days of our years are three-score years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be four-score years, yet is their strength, labor and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away."

For at least five minutes the speaker dwelt upon the nothingness of this world. "Life is but a play," he argued, "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing. We look earnestly at the quest of pleasure and the amassing of wealth, to find values therein. But we find no values there, for we know that these things pass as yesterday. We know that our years are short. We turn with trembling lips to the Psalmist, for an answer to our yearning.

"'What things are there that have eternal values?' we ask. But the Psalmist fails. He gives us no hope."

The Master Analyist.

At this point Dr. Harrell turned to the epistles of St. Paul. Curiosly enough, the speaker found the thirteenth verses in four separate chapters of these epistles, the answering hope he sought. "Here is a master analyist of the soul," continued Dr. Harrell. He quoted the utterances of the apostle in relation to the soul, and found from this authority that faith, hope and love are the ingredients with which alone man can find peace and liberation from sin and sorrow.

"These three conditions give us relations with God," continued the speaker. "They project our spirit into vast eternities. They give us the eyes to see with and the minds to understand. Faith is not merely a blind grasping at an idea. It is the eye of the soul which pierces the dark. It is the faculty by which we are enabled to know all things. It gives us communion with God and places us on an equality with God in fellowship.

"Man's greatest achievements are not the analysis of germs, not the measuring of the distance to the sun, nor the sending of speech around the world. These are but transitory incidents without meaning. One may lose the keenness of his mind, the strength of his body; but if he have faith, it never departs, it never grows dim. With faith man fears nothing."

It seemed significant to this hearer, if his hearing served correctly, that Dr. Harrell never once mentioned the hereafter, never at any point attributed the hope of the beyond as the only hope for men.

The impression was rather that by the possession of faith, men made this life, which otherwise was a tawdry disappointment, infinitely fine. It seemed that the preacher was pointing a way to make men real Gods on earth. For he said, in effect, for instance: "The possession of faith gives us eyes to see all things. The possession of hope keeps the heart young. Without hope, there is no hope. Hope makes the soul expand. Then comes love; and the greatest of all three virtues is love. Faith melts to hope, hope melts to love. And the greatest of all things is love."

Words of St. Paul.

He brought again the words of St. Paul to his aid, and uttering this passage: "Till we all come in a unity of faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ Jesus."

Dr. Harrell concluded by reasserting the hopelessness of living for just merely the material things life offers, and restating the processes of the three virtues. "If man lives only for pleasure," he said, "his years are merely three-score and ten. They pass as a tale that is told. If one possesses faith, he will have confidence in God. If he has hope, he will enjoy the expectations of God. If he has love he will have an investment in God. These things cannot vanish."

Finally the new pastor brought his sermon to a sharp close by counselling his auditors to search their souls to see how much of the three possessions they owned, which were, in fact, greater than riches and the only possessions worth while.

Dr. Harrell Introduced.

Dr. Harrell was introduced to his new congregation by R. A. Hemphill, chairman of the board of trustees. Mr. Hemphill gave the pastor a warm-hearted welcome on behalf of the congregation. He presented the newcomer as a man of outstanding achievements in his calling, and read, in support of this, the concrete proofs of many indorsements written by former church associates. These letters, from pastorates Dr. Harrell has left in his yesterdays, also conferred loving praise upon the minister's wife, whom they described as a tremendously helpful church worker who, according to one letter, "would be particularly a delight among the young women."

The offertory was sung by Thomas Hoffman. The following were members of the choir: Mrs. Martha Clark, soprano; Miss Mabel Whitney, contralto; Clifford Durham, tenor; Mr. Hoffman, baritone. Mrs. W. H. L. Nelms served with fine command at the organ and as director.

TURN FOR WORSE IN THE CONDITION OF EX-EMPRESS

Doorn, Holland, November 28.—A turn for the worse in the condition of the former German empress, Augusta Victoria, occurred late today, it was learned this evening.

It was announced at Doorn, the present place of residence of the former emperor and empress, on Friday last, that the immediate danger point in the illness of the former empress had temporarily been passed, although her condition remained serious. She was able then to receive members of the family at the bedside, it was said. She has experienced several severe heart attacks, her life each time being despaired of, and it has been feared more than once during the present attack that the end was approaching.

Treasury Will Issue Two New Savings Notes During Coming Year

Washington, November 28.—Two new treasury savings securities, a $1 treasury savings stamp and a $25 traeasury savings certificate, will be issued during the coming year, Secretary Houston announced today. They will complete the line of government savings securities, he said, and place operations on a peacetime basis.

The $1 savings stamp will be non-interest bearing, and will carry the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the treasury. The $25 certificate will be similar in design and terms to the $100 and $1,000 certificates, which also will be offered in 1921, to mature January 1, 1926. The new securities will suply a $1 unit for saving and a registered government security in the $25 denomination, which may be purchased through acumulation of $1 savings stamps.

Secretary Houston said that notwithstanding the reaction since the armistice from habtis of savings, the demand for savings securities has continued strong in many parts of the country, and in time should play an important part in the current financing of the government.

Cost of the Campaign For Woman's Suffrage Amounted to $664,208.

Washington, November 28.—Expenses of the campaign for national woman suffrage conducted by the national woman's party during the last seven years, amounted to $664,208, according to an audited account made public here today. The largest item included was $96,202 for organization work. Expenses in three national elections totaled $67,137.

The cost of picketing, resorted to around the white huse and congress during 1917 and 1918, the audit said, was $7,847, while $12,639 went into a card index of legislators which attained some note during the contest.

ICE GORGE BREAKS AND MISSOURI RISES

Bismarck, N. D., November 28.—The ice broke in the Missouri river here today and within an hour the stream had risen five feet, eight inches, carrying out a large portion of a temporary bridge used while a new bridge is being built. Several workmen had narrow escapes from injury or death.

O. W. Roberts, weather observer, said it was the first time in the history of the local bureau that ice had broken up at this time of the year. The maximum thickness was about nine inches until a week ago when a spell of unusually warm weather set in.

Fears were expressed that live stock herds in the river bottoms might be caught in the sudden rise.

RICE EXPERIMENT STATION PLANNED

Provisional Selection of Site in Georgia Announced by Advertise Georgia Enterprise.

A great stride forward in the potential development of Georgia's vast agricultural resources comes in the announcement by officials of the Advertise Georgia Enterprise of the provisional selection of a site for a government rice experiment station in Georgia.

The announcement is regarded by the backers of the advertising enterprise, framed to advertise and develop the state's matchless resources, as of utmost importance. It comes almost on the eve of the return of the Georgia Tech boosters who learned on their industrial trip of the necessity of advertising and developing the state's agricultural, industrial and mineral possibilities.

There are only two other government rice stations in the country, one in Louisiana and the other in California. The Georga staton will be located at Thalman Junction, in Glynn county, not far from Brunswick, and served by the Seaboard and A., B. & A. railroads.

One hundred acres of land will be requred, and the Brunswick Board of Trade is handling that feature. It will involve the donation of the land for the station, while the government and the state college of agriculture at Athens will provide the supervision staff.

PRINCE OF WALES MAKES GIRLS CRY

Childish, Bonnie Face Causes Tears, Woman Writer Explains, Yet Youth Is Popular.

BY MARGARET WALTER.

London, November 20.—"Where are the men?" whispered the Prince of Wales, turning to a friend after his little speech to the crowds which called him to the balcony of Buckingham palace on the morning of his arrival in London after his tour of Australasia.

It was women woh lined the streets and filled the windows along his passage from the station to the palece—women and girls—and when his grandmother, Queen Alexandra, took the young prince's face between her hands and looked into his eyes with a passion of hope and trust she expressed the feeling of the whole nation.

But the Prince of Wales has been living among men and doing a man's work these seven months and he naturally missed the big-throated huzzahs he has grown accustomed to in the colonies.

In Victoria street, where I saw the prince drive by, thousands of wemen and girls stood absolutely silent, their handkerchiefs fluttering, their eyes swimming. They simply dared not trust their voices. Children clung to the legs of policemen, street urchins shouted, wounded soldiers drummed their crutches against the stones, old men crowding in club windows gripped one another's hands and the school boys of Westminster flung up their silk top hats.

Childish Face Bonny.

And the prince, sitting alone in the great royal landau, with its six coal black horses, its outriders and its postillions in scarlet and gold, looked so tiny, his round childish face was so bonny, his smile so tremulous that the mother in every woman took him to her heart.

There was no procession, no band, no other royalties, only the Duke of York followed his brother to Buckingham palace.

The prince saw everybody. He seemed to bow and salute to individuals rather than to masses. This is one of the peculiarities of his royal technique. At one spot a group of young American girls threw kisses to him. He laughed outright and saluted them specially, and then, turning, he smiled straight into the eyes of an old guardsman leaning on his stick. There is something in this young man which calls out the natural and spontaneous in those he meets. Simple and direct he inspires sincerity.

"No hot water bottles, no easy chairs, did us lads have to follow him round with," his soldier servant told me. "He done his nine miles of trenches every day like the rest and took his grub in the mud and slime just like us. He's not above talking to you neither. I told him about a pal of mine who got a fortnight in guardhouse for asking for leave. He hadn't had leave for more than two years—volunteer, father of eight and his missis sick.

Prince Popular.

"The prince listened and then wrote a few words on a bit of paper and sent it to the officer who had sent my pal to the guardhouse. The lad got his leave all right, but he said he would rather have had that bit of paper. That's how we feel about the prince. He's one of us."

A good many people were surprised that he should se easily fall into American ways last year when he visited the United States. The ease of the Prince of Wales was the result of hard schooling and incessant practice. For months he studied every American he met. The courtesy which royalty learns early enabled him to quiz without seeming to quiz, and that discriminating sense which is perhaps his strongest characteristic enabled him to discard the trivial and retain the valuable.

HELD FOR KILLING PROHIBITION AGENT

Asheville, N. C., November 28.—Word has been received here by local prohibition agents from Supervosior Brame, of Richmond, that a man believed to be J. E. (Babe) Burnett, wanted by federal officers on charges of having killed Prohibition Agent J. H. Rose, in Swain county, last month, has been arrested in Spokane, Wash.

Rose was killed when he attempted to raid an illicit still on Burnett's place in Swain county, several weeks ago.

WATTERSON NAMED WITH UNTERMYER

New York, November 28.—Colonel Henry Watterson, former editor of The Louisville Courier-Journal, and Samuel Untermyer, of New York, today were elected honorary members of the James Gordon Bennett Association, Inc., at the first meeting of the board of directors. The association was organized recently to aid the executors of the Bennett will in building the James Gordon Bennett Memorial Home for New York Journalists.

World Exposition Indorsed By Leading Atlanta Citizens

That the sentiment favoring the proposal to hold a world's fair in Atlanta in 1925 is spreading in Atlanta is apparent from the number of indorsements it continues to receive from many of Atlanta's most prominent citizens, as well as from influential organizations of the city.

M. D. Gleason, who has been conferring with many of the city's leaders on the advisability of holding the world's fair here, has within the past few days secured interviews with W. Eugene Harrington, president of the Atlanta Rotary club; C. W. McClure, well-known Whitehall street merchant, and a member of the Kiwanis club; R. R. Otis, president of the Atlanta Real Estate board; W. Tom Winn, for many years a Fulton county commissioner, and Charles W. Bernhardt, president of the National Builders' exchange. Mr. Gleason also reports that several organizations have adopted resolutions heartily indorsing the proposition since Friday.

Time Has Arrived.

President Harrington, of the Rotary club, believes that the time has arrived for the south to call the attention of the world to its tremendous undeveloped resources, and, he says, "to the great strides the south has made in agricultural and industrial development. A world's fair in Atlanta would undoubtedly be the greatest single step in this direction that could be taken.

"This movement should not, in my opinion, be even contemplated except on a tremendous scale and with unquestioned financial backing. The co-operation of the entire south will be necessary."

Mr. McClure, Whitehall street merchant, stated to Mr. Gleason:

"I am glad to know that the scope of the fair is planned so it will reach out to all parts of the the world. Atlanta usually does big things when she once makes up her mind to accomplish something, and judging from the many prominenet people who are indorsing the movement, all Atlanta is getting interested."

In the opinion of President Otis, of the Atlanta Real Estate board, the movement to hold a world's fair is the best thing that has begun in Atlanta for the last 25 years.

"Of late we have had a few men in Atlanta that are not only standing in their own light, but are blocking the door of progress and are holding others back," said Mr. Otis. "Many of these came to Atlanta or got their start through the Cotton exposition of 1881 or the Cotton States exposition of 1895, and if they ever expect to do Atlanta any good, now is the opportune time. Personally, I am with the movement, and any other, for that matter, that will help Georgia and the south."

W. Tom Winn is of the opinion that the benefits Atlanta and the south received from the Cotton States exposition should be sufficient reason for every person in Atlanta to lend their best efforts to make the fair a success.

Would Help Atlanta.

Mr. Bernhardt, widely-known Atlant contractor and builder, believes that it is the greatest thing Atlanta ever undertook and that great benefits would result from it.

Post B, of the Travelers' Protective association, indorsed the plan at its regular monthly meeting, which was held Saturday night at the Peacock cafe.

At the last meeting of Fitzhugh Lee camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, the plan received enthusiastic indorsement, and a large committee was appointed to assist in furthering the movement. For several years the local camp has endeavored to secure the national convention of Spanish-American War Veterans, and it is the belief of local officials that the fair would be an inducement to bring the convention to this city.

The movement was indorsed Sunday by the United Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance of Way Employees at its regular meeting. President L. Townsend and Secretary C. P. Mathis spoke of the many advantages the enterprise would bring to the south.

COLLINS IS ARRESTED FOR POSTAL ROBBERY

Seventh Man Connected With Council Bluffs Steal Caught in Oklahoma.

Kansas City, Mo., November 28.—Keith Collins, said by the federal authorities to be wanted in connection with the robbery of a mail car near Council Bluffs, Iowa, two weeks ago, was arrested at Westville, Okla., according to a message received here tonight by local postoffice inspectors. Collins, the report said, would be brought here tomorrow and taken immediately to Council Bluffs.

Collins, local postal officials said, was the seventh and last man sought in connection with the robbery, which it is declared was one of the largest of its kind in the history of the postoffice department.

Six men are now in custody at Council Bluffs in connection with the robbery. A large part of the loot, which consisted mostly of bonds, has been recovered.

Alleged Collins Confessed.

Tulsa, Okla., November 28.—Keith Collins, arrested early this morning at Westville, Okla., confessed to a postal inspector and two United States secret service men that he was implicated in the mail car rabbery at Council Bluffs, Iowa, two weeks ago, according to a dispatch quoting the city marshal at Westville.

Collins, in charge of the three United States officers tonight is on his way to Kansas City.

Collins was arrested in the home of his uncle, E. Payne, near Westville, Okla. The arrest was made by Postoffice Inspector Adamson and two federal officers from Kansas City, and C. W. Duncan, a special deputy.

According to Postmaster G. C. Whitmire, of Westville, Collins put up a fight when the officers arrested him.

First Hunger Strike Staged in the Orient "Called Off" by Death

Tokio, November 28.—The first hunger strike in the Orient on record, that of a prisoner incarcerated in connection with the Korean independence movement, ended fatally today, when the prisoner died in the Seoul jail. He had fasted 13 days.

PRICE-CUTTING WAVE ROLLS ON ASHEVILLE

Asheville, N. C., November 28.—Men's wear, beef, pork and bacon will be cheaper tomorrow in Asheville as the result of a wave of price cutting which struck the city today.

Clothing houses advertised reductions of 33 1-3 per cent in men's suits and several firms included in their lists other wearing apparel, silk shirts in some instances being cut 50 per cent.

Butcher shops announced reductions of between 20 and 25 per cent on all grades of beef, pork and bacon.

CARDENAS ARRESTED FOR KILLING MADERO

Mexico City, November 28.—Francisco Cardenas, who has been formally charged with the murder of former President Francisco Madero, in 1913, has been arrested in Guatemala City, Guatemala, according to advices received here. He will be brought here for trial.

A Food That Young Folks Thrive Upon

A body-building food made of wheat and malted barley.

Your boy or girl should have

Grape-Nuts

"There's a Reason"

POSTAL LIFTS RATES AND ALSO SALARIES

Company to Get 20 Per Cent More From Public—Salaries Up 10 Per Cent.

New York, November 28.—Increases of 20 per cent in rates and 10 per cent in salaries to employees, effective December 1, were announced today by the Postal Telegraph and Cable company, through its secretary, William J. Deegan.

In a statement issued by the company and sent to its offices throughout the country the increases are announced "as necessary to meet increased operating expenses, to properly care for our employees and give better service to the public."

Under the increases the rates will be on a level with those charged by other telegraph and cable companies in the United States, Mr. Deegan said.

The increase brings the Postal company's rates to the same level in effect before the wires were returnd to private ownership, when Clarence H. MacKay, president of the company, was in controversy with Postmaster General Burleson, in regard to Mr. Burleson's 20 per cent toll increase order.

Mr. MacKay, in correspondence with Mr. Burleson, argued for an early return of the wires and promised the public that when this was done the rates of the Postal company would be reduced immediately. Mr. MacKay made good his promise and reduced the rates 20 per cent.

In opposing the increase ordered by Mr. Burleson at that time, Mr. MacKay said that it would mean a loss of $16,000,000 a year to telegraph users.

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take Grove's LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE tablets. The genuine bears the signature of E. W. Grove. 30c —(adv.)

"Pete" J. Stamos Opens Atlanta's Newest Cafe

Photo by Wesley Hirshburg.

P. J. STAMOS

Pete J. Stamos, who has served the Atlanta public for the past 11 years at the Arcade Cafe, has now opened a modern cafe of his own.

The restaurant business in every detail is known to Mr. Stamos, and it is his purpose to maintain his new cafe along standards of the highest in the south.

The best food obtainable is being properly cooked and served.

Charles Mitchel, who for the past 9 years served as chef at the Peachtree cafe, is in charge of the kitchen.

The Stamos cafe is serving Mocha coffee, being the first to serve this popular brand since before the war, as the Port of Mocha was blockaded by the Germans. As an evidence of the appreciation of this coffee again being served in this city, one of the best customers passed $20 over the counter for the first two cups drawn.

Chris Betis, for 2 years with the Peachtree cafe, is assisting in making the service perfect.

Drop in at the Stamos cafe, 121 North Pryor street, three doors south of Grand theater, for breakfast today.

They serve the good old southern buttermilk biscuits morning and evening.—(adv.)

Yaarab Temple Adopts Widows' Fund Insurance

Plan Popular in Many Shrine Temples Now Available to Nobles—52 Chosen to Cross Hot Sands Tuesday.

At the business meeting of Yaarab Temple held in Masonic Temple Saturday afternoon the nobility unanimously adopted the bylaws, rules and regulations submitted by the committee appointed to devise the working arrangements of a "widow's fund" for Yaarab Temple.

The "widow's fund" is a mutual insurance plan that has been in operation in shrine temples for many years, nearly one-half of the 141 temples having the plan in successful operation to the complete satisfaction of the nobility, it being a significant fact that practically the entire membership of temples having the plan are members of the fund.

The committee which arranged the plans adopted by Yaarab Temple made an exhaustive study of the subject, and it is believed that the rules governing Yaarab's "widow's fund" are as perfect as it is possible to make them.

Any member of Yaarab temple who is in good standing is eligible to membership, and he may become a member by making application on a blank to be furnished by Recorder George E. Argard, whose office is 1615 Healey building, and paying an entrance fee of $6.20. Of this sum $4 goes into a general reserve fund, and $2 into the mortuary fund as advance payment on two death claims, the 20 cents being used to defray clerical expense and postage. As soon as the first two assessments have been paid an assessment of $2.20 will be made so that there will always be money in the mortuary fund to pay two claims.

The applicant states on the application blank that he is in good health, and names the beneficiary, who in case of his death will receive $1 for every member in the fund. No certificates will be issued until there are 500 members in the fund, but the plan is so popular that it is thought there will be at least 2,000 members by January 1. Nobles who are 60 years of age or older must make application for membership within six months from date of adoption of the plan by the temple, and new members who are 60 or over at time of joining the Shrine must make application for membership in the fund within six months after being created or they will be barred.

The illustrious potentate, chief rabban, assistant rabban, high priest and prophet and recorder will act as the board of directors, the potentate being president of the fund and the recorder its secretary and treasurer. Recorder Argard says that application blanks will be ready Tuesday for the nobility, and receipts will be issued until 500 have joined, after which certificates will be given.

A class of 52 was elected at the business session to receive the degrees of the shrine at the ceremonial session to be held Tuesday night in the Auditorium, and inasmuch as it will be the last ceremonial of the year a large attendance of the nobility is expected.

Sealed Tight

Every pound of good old Luzianne Coffee comes to you in an air-tight tin can The original goodness is all there—sealed in! Good old Luzianne retains its flavor. "Goes Twice as Far"

LUZIANNE

coffee

Wm. B. Reily & Co. Inc. New Orleans

WRITE FOR CATALOG

GUARANTEE—If, after using entire contents of the can according to directions, you are not satisfied in every respect, your grocer will refund the money you paid for it.

PLUTO WATER

America's Physic

PHYSICIANS everywhere recommend Pluto Water as the safe laxative. In results it is certain and prompt. In action it is pleasant and gentle. It cleanses the system completely.

Pluto Water is bottled at French Lick Springs, Indiana—America's foremost watering place, where thousands come annually to drink Pluto at its source. All the health-giving properties of these famous springs come to you in bottled Pluto Water. Keep Pluto always in your home—it is the best health insurance. Bottled by French Lick Springs Hotel Co., at French Lick Springs, Indiana.

Your physician prescribes it

When nature wont PLUTO will

¼ off

Beautiful Framed Mirrors

For This Week Only

Binder Picture Frame Mfg. Co.

115 N. Pryor St. Opposite Candler Bldg.

Picture Frames Made to Order at Factory Prices

THE CONSTITUTION

The Standard Southern Newspaper.

Published Daily, Sunday, Tri-Weekly.

CLARK HOWELL

Editor and General Manager.

Directors: Clark Howell, Roby Robinson, Albert Howell, Jr., E. H. Black, H. W. Grady.

THE SOUTH'S STANDARD NEWSPAPER — WISDOM JUSTICE MODERATION — ESTABLISHED 1868

Entered at the postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

Telephone Main 5000.

ATLANTA, GA., November 29, 1920

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

	1 Wk.	1 Mo.	3 Mos.	6 Mos.	1 Yr.
Daily and Sunday ...	20c	90c	$2.50	$5.00	$9.50
Daily	16c	70c	2.00	4.00	7.50
Sunday	10c	45c	1.00	1.75	3.25

Single Copies—Daily, 5c. Sunday—10c.

J. R. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, sole advertising manager for all territory outside of Atlanta.

The Constitution Washington office is at New Ebbitt House, corner of Fourteenth and F streets, N. W. Mr. J. A. Hollomon, correspondent.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city by 2 p. m., the day after issue. It can be had: Hotaling's Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-Second street (Times building corner); Thirty-Eighth street and Broadway, and Twenty-Ninth street and Broadway.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

Member of the Associated Press.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use of publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

CALVIN'S GOOD ADVICE.

The spirit of optimism running through the discussion of the cotton situation by Martin V. Calvin, statistician of the state department of agriculture, which we present elsewhere in this issue of The Constitution, is delightfully reassuring.

It inspires the reader with hope and courage, and if every farmer and every business man in the south would read and catch the spirit of Mr. Calvin's message, then act in accordance with it, the "cotton problem" would be solved.

His story of the boy and the chipmunk is pertinent.

"Do you think you'll get him?" asked the man, seeing the boy struggling to capture a chipmunk that had taken refuge in a hollow stump.

"I've got to get him!" was the boy's answer.

Equally applicable to the necessities of the south's situation is the reference to the drummer boy's reply to Napoleon when the great commander had ordered him to sound "retreat" at the climax of a battle.

"Sire, I was never taught to sound a 'retreat,'" replied the boy—so the story goes—"I can only rattle a 'charge!'"

It is not a question of thinking about bridging the present period of depression, we've "got to" do it!

Once over the present difficulty the backbone of which is the low price of cotton, its recurrence in the future can be prevented, as Mr. Calvin suggests, and as The Constitution has been urging for years, by diversifying crops, so that if one fails as a revenue-producer the farmer will have the others to fall back upon.

The present cotton slump will be overcome in time, but it will not have been without purpose if it serves to impress the utter fallacy of the one-crop system of farming—if it convinces the south of the wisdom of the diversification system that calls for the production of a number of staple crops, foodstuffs, live stock, etc., with cotton as a side-product.

'QUIT WHINING; BUCK UP.'

"Let's quit whining, buck up and go about our business," suggests The Arkansas Gazette; and it's mighty safe, sane and sound admonition.

In a spirit of sarcasm, The Stuttgart (Ark.) Arkansawyer, announcing that it is "tired of the moaning and the glooming," it finds on every side, makes the doleful suggestion that the people of the town join, "100 per cent strong," in a solid week of calamity howling.

"Let us," suggests The Arkansawyer, "suspend all business; quit advertising; quit buying and selling; quit eating, even, and give ourselves up, heart and soul, to an orgy of gloom. Let's howl, howl, howl; cuss the country, business, our town, our neighbors and each other!"

That might not be such a bad idea, after all—certainly not for grouchers and pessimists that are to be found in every community, and whose "cases" are in danger of becoming chronic—for the most necessary thing to be done right now is for us all to get the pessimism out of our systems.

It might be that the necessary result could be attained by staging a week-long lodge of sorrow, or, possibly, more time than that would be required; but, at any rate, the purpose of all should be to strive valiantly to come out of it with a proper attitude toward conditions and the world.

As The Arkansas Gazette correctly reasons—

"The price of cotton and the price of rice is much below what it should be, but Arkansas is not mortally hurt. We are in better shape for trouble than we have been for years. We can stand up under a jolt as well as any other people can."

Essentially the same situation exists in Georgia, the only difference being that Georgia is even more abundantly blessed with natural resources and conditions making for potential prosperity, happiness, peace of mind and sunny disposition than is the sister southern state in question—or than is any other state in the land, for that matter.

The only thing that is needed is for us, one and all, to "quit whining, buck up, and go about our business."

SAFETY ON THE STREET.

In reaffirming a sentence that had been imposed upon the driver of an automobile for violation of the traffic laws, the Alabama supreme court the other day held that a citizen operating a motor vehicle "owes a duty to the public to keep a lookout for pedestrians, not only at street intersections, but between such crossings."

That ruling is logical, sound and just; and the duty to which the court called attention rests likewise upon everybody in charge of any sort of vehicle on a public thoroughfare.

At the same time a corresponding duty rests upon the pedestrian.

It is imposed by the first law of nature—the law of self-preservation.

The pedestrian who relies entirely upon vehicle drivers to protect him from injury on a crowded street is more likely than not to get bumped, regardless of how careful, considerate and painstaking the drivers may be.

The driver should be careful to avoid striking a pedestrian; likewise, the pedestrian should be equally as watchful and as careful to avoid being struck.

It often happens that serious traffic accidents result from carelessness on the victim's part, or from his own failure to obey the traffic laws.

The District of Columbia Suffrage league is preparing to conduct a campaign "to prevent accidents in Washington," of which, it says in the announcement of the plan, "there has been an unusually large number during the last several months, the majority of them being street accidents, caused by automobiles, street cars, other vehicles, etc."

This is, of course, a worthy movement, and it should result in great good in the way of decreasing the number of casualties in the capital city; and a similar campaign could be conducted with great profit in every American city.

And in making such a campaign, the educational work should be on a plan broad enough to include pedestrians and users of trolley cars as well as those who operate vehicles of all types.

Dispatch says the removal of a lot of whisky, in Pittsburg, nearly caused a riot. Perhaps there was a jug of "moonshine" in it, and the crowd got a fighting-mad whiff of it.

The Eureka (Kansas) Herald hits it off in this: "There is no chance in this country for a lazy man under any kind of an administration."

The Kansas City Star isn't as concerned about the shopping days from now till Christmas as it is about the earning days.

There should be no holiday season grouch about the high cost of giving.

Rzeschewski is the name of a champion boy chess player. They find it as hard to beat him as to pronounce his name.

Hair tonic is under ban as a beverage. Next thing, there'll be restrictions on furniture polish.

Can't have a world of all-good weather; but a rainy day gives the world a chance to count its blessings.

"Barriers built in London streets." Trust the next news will not be: "London Bridge Is Falling Down."

Revival of the joke on the cold storage Christmas turkey. The humorists don't respect age.

The "drop in hogs" will enable the country to get a look at the alleged profiteers.

Unless the turkey is reasonable, it will be Thanksgiving with reservations.

Just From Georgia

By FRANK L. STANTON.

To the Gates of Rest.

(In Memory of Bruffey.)

I.

No fear for him of a River's foam;
Dread of the Dark where the far stars roam;
Honors true, he had given his best,
From the Morning sky to the Gates of Rest.

Rest well won
With work well done—
Home, at the set of Sun.

II.

Life's last sun looked on his faithful face,
Turned, with a smile, to the Resting Place.
Night came, with a dream of another Dawn,
And his is the dream, as we journey on.
His journey run,
Life's work well done;
Home, at the set of Sun.

—F. L. S.

* * * * *

The "Easy" Job.

Replying to a correspondent, The Cuba Review says that "most any man can be an editor. All he has to do is to sit at a desk six days a week, four weeks a month, twelve months a year and edit such stuff as this: 'Mrs. Jones, of Cactus Creek, let a can opener slip last week and cut herself in the pantry. Joe Doe climbed on the roof of his house last week looking for a leak and fell, landing on his back porch. While Harold Green was escorting Miss Violet Wise from the church social last Saturday night, a savage dog attacked them and bit Mr. Green on the public square. Mr. Frang, while harnessing a broncho last Saturday, was kicked just south of his corn crib.'"

* * * * *

The Gift of Love.

"What will I give her for Christmas?"—
Dear one! I have little to give.
Save a kiss for the curls
Of the sweetest of girls,
And the right near Love's bosom to live!

And ever this counsel—
No other but this:
"Forget not the love
That I give with the kiss!"

"What will I give her for Christmas?"—
Folded away from earth's strife,
I clasp and caress her,
And give her—"God bless her!"
Just that—and the love of my life!

And ever this counsel—
No other but this:
"Forget not the love
That I give with a kiss!"

* * * * *

That Settled Him.

"One thing in the devil's favor is that he does his work thoroughly."

"You think you're a complete job, do you?"

* * * * *

The Two Lands.

Poverty Land
Is where you stand,
With never a gift
Of heart or hand;
But the land of riches,
Where Joy may live,
Is there, where the blessing
Of Love we give.

* * * * *

Nuggets From Gorgia.

Trouble always comes at the wrong time, an' the reason is—they ain't no right time for him.

Some folks are hard to satisfy. They'd growl if you knocked 'em down with a gold nugget.

Good way to git along in this old world is to keep the saw in the log and not expect the other fellow to do all the sawing.

* * * * *

What They Sing.

In the night when the Wind
And the fire seem singing,
Dreams of the Christmas
Trees they're bringing,
And the stars look down
With a brighter beam—
Bright with the Christmas Morning dream!

* * * * *

Word From Brother Williams.

I don't preach long in de winter time. When de meetin'house stove gits red hot, I jes' calls de attention of de congregation to it, an' de fire does de rest.

Today's Talk

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

(Copyright, 1920, for The Constitution.)

JESUS, HUNGRY BABES—AND YOU.

Every Christmas time is a period when the whole world's thought is turned to the birth of a baby called Jesus. The prophets had long told of His coming, and of the beauty and happiness He was to bring into the world because of His lovely character.

And so, in memory of such a great event, we have Christmas. It is a universal time of giving and of thinking of others.

Jesus loved babies very much. He was always wanting them around Him—once he told a company of His friends that "of such was the Kingdom of Heaven."

Thousands of little babies are starving in Europe right this minute. Christmas is very near. They need food—worse than they want toys, much as they love the toys. Your own Christmas may be so much happier if you help to feed these babies NOW. Winter is fast approaching. You must act at once.

Herbert Hoover recently made an appeal for these babies through The Literary Digest of New York city. Any one may send in any amount to this publication and just say that they want it to help feed the babies in Europe—and you may be sure that the money will get to the babies.

A friend of mine who has just returned from Vienna says that it is pitiful to the extreme. I am told that merely a few pennies of American money for each baby daily will go far toward helping these innocent victims of war.

So won't YOU send something today? The world can't be very happy with hungry babies in it. I have sent my little help already. Won't YOU do it, too?

Your Christmas will be so much happier.

America ought to be greatest when it helps hungry babies!

Bits of New York Life

BY O. O. McINTYRE

New York, November 28.—Burglars, with silk-spun voices, pommaded hair and the odor of pungent perfumes clinging to their immaculate clothes, are not journalistic imaginings in New York. They are realities. The police admit that three daring robberies have been performed by an entirely new kind of thief—a thief who is polite and who does not use a blackjack, but honeyed words of persuasion.

The most spectacular of these robberies occurred in the exclusive section near Andrew Carnegie's mansion. A former actress and rich divorcee was the victim. She had been making the rounds of the dansants and when she returned late at night three fashionably dressed men with close clipped mustaches and well manicured hands, awaited her behind portieres in her boudoir.

They gagged her, but did it with a chorus of pardons. They kept her bound all night and searched the house, but returned at odd times to comfort her, give her a cigarette, spray her aching throat and smooth the pillow they had provided for her head.

One talked to her of Whistler and what a genius he was—not only as a painter, but as a lecturer, and he even recalled the scathing rebuke of Whistler for Oscar Wilde, whom he accused of plagiarism. Before leaving her they removed the bonds and gag and after polite apologies and caution to keep quiet for a little while they departed.

The police at first doubted the story. Perhaps the woman intended to return to the stage. What a clever bit of press agency it would be splattered on all of the front pages! But the more they investigated the less they found to dispute her story. They now believe it.

A masked man held up a late pedestrian on Riverside drive the other night. He took all his possessions—even a ring that he had to work with some time to remove. But before leaving his victim he took an engraved silver flask from his pocket.

"You are no doubt upset by this unhappy experience," were his exact words. "I beg of you forget for a moment that I am a sort of Francis Villon and take a wee nip. It will restore your equilibrium." And the victim, so impressed by the suave invitation, took a swig and went on his bewildered way.

The police suspect that most of these polite pirates are products of the cafes and cabarets. Here they acquire a certain polish by mingling with their social betters. And, too, they pick up information about their intended victims that may be put to their good use.

The dress suit burglar has often figured in burglary escapades, but the police have rarely come across him until recently. Now the most daring robberies are executed by sleek youths in college cut clothes and fine arts.

Jimmy Allison, the newspaper correspondent, was speaking to Justice Francis X. McQuade, one of the owners of the New York Giants, recently about baseball topics. McQuare was complaining that the Giants lost the pennant because they didn't hit hard enough or often enough.

"Why didn't you invite the visiting teams up to McGraw's flat?" asked Allison—just like that.

Spook chasing as a business! Dr. Hereward Carrington makes a specialty of studying the phenomena of haunted houses in New York. He is a psychic invesigator and takes his work very seriously.

In an interview Dr. Carrington said: "A house may me 'haunted' without the presence of spirits or without any element of fraud, although the latter is most often to be encountered. There is a certain recognizable phenomena in many so-called haunted houses. In the case of queer noises we place phonographs in the supposedly haunted rooms and get authentic records of the sounds or not, as the case develops."

Incidentally Raymond Hitchcock's clever press agent concocted a story that Hitchcock's house down in Washington square was haunted. Dr. Carrington went down to investigate and many notables of Broadway were invited to the spook party. There were a lot of spirits there—but mostly on the hip.

It is said that Morris Gest spent $400,000 to produce "Mecca," the spectacular sensation of New York. One of the greatest of plays, "John Ferguson," by St. John Ervine, was put on by the Theater Guild. At the time they had just $19.60 in the treasury!

The gullibility of the public surpasses understanding. In a west side district a man opened an office to sell stock in a moving picture concern "to give investors preference in a screen career." He was open a week before they jugged him, but in that time he had sold $8,000 worth of stock to girls, not one of them drawing a salary of more than $20 a week. Even when a moving picture concern is on a paying basis and has bright prospects expert financial men declare that it is a highly speculative proposition.

A gruesome story has come to light regarding the death and burial of a well-known actor who was killed in an automobile accident last summer. A "funeral scout" representing a New York undertaking establishment secured possession of the body and it was sent to New York and laid out in state in what is known as the "gold room" of the funeral parlor. The wife was then informed that the total expenses of the interment would be $7,000, one of the items of which was a tax of $100 per day for the use of the "gold room." The wife took the matter to her lawyer and he repudiated the bill. Confronted with this ultimatum, an enormous cut—more than half—was made in the bill.

He Just Won't Be Happy!

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

THE ARREST OF TUBERCULOSIS.

In a contribution on arrestment of tuberculosis, read before the National Tuberculosis association and published in The New York Medical Journal, Dr. F. M. Pottenger gives this definition of the disease: Tuberculosis is a chronic infectious inflammatory process in which there is a long interval between the time of infection and the clinical manifestation of the disease. While tubercles undergo much the same type of evolution that is noted in a boil on the body surface—impiantation (of the germs) followed by induration (hardening around the focus of infection), necrossi (death of the "core"), rupture, and healing—these changes take place extremely slowly, taking weeks, months or years for the cycle instead of a few hours or days. Often the stage of necrosis and rupture fails to appear, the process remaining as an induration for a long period and then changing into scar . . . The infection does not become a clinical disease (that is, does not noticeably impair health) until sufficient toxins (the poisons produced by the tubercle bacilli) have passed out from the focus of infection in the lung into the blood; or until it produces some local change which makes its presence known, such as pleurisy, sputum or spitting of blood.

There is room here to quote only a few pearls of wisdom from Dr. Pottenger's contribution. Patients or potential patients should read them over now and again.

"Strength must be conserved to fight the infection in every way possible. If the patient exercises when the disease is active this principle is disregarded.

"Toxemia (poisons produced by the bacilli and passed out into the blood stream) should be eliminated as soon as possible because of its deleterious influence on the body functions . . . If the patient exercises when the disease is active this principle, too, is disregarded."

It has been found a good rule to "treat patients until physical exercise, such as walking from one to ten miles, according to the condition of the patient, produces no sign of toxemia, and until the chest signs are no longer indicative of a lesion likely to reactivate and spread. The patient may then be allowed to interrupt treatment, following a restricted regime with only occasional supervision for a period of from three to nine months, when he should return for another period of strict guidance."

The length of time required to bring about arrest depends on the extent to which the disease has progressed before diagnosis and treatment are obtained, and on the patient's mentality and deportment. "The length of time required for this is far longer than is usually believed. In early cases this may take two years or more, and in advanced cases the time is proportionately longer."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Laugh and Grow Fat.

If you were a girl 17 years, 66 inches tall, a freshman at college, and weighed but 108 pounds when you should, according to your gym teacher, weigh 130 pounds, what would you do? (M. B. McK.)

ANSWER—I dunno. Maybe I'd cry. Or maybe I'd write to this department and say, "Dear Dr. Brady: Please tell me how I can gain weight," and I'd enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for the doctor's convenience.

The Constipated Habit.

Is constipation listed—as I suppose it is—among that vast number of diseases or ailments for which you refuse to prescribe in individual cases? (W. G. R.)

ANSWER—No. Constipation is just a bad habit and I'd be pleased to send you detailed suggestions for overcoming the habit if you will accompany your request with a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Vinegar's a Pisen.

Is vinegar harmful? My husband insists upon using it on almost everything he eats. (Mrs. O. G. D.)

ANSWER—It is chiefly dilute acetic acid, which comes under poisons, not foods. Lemon juice is a wholesome substitute if the sourness is craved. The moderate use of vinegar as a condiment is harmless, so far as I know.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of The Atlanta Constitution.

Wants Public Expression Appreciation of Wilson

Editor Constitution: In an effort to lend some little influence in what I think is a national obligation just now, I am writing to make a suggestion which I hope may start a movement toward a great public demonstration designed to prove to the world and to our president that Americans are not without appreciation.

It has been a very short time since Mr. Wilson was without question recognized as the greatest man of the world, and he was hailed as such by all nations. Having accomplished his great work, and in the act of bringing it to the people, so that we might all clearly grasp the meaning of what had been accomplished, he was stricken. No democrat was found who could and would take up this most necessary work, and the republicans at this moment, seeing their opportunity, took advantage of it, with the result with which we are all so familiar. The present dazed frame of the public mind is almost ready to admit the result of the election indicated a repudiation of President Wilson and all his work.

It is this to which I wish to direct your attention, and to say that I am sure in the depths of the heart of every American, no matter what his politics or creed, is a sincere love for our president whom we so recently lauded, and while he lies suffering in body, a martyr in the world's greatest cause, I much fear he is suffering more deeply the pangs of disappointment, in feeling that his people have repudiated him, and forgotten his great works.

Americans, all, should give deep thought to this shocking situation, recall to their minds his greatness and his suffering, and also the fact that he is passing officially, and, possibly, physically, from the scene of his glorious accomplishments, which have represented the greatest period of our history, and should arrange a general farewell to him which will make him and the world realize that, while some political differences have arisen, we as a nation know and love him, and are convinced of his goodness and greatness.

Let's try to have him retire with the best possible feeling, rather than with any sort of regret or disappointment.

We all owe this to ourselves, as men to men, and I do hope that such a movement will be developed.

HARRIS HURST,
714 Peters Building.
Atlanta, Ga., November 28, 1920.

Way to Hit Weevil Is "Below the Belt"

Editor Constitution Almost every one in the south and many in other sections feel the effect of low price for cotton.

In anticipation of 40-cent cotton farmers willingly gave a good price to croppers as well as for day labor.

Now, many farmers bought their croppers' part of crop at the then price above the resent rice. The landlord was fair, the croper needed cash for the comfort of family for winter. Hence the land owner is the loser when he only wanted to be just with tenant.

For the coming 1921 crop I am not financially able to test a plan that I have been waiting to see if someone would not suggest, namely, one or more men of means find a competent mechanic to make a spray apparatus that will spray upwards instead of downward. The down spray gives Mr. Weevil a shelter, the upspray hits him below the belt. He tackles the boll, not the leaves. A spray machine can be made to spray upwards and not come in contact with driver, going down would spray the side of two rows. This spraying of bloom and boll will put Mr. Weevil out of business.

I have in mind a machine and will willingly give to any who really wants to test it and is financially able to do so.

J. F. WALKER.
Monticello, Ga.

The Signs of the Times As Applied to Cotton

BY MARTIN V. CALVIN,

Statistician Georgia Department of Agriculture.

Editor Constitution: In these crucial times the people need reliable information bearing direct on the questions in which all of them are vitally interested. Conditions are trying; for the reason that the affairs of men in every line of business are in process o[illegible]ment.

It behooves every one of us to recall the fact that no man lives unto himself. Without controversy, we are all inter-dependent. To acknowledge this fact and to live up to it, will be to experience a higher degree of success and a larger measure of happiness. The business situation, which has aroused and put into action the best thought of the entire country, is the same everywhere. It is not wholly new. Speaking generally, it is a a recurrence. We have passed through similar crises and came out in pretty fair condition. That will be our experience as to the existing situation. We shall master it, because it is in us so to do.

You ask: "On what do you predicate so bold a statement?" The answer is, on the certainty that every man in the boat will handle his oar to the very best of his ability. "Will every man do that?"

Once upon a time a gentleman traveling a neighborhood road observed a boy, forked stick in hand, tugging at an old stump.

"What are you up to, my lad?"

"I am trying to get a chip-munk that is in this stump."

"Do you think you'll get him?"

"I have got to get him!"

The traveler, a man of philosophic mind, laid to heart the sturdy reply of the boy.

In a great battle, when tide was sweeping against him, Napoleon is said to have called to a drummer boy who was quite near him.

"Drummer boy, sound the retreat!" "Sire," replied the brave boy, "I was never taught to sound a retreat; I can only rattle a charge!"

"Rattle a charge, then quickly, my boy." The order was instantly obeyed, and the tide of battle was turned against the enemy.

We are on the affirmative side of the pending proposition. We have just got to push difficulties out of our way; we have just got to surmount every obstacle that confronts.

Cotton is down—away down. We regret that; it means so much to all our people, more particularly the producer of the great staple. The ablest men among the producers of cotton, and the ablest men among those who sincerely sympathize with the farmers, are taxing to the utmost their ingenuity and their business experience in a determined effort to devise a financial plan whereby the cotton situation shall be satisfactorily and savingly compassed. It would seem impossible that those widely directed efforts should fail.

The proposition which we have grappled is many sided. Addressing ourselves to one side, we must not lose sight of the other sides. Under the policy of deflation, which has for its object the prevention of a panic in money circles, prices are going down all along the line. We are gradually getting back to the point at which one dollar will buy one dollar's worth of goods instead of, as now, sixty-two and a half cents worth.

But that should not be permitted hurtfully to affect the producers of cotton. Trade conditions authorize the demand of forty cents a pound for middling cotton. At the very inception of the world war almost the government rushed to the aid of the producers of wheat in this country. Why can not, why should not, the government extend aid to the cotton producer to the end that cotton may be held until what it is worth—forty cents a pound—can be realized? England, France, Germany, Japan, China, each and all, need cotton and need it badly. Surely there is ability and patriotism enough in this country to solve the cotton problem.

It seems to me that we are talking rather than conferring on this all-important proposition. It occurs to me that to get together twelve or fifteen cotton growers and business men, and let them go into executive session on the pending question, would be to evolve a perfectly workable plan in the interest of forty-cent cotton.

In the days of that great and glorious organization—the Farmers' Alliance—we wanted to hold cotton for a price; warehousing, money and insurance were the prerequisites. One day, at Augusta, I received a wire from Colonel W. L. Peek, saying he would be in Augusta the next day to see if satisfactory arrangements could be effected. I went at once to the offices of Messrs. Phinizy & Co.; told them what we desired to accomplish. At 9 o'clock the next morning Colonel Peek and I called on Messrs. Phinizy & Co. In less than one hour a saving plan was agreed on; it was accepted by the Alliance membership and the object in view fully accomplished.

In those days the government did not have as much to do with the home affairs of the people as it was drawn into the habit of doing by the world war. The government is sending out to every county in the United States a man who, for a long time, was known as "farm demonstrator," now known as "county agent." Never before, in the history of this country, was the government so closely identified with the home affairs of the people. Why should not the government do for cotton what it did for wheat during the world war? Wheat is produced in the west; cotton in the south. Both are great sections of the greatest country in all the world. Let the government speedily turn to its duty to the men who produced, in this year of grace, 1920, cotton which the world wants—greatly needs?

It is being wisely urged that the cotton acreage for 1921, compared with 1917-1920, should be reduced not less than one-third. This can be effected by mutual agreement only. Legislation cannot touch so personal a subject as that. The arguments in favor of reduction are unanswerable. Many men are deaf to argument. They may yield to persuasive methods—to earnest appeals based on their individual interest in the policy of acreage reduction.

What is the management of the great cotton mills throughout the eastern, and in a number of southern states, doing as a matter of self-protection? They are either reducing the number of working days or reducing wages. In a large number of instances labor has, with commendable promptness and in good spirit, accepted the reduction of wages and resort to fewer working hours. They are compassing the situation just as we must compass it in the matter of a sharply reduced cotton acreage.

All is not lost save honor. Not a bit of it. True, the makret—the curbstone speculators—and the boll weevil have united in giving cotton growers a blow between the eyes, but the latter were not blinded. They are in condition, as to bodily health and vision, to strike back. They will strike back, vigorously and triumphantly. Note the prediction.

Let's see what the people have accomplished across the waters under the most crushing state of affairs:

Look at France. Torn up, shot to pieces, devastated! She has made large crops of cereals, etc., on the recent fields of battle and carnage. Up to September 1, 1920, 4,175,000 acres had been cleared of debris and leveled. Of that total 2,995,000 acres had been given a first ploughing. Of the quite 3,000,000 acres mentioned, there was sown in cereals 1,792,000 acres, which represents eighty per cent of the grain area prior to the world war; 613,000 acres were planted in beets and Irish potatoes.

For the first time since 1914 the French peasants will have made and hearvested enough food crops to meet their own [illegible] and to spare.

The devastated region has been made to blossom as the rose! A conservative estimate puts production in the region referred to as follows: Wheat, 6,700,000 bushels; oats, 21,125,000 bushels; beets, 25,000,000 bushels and Irish potatoes, 9,300,000 bushels. In addition to the fields every family has a flourishing garden.

The government financed the farmers in the sum of $200,000,000 in cash or in supplies equivalent to cash.

Of all the overseas stricken countries France will be the first completely to rehabilitate herself. Why? Because her fixed financial policy guarantees a per capita circulation of money of $47.50 every day in every year. A liberal per capita circulation of good money is the absolute essential to a general and continuing prosperity.

DICK WILDER PAYS VISIT TO BROTHER; BOOSTS LAFAYETTE

Dick Wilder, well known in the film field, but now engaged in the manufacturing business in Lafayette, Ind., has been spending a few days in Atlanta as the guest of his brother, Eugene Wilder, president of the Automatic Player Piano company.

Mr. Wilder is a booster for his home town, being almost as good in that line as a native born Atlantan. He is confident that his town cannot be equalled in the United States, although he is partial to Atlanta and has nothing but praise for her progress and the hospitality extended to him by her people.

In Lafayette he says all plants are running at full capacity and on full time; no men have been laid off, and no wages have been reduced.

He also advances another claim to prosperity. The recent supreme court decision on the eighteenth amendment which declares that liquor, personally owned, may be transported at least to any place in the same state, is expected to result in a very large shipment of liquors to that place from warehouses where it is now stored.

Negroes Have Much To Be Thankful For, Asserts Minister

"The colored people of the city and south have more to be thankful for than in any other section of the country," said Rev. B. R. Holmes, president of the Holmes institute, in the prelude of a sermon in Turner chapel A. M. E. church Sunday afternoon to a large audience.

"The colored people are given an opportunity to educate their children, build churches, schools; buy homes and farms, and the white people are always willing to assist them and are contributing freely their means to help them to be more useful and progressive citizens. The negro is given an opportunity to make an honest living in all pursuits of life and become an asset in the community in which he lives."

In Memory of Edward C. Bruffey

Toil, sorrow, suffering are now at end,
Rest and eternal peace are thine, dear friend;
One of God's noble works, "an honest man,"
Heaven's life is thine—what matters earth's brief span?

—CHARLES W. HUBNER.
Atlanta, Ga., November 26, 1920.

What the Stars Predict

(Copyright, 1920, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc., for The Constitution.)

This day is fairly lucky.

Anything pertaining to buying and selling has a good augury.

It is a lucky sign for farmers.

New honors for the president, through some written work, are indicated.

Again the stars predict war for Great Britain.

Persons whose birthday this is, will have a happy year.

Children born today will be high-strung and temperamental.

CURE-ALL OFFERED FOR MEXICAN ILLS

Nine Leading Mexicans, Now in Exile, Analyze Conditions in Country and Propose Remedy.

Washington, November 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—An analysis of Mexico's problems with a program for their solution is presented in an open letter to the Mexican people being circulated in Mexico signed by nine members of a group of political refugees in the United States.

They are Manuel Calero, minister for foreign affairs and later ambassador to the United States under Madero; Francesco B. Carbajal, former chief justice of the supreme court and president ad interim following Victoriano Huerta; Juan B. Castelazo, banker and former senator; Toribio Esquibel Obregon, minister of finance in Huerta's cabinet; Jesus Flores Magon, minister of the interior in Madero's cabinet; Tomas McManus, former senator; Rafael Martinez Carrillo, former senator; Miguel Ruelas, former general of the federal army, and Jorge Vera Estanol, minister of education in cabinets of Porfirio Diaz, and Victoriano Huerta.

Fifteen Major Problems.

Fifteen major problems, including the land and labor question, international relations, education and the financial rehabilitation of the country are outlined.

As a "means for making real democracy effective in Mexico," letter advocates, limiting the ballot, federal and state, to Mexican citizens not under 21 years old, who can read and write the Spanish language, and have a means of livelihood. This would bar the great mass of illiterate Indians, except in municipal elections, until they had been given an opportunity to learn to read and write Spanish, provision for which is made under the heading of education.

Illiteracy is declared to be the greatest menace to the country, the letter asserting that 60,000 grade schools should be established by government assistance. The Carranza policy of limiting private initiative in education is condemned.

A frank and open international policy is urged particularly toward the United States. Treaties with the United States to settle all boundary disputes, facilitate trade and unify railway connections, are said to be immediately necessary. The letter suggests also the establishment of a mixed claims commission to take up international claims and contends that Mexicans as well as foreigners should be reimbursed for losses and damages to property.

Carranza Doctrine Condemned.

The Carranza constitutional doctrine relating to land is condemned "wholly unrealizable" because of the need of foreign capital for development.

The right of workmen to strike and collective bargaining are indorsed, but the right of employers is also recognized to close their shops when not in violation of labor contracts. The eight-hour law is approved in principle.

The Mexican public debt, as set forth in this document, exclusive of claims, restoration of rolling stock and properties seized from foreigners and natives, is estimated to be 1,200,000,000 pesos. This must be paid, the signors say, and the potential resources of the country are declared to be more than equal to the task. But in the reconstruction of the country, the letter says, foreign capital is absolutely indispensable, and every encouragement should be given for investment through private channels, and not through government connections.

In this section, also, the Carranza policy toward foreigners and foreign capital is condemned, as "inspired in hostility toward everything foreign."

MRS. ARMOR CALLS FOR ENFORCEMENT OF THE "DRY" LAW

"Enforce the Law" was the theme of an address given by Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, national lecturer for the W. C. T. U., before a large audience at the Grace Methodist church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Mrs. Armor has lately returned from a tour of Great Britain, the middle west and Pacific coast in the interest of prohibition.

"Wherever I have spoken in the states of the union during the recent presidential election, women have asked me but one question about the candidates for any office," she said, "and that question was whether they were wet or dry. Woe to the man in the future who betrays the laws we have made when he meets at the ballot box the outraged motherhood of America."

Mrs. Armor was particularly vivid and forceful in portraying the alarming spread of cigarette smoking among women. She declared that in Europe the habit was as widespread among women as among men, and that conditions would soon be the same in America unless a fearless and earnest fight were waged against it.

Mrs. Armor spoke at the St. Johns Methodist church in the evening.

VOLUNTEERS HAVE RIGHT TO ASK ALMS, STATES ATTORNEY

Until a final decision is reached in the case of the Volunteers of America against the city of Atlanta, the organization has full authority to solicit alms in this city under a supersedeas granted by Judge Bell, according to John & Scott, attorneys for the Volunteers.

Judge Bell recently signed an order dissolving a temporary injunction against the city granted to the Volunteers in their effort to prevent enforcement of the city ordinance, which provides that such organizations must secure a permit from city council.

Attorneys for the Volunteers have presented a bill of exceptions carrying the case to the supreme court, to Judge Bell, who certified the bill, and signed a supersedeas whereby the restraining order hitherto granted is continued in force until the case is reviewed by the supreme court, it is claimed.

UNSTAMPED CIGARS STOLEN AT AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Burglars last night entered the Edwards Cigar factory here and secured a quantity of cigars, many of them unstamped. The factory was entered from the pool room of V. H. Gaines, but nothing there was stolen.

The door of the factory leading into the Gaines place was broken open and it is believed some hanger-on in the pool room was locked in when the place was closed. The fact that many of the cigars stolen had no revenue stamps on the boxes makes the matter one for investigation by federal authorities.

Well-Known Negro Dies.

The funeral of A. F. Stewart, one of the prominent officers of the colored Knights of Pythias in this state, was held at Wheat Street Baptist church yesterday afternoon. In addition to his work in this order, the deceased was one of the active welfare workers in the city. During the war he was very active in the war camp community service, and in 1898 went to the Philippine islands as a soldier in the United States army. Dr. P. James Bryant delivered an eulogy before a large gathering. He leaves two sons, two daughters and wife.

Debt-Paying Contest.

The colored branch of the Y. M. C. A. has just launched a debt-paying musical and prize contest to be held at Big Bethel A. M. E. church on the night of December 23. S. W. Walker is the chairman of the campaign, and already fine results have been obtained. The contestants of the several churches are working for a big cash report by the close of the month. Announcements were made in a number of colored churches yesterday.

Public Advised Not To Pay Advance Prices

In having your dental work done it is not necessary to pay exorbitant prices. The Atlanta Dental Parlors, corner Peachtree and Decatur streets, an old-established institution, is giving the very highest quality of dental work at most reasonable prices, in fact about one-half the price charged by others equally skilled in dentistry.

Quality is our first consideration. For the past fifteen years, we have turned out the very finest dental work, at the very lowest possible prices. Ask your friend about us.

When in need of dental work, come to the Atlanta Dental Parlors. Dr. C. A. Constantine, prop. Corner Peachtree and Decatur streets.—(adv.)

Buy Your WINDOW GLASS From F. J. Cooledge & Sons 12 N. Forsyth St. On the Bridge.

Make This a Jewelry Christmas

Jewelry affords the most sensible Christmas presents you can buy.

Articles in Gold Jewelry, are beautiful, appropriate, durable and useful.

You can buy Gold Jewelry as cheaply as anything else.

Gifts in this line will be doubly appreciated if they come from us, for the recipients will know you wanted them to have the best.

Write for a copy of our twenty-sixth annual catalogue.

Mail orders shipped prepaid. Safe delivery guaranteed.

Make this a jewelry Christmas.

Shop early.

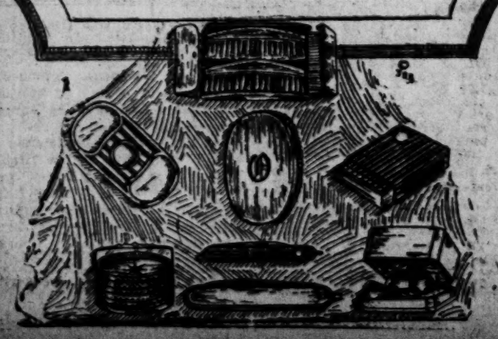
Buy Gifts That Last!

Maier & Berkele, Inc.

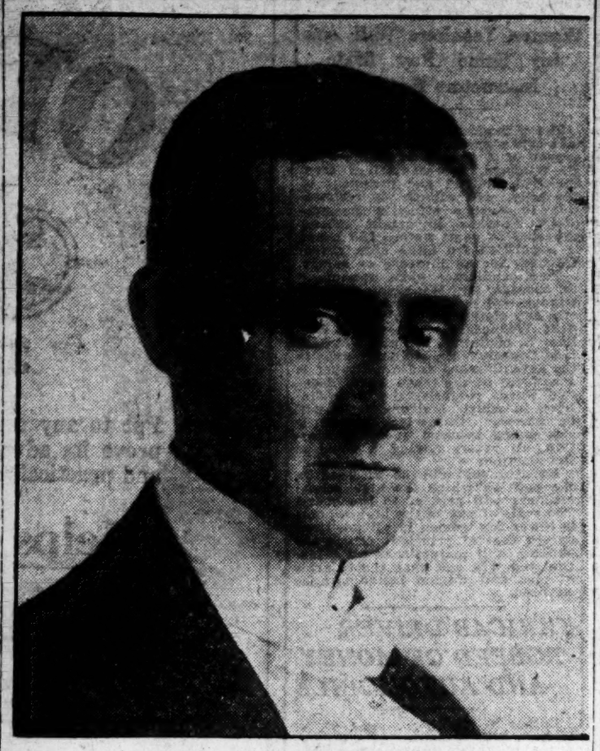
Gold and Silversmiths

31 Whitehall Street

Established 1887 Atlanta, Ga.



Alexander Given Degrees By Cambridge and Oxford



ALEXANDER, "THE MAN WHO KNOWS"

Alexander, "The Man Who Knows," who, with his all-new show of wonders, will return to the Atlanta theater for the week, commencing tonight, has just returned from Europe, where he lectured before prominent physicians and surgeons. Alexander was accompanied on his tour by Dr. Charles Mayo, eminent surgeon of Rochester, Minn.; Brigadier General Finney, who was in charge of the medical forces of the A. E. F., in France; Simon Flexner, of the Rockefeller Institute, and many other distinguished delegates to the International Medical Congress at Paris.

While in Europe Alexander received the degree of bachelor of science from both Cambridge and Oxford.

CHAMBER TO DISCUSS WORLD'S FAIR PLANS

Forum Luncheon to Be Held Wednesday Noon, With Music Feature.

Full discussion of the proposed world's fair for Atlanta will be heard at the forum luncheon of the Atlanta chamber of commerce Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock, in the assembly hall of the chamber building. An added feature of the luncheon will be several excerpts from the light opera, "The Three Musketeers," by Richard Temple, composer of the music.

Since the project of a world's fair here in 1925 has been agitated vigorously the last few weeks, and since many of the city's leading citizens have given their approval to the idea, the officials of the chamber decided that the time was ripe for detailed discussion of its advantages and disadvantages, and with this end in view will throw Wednesday's meeting open to full and free discussion by the members and guests.

Keen interest also is being taken in the musical offering of Mr. Temple, as his opera has been well-received. The composer has given several private and semi-public renditions of the complete score, singing the various parts to his own accompaniment, and the enthusiasm with which these hearings have been received are responsible for the chamber's effort to hear several of the best selections to the fifteen minutes of the luncheon time which will be devoted to this feature.

3,000 STEEL STRIKERS TO RETURN TO WORK

Reading, Pa., November 28.—The Reading Iron company will resume operations in all its plants tomorrow after an idleness of five months. A majority of the strikers voted today to accept the company's offer of $16.25 per ton for puddling. Over 3,000 men employed in the plants in this city, Pottstown, Birdsboro, Columbia and Danville are affected. The company has agreed to re-employ all the men, but will not dismiss any of those who remained at work during the long strike. The plants are expected to be in full operation within a week.

VETERAN MAIL MAN SUFFERS FROM STROKE

Lyerly, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Edgar J. Edwards, rural letter carrier on route 3 from Lyerly, suffered a stroke of paralysis while on his route Tuesday and his condition has been serious since and the attending physician can give out no hope of his recovery. Mr. Edwards was the first rural letter carrier from this office under the rural free delivery system. He served for eleven years when his health failed and he resigned, but about a year ago he again secured appointment.

ENGLAND CANCELS FRENCH COAL PACT

London, November 28.—The agreement whereby England supplied France with 45 per cent of England's output of export coal has been cancelled. This action follows a conference of the British and French ministers at London on Friday.

With the lapse of this agreement, allocations of coal for South American establishments also are withdrawn, but the obligation to supply a certain quantity of coal to Italy remains unaltered.

POPE IS GRIEVED BY IRISH SITUATION

Rome, November 28.—The pope is following with anxious interest the development of the situation in Ireland and is deeply grieved at the daily reports of bloodshed. Learning of the arrest of Arthur Griffith and Professor MacNeill, of the Sinn Fein, he inquired the effect it might produce and was told by a prominent Irishman that both men exercised a moderating influence on their followers; therefore, their disappearance would probably have a bad, rather than a good effect.

MINE SWEEPER ASHORE; ALL THE CREW LANDED

Plymouth, Mass., November 28.—The United States mine sweeper Swan went ashore late today near Gurnet light. The crew of sixty-two men was landed safely. A northeast gale with very heavy seas prevailed.

Boston, November 28.—The destroyer Mahan was ordered tonight to go to the assistance of the mine sweeper Swan which went ashore near Plymouth late today.

SHIPPING BOARD ASKS FOR TENDERS ON BUNKER COAL

Washington, November 28.—Tenders for furnishing 2,230,000 tons of bunker coal for government merchant ships during the coming year, were called for tonight by the shipping board. Bids will be opened December 10 and a performance bond equal to 10 per cent of the total of the award required of the successful bidders.

Officials estimated that the government fleet could obtain a year's coal for about $33,500,000 by this means which they declared would be a saving of millions of dollars as the board has been forced into the open market in the past to buy coal at prices ranging as high as $20 a ton. Under the present call the board would get coal at the ruling market price and require the successful bidder to pay any excess so paid over the contract price in the event that the bidder fails to make deliveries.

Deliveries are to be made in 12 maximum monthly installments of 75,000 tons at New York, 15,000 tons at Philadelphia, Boston 2,500 tons; Baltimore, 20,000 tons; Norfolk, 40,000 tons; Charleston, 4,166 tons; Savannah, 3,333 tons; Jacksonville, 3,333 tons; Tampa, 2,000 tons; Pensacola, 1,000 tons; Mobile, 4,166 tons; New Orleans, 10,466 tons; Galveston, 2,083 tons; Port Arthur, 666 tons, and Sydney, 2,500 tons.

UNABLE TO WORK, DOUBLE SLAYER DECIDES TO YIELD

Philadelphia, November 28.—A negro, who gave his name as Sidney Mossley, and who said he had escaped a year ago from the Moundsville, W. Va., penitentiary, where he was serving a six-year sentence for killing his wife and a negro man, surrendered today to the local authorities.

Walking into detective headquarters at city hall, he inquired of detectives if that was "the place where murderers come," and added: "I'm a murderer. Of course, I only shot my wife and another man." He told the detectives he had escaped while working with a road gang, and added that inability to obtain work had caused him to surrender.

"OLD BONY" ADDS TWO MORE BEARS TO HIS LONG LIST

Asheville, N. C., November 28.—Reports have been received here of the capture of two black bears in Swain county, within thirty miles of Asheville, the remarkable part of the chase being that "Old Bony," claimed to be the champion bear hound of the mountains, tracked down and captured the animals. These two brings to nineteen the number of bears the dog has killed during the past few years, according to Rev. W. W. Williams, pastor of the West End Baptist church, who was in the party. Rev. Mr. Williams said seven bears have been killed within a radius of two miles of this spot in Swain county this fall.

ATLANTA HARVARD MAN IS APPOINTED COMMITTEE HEAD

Cambridge, Mass., November 28.—(Special.)—Benjamin F. Jones, of 15 Cascade place, Atlanta, has been appointed the chairman of the executive committee of the Harvard Tutorial society. The object of this society is to secure the introduction into Harvard of the tutorial system which is in use at Oxford and Cambridge, England. The tutorial society expects to urge the adoption of this system by a campaign of prominent speakers and by holding mass meetings and debates in the university.

RAILWAY UNIONS ASK FOR BOARDS OF ADJUSTMENT

Chicago, November 28.—Representatives of the sixteen recognized railway labor unions are expected here tomorrow to make a final plea to the railway labor board to re-establish national boards of adjustment.

Adjustment boards Nos. 1, 2 and 3 were abolished when the roads were taken from federal control and the big four brotherhoods, backed by the other twelve unions, maintain that re-establishment of these boards, which settled grievances between all classes of employees, is necessary.

Brotherhood chiefs tonight refused to say what action might be taken if the board rejected their request.

ARMY'S CONDITION IS TOLD BY BAKER

Great Standing Body Not Needed, Says Secretary of War, But There Must Be an Effective Working Model.

Washington, November 28.—The post-war reorganization of the army marks a new era in the military history of the country, Secretary Baker declares in his annual report, made public today, as it provides an effective model on which great armies could be swiftly built in times of emergency.

Reviewing the military activities of the nation since 1776, Secretary Baker says that although the United States was "the most peace-loving of all nations," it had been engaged in major domestic or foreign wars about one out of every four years during that period, and that the military power of the country had been in active use in war or military operations of some kind about three out of every four years.

Trained Men Needed.

"It is apparent, therefore, that while we do not need a great standing army, we must live in the world as it is while we struggle to make it what it should be," Mr. Baker says. "We must have a body of trained men large enough in numbers to be an effective working model upon which great armies can be swiftly built in event of emergency.

"A justice loving people may be forced by tragic necessity to resort to war, but it has no right to ask its sons to fight its battles outarmed and outshielded by an adversary."

In studying the lessons of the world war the war department had proceeded on the accepted theory that the infantry remained the backbone of the army, the report said, although the importance of other arms of the service had been greatly increased by the swift developments of war.

"Profound and fundamental changes in armament were introduced and many of the instrumentalities devised are apparently only at the beginning of their development," said the war secretary. "The infantry itself is no longer the foot-soldier armed with the musket, but the foot-soldier with the long-range, high-power repeating rifle, the automatic rifle and the machine gun, which, in some of its uses, is analagous to light artillery. The advance of the infantry is no longer merely covered by protecting artillery fire but the path of the advance must be cleared of obstructions and its position, once attained, must be protected by artillery of great power and extreme mobility."

National Guard and Regulars.

Mr. Baker makes no comment on universal military training, a plan rejected by congress in enacting the new army reorganization bill, but in reviewing the provisions of the new military law, he says that one of the most important features of the legislation is the provision for a "constant and systematic relationship between the national guard and the regular army.

This provision, Mr. Baker declares, will do much to "prevent antagonisms which have in the past been the net unnatural but nevertheless unhappy characteristic of the relationships of the two forces."

"The army is essentially a new army," Mr. Baker continues, "not merely another army than that which existed prior to the war, but new in its attitude toward the country and the country's attitude toward it. The extent to which a new era has dawned for the army is shown by recruiting. The difficulty in securing the necessary enlistments for our small pre-war army has in a large part disappeared and although the stimulus of active operations has now entirely disappeared, the total strength of the army November 3, 1920, was 213,057."

Mr. Baker declares that the one-year enlistment period authorized by congress has not justified itself and asserts that "from the point of view of the efficiency of the army one-year enlistment periods are of little value."

War Cost $13,730,300,500.

The report reviews at length the new educational and recreational program established since the war and declares that "the time will come soon when the peace-time army will be throughout an educational institution from which men will graduate better equipped to enter civilian pursuits and with a larger and firmer grasp on citizenship and its responsibilities and privileges."

The total cost of the war through the war department is placed by the secretary at about $13,730,300,500, and it is stated that in the liquidation of claims and contracts the department saved the government 87 per cent of the outstanding obligations at the end of the war.

Discussing the disposal of surplus war stocks Secretary Baker recommends that in the future the department's plans keep in mind an effort to have on hand at the termination of a war supplies of a character, so far as consistent with army needs, that could readily and quickly be absorbed into the country's commerce.

Declaring that he is happy to leave to his successors in the war department the assurance that "in any national emergency they have but to use and direct the limitless capacity and willingness of the American people, which spontaneously offers itself when a crisis comes," Mr. Baker concludes his report with a tribute to the navy and civilian war organizations for cooperation during and after the war, and declares that:

"In equipment, personnel and spirit the army of the United States today is an object of just pride to the country."

U. S. TROOPS ON GUARD IN COAL STRIKE REGION

Williamson, W. Va., November 28. A provisional battalion of approximately 500 men of the United States army camp at Chillicothe, Ohio, arrived here today at noon for duty in the coal district. Colonel Herman Hall, commanding, immediately took up his headquarters at the county courthouse and armed guards were placed around the building.

Officers in charge of the troops will be billeted in the courthouse and the enlisted men are being quartered in the city hall and an old hotel which was recently turned into a hospital. Detachments of soldiers have already been sent to Kermit, Borderland and Matewan for guard duty. No disorders have been reported since the arrival of the troops.

MAXIMUM OUTPUT IN MINIMUM TIME AT MAXIMUM PAY

Paris, November 28.—The nationalist syndicalist congress, claiming a membership of more than 93,000, closed a three days' session today with a resolution reaffirming the policy of "maximum production in minimum time for maximum wages, with a just division between capital and labor, all based on maximum production by new and scientific methods of manufacture with increasingly perfected machinery."

The congress protested against "slavery, in which the general federation of labor is trying to keep the unions," and offered co-operation as a substitute for class war.

Doughty, Accused Of Kidnaping His Employer, Arrested

Windsor, Canada, November 29.—John Doughty voluntarily crossed the Canadian line here Sunday and was served with a warrant for his arrest, charging him with the kidnaping of his employer, Ambrose J. Small, the millionaire theatrical magnate, nearly a year ago.

Doughty was a former secretary to Small, who disappeared the day he received $1,000,000 for part of his Canadian interests. He fled from Canada on the same day Small disappeared, and worked as a laborer in Oregon under an assumed name. Since his apprehension he has consistently denied any connection with the disappearance of Small.

Grilled Sunday by the police, he told the same story of his flight and denied that it had anything to do with his employer's disappearance.

"I fled for reasons of my own," he repeated.

Germany Recognizes La Huerta Government; Diplomats Embarrassed

Mexico City, November 28.—Germany has extended her official recognition of the de la Huerta government of Mexico, placing the diplomats of the other nations in an embarrassing position, as they are awaiting word from their own governments as to whether they should attend the inauguration of President Obregon.

It is unlikely that the German documents will arrive before Obregon's inauguration, but the diplomats nevertheless expect Count von Montgelas, of Germany, to attend in his official capacity. The count has been here for several weeks without presenting his credentials.

EXPLOSION BEGINS MONTEVIDEO STRIKE

Montevideo, November 28.—The general strike which was to have gone into effect last midnight by order of the labor federation apparently did not receive the general support of the labor element. With the exception of the taxicabs, none of the services which function on Sunday was affected today.

The inauguration of the proposed strike came early this morning by a bomb explosion under a tram car. The passengers were terrified, but none was injured. Some firing was heard along the waterfront, but no casualties have been reported. The tram cars today were operating under police guard, while troops patrolled the streets.

New York and New Orleans Limited

High class service to points in Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California. All steel standard and tourist sleepers, library observation car, club car, dining car. Ask for ticket via WEST POINT ROUTE.—(adv.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. Burlington Hotel 350 Rooms and Bath, $2.50, $3, $4 WASHINGTON, D. C. H. T. MILLER, Mgr.

In Atlantic City it's the ALAMAC Plumb on the Boardwalk MACK LATZ CO.

LOUISVILLE AND NASHVILLE RAILROAD

ADDITIONAL TRAIN SERVICE

Effective November 29th, The CHICAGO-JACKSONVILLE SOUTHLAND, TRAIN No. 97 via LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD will arrive ATLANTA (TERMINAL STATION) 10:50 P. M.

Effective, same date, CINCINNATI-JACKSONVILLE SOUTHLAND TRAIN No. 33 will arrive ATLANTA (TERMINAL STATION) 11:00 P. M.

Effective, December 1st, JACKSONVILLE-ATLANTA-CHICAGO SOUTHLAND, TRAIN No. 96 will leave ATLANTA (UNION STATION) 7:45 A. M.

Effective, same date, JACKSONVILLE-ATLANTA-CINCINNATI SOUTHLAND, TRAIN No. 32 will leave ATLANTA (UNION STATION) 7:55 A. M.

LOUISVILLE-INDIANAPOLIS service in both directions, handled on CHICAGO SOUTHLAND TRAINS No. 96 and No. 97.

Russ General Hissed By N. Y. Socialists For Scoring Bolsheviki

New York, November 28.—As a precaution against acts of violence, General C. M. Oberoutcheff, commander of the Kiev military district during the Kerensky regime, was escorted by police from a socialist meeting in the Bronx tonight after he had denounced soviet rule in Russia.

He was hissed and booed when he said he was opposed to the bolsheviats "because they created a red terror trying to rule the people of Russia against their will."

General Oberoutcheff, with Norman Hapgood and Dr. J. W. Hartman, who was editor of Soviet Russia, were principals in a "symposium" on the merits of sovietism.

In the excitement attending his departure from the meeting General Oberoutcheff said he lost a watch presented to him early in his military career by the late Czar Nicholas.

EGYPT WILL STUDY DROP IN COTTON PRICE

Cairo, Egypt, November 28.—The government has appointed a commission consisting of three Egyptians and three British subjects to study the economic effects on Egypt of the world-wide fall in the price of cotton and possible measures for alleviation.

Killed by Gas.

Tampa, Fla., November 28.—J. H. Carder, of Claremore, Okla., was found asphyxiated here today. A note asked that W. H. Bassman, Claremore, be notified. Carder had been undergoing treatment for a chronic illness.

HAAS & HOWELL

"Service Beyond the Contract"

HAAS & HOWELL

Founded 1891 by Aaron Haas

INSURANCE

Surety Bonds

Mortgage Loans

CANDLER BUILDING

CORTEZ CIGAR CO

Cortez CIGARS

for MEN OF BRAINS

KEY WEST

Get a fresh start

If you're in the wrong job—start fresh.

Learn how to do what you wish you knew how to do.

Get that second chance you've been looking for!

Learn to be an expert at a "technical" job—with the better pay that comes to a skilled man.

What if you haven't had the schooling necessary? The Army school will teach you almost anything from grammar school studies to one of a hundred trades.

You earn a good living while you're learning.

Get out of the old rut into new pleasant surroundings.

You make new friends and find new opportunities.

THE US ARMY TEACHES TRADES

Society

Grist—McClure.

Lenoir, N. C., November 28.—(Special.)—The home of Mrs. Mary W. Grist was the scene of a quiet wedding last Wednesday afternoon, when her daughter, Mary Helen, became the bride of Mr. Samuel J. McClure, the Rev. T. R. Welch, of the First Methodist church, performing the ceremony. No cards were issued.

The bride for the past two years has been a Red Cross nurse in the army nursing corps, during which time she was stationed at Camp Devon, Mass., Debarkation Hospital No. 3, New York city, Oteen, N. C., Camp Gordon, Ga., and Camp Jackson, S. C. She is a graduate of the city hospital training school for nurses, Augusta, Ga.

The groom was formerly a first lieutenant of infantry in the army and recently commander of military police at Camp Gordon, attached to the Fifth division. During the world war Lieutenant McClure saw twenty-two months service overseas. He is a native of Blamtown, Ky.

Following the ceremony the young couple left by automobile for a few days among the mountains of western North Carolina. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Birmingham, Ala., where the groom will locate and enter the business world.

Mrs. Frank L. Stanton Entetains for Miss Andrews.

Mrs. Frank L. Stanton entertained for Miss Mary Cobb Andrews and her attendants with a buffet supper Sunday from 6 to 8 o'clock at her home in Highland avenue, about thirty guests were invited to meet Miss Andrews and Mr. Olin Newell, whose marriage occurs December 1. Mrs. Percy Allen Megahee and Mrs. Ruth Kramer received with Mrs. Stanton.

Guard Against Flu and Pneumonia Now

If your lungs are in a weak, run-down condition, you should use every precaution against pneumonia and the flu this winter. Either invariably proves fatal when contracted by people with weak lungs. Lung-A-Tone, the greatest lung disinfectant and tissue-builder known, is compounded from the best roots and herbs and prevents coughs, colds, bronchitis, influenza and pneumonia. Get a bottle from your druggist today—it may be the means of saving your life this winter—60c and $1 sizes. Made by Maladine Laboratories, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

PICTURE FRAMING
Albums, Kodaks and Finishing Georgia Art Supply Co.
MANUFACTURERS — JOBBERS
RETAILERS
Phone Main 4495
65 S. Broad Street

Three Eminent Lecturers To Speak at Agnes Scott

Through its Public Lecture association Agnes Scott college has arranged to bring to Atlanta this winter three lecturers of national fame, two in the field of literature and one in the world of art.

The three speakers are William E. Dodd, professor of American history at the University of Chicago; Lorado Taft, eminent sculptor and art critic, and Harriet Monroe, editor of "Poetry." Mr. Dodd will lecture in December; Mr. Taft will lecture in February and Miss Monroe the last of February or the first of March. All lectures will be in the auditorium at Agnes Scott.

Mr. Dodd is known as one of the foremost historians in America today and ranks at the top with a group of other southerners who have faithfully and truthfully recorded the south's place in American annals. He is author of a number of literary works, among them being his "Life of Jefferson Davis," "Statesman of the Old South," "Expansion and Conflict," and "Woodrow Wilson and His Work."

He will lecture three times as follows: At 10 o'clock Friday morning, December 3, "Wilson and the Awakening of 1912," at 8 o'clock Friday night, "Wilson and the World." Saturday night at 8 o'clock, "The Greater Apostasy."

Mr. Taft, the second lecturer in the series, is widely famous, not only in this country, but in Europe. Some notable examples of his production are beautiful bronzes in Chicago and his work done on the world's fair buildings. Miss Monroe, third lecturer on the course, has attained remarkable distinction as a poet, critic and editor.

Season tickets to the lectures may be obtained at Agnes Scott college at the price of $2.

His Friend and His Wife

By COSMO HAMILTON.

(Continued From Yesterday.)

And then, suddenly remembering that Mrs. Hicks had come to speak to her confidentially, Mrs. Peterson turned politely. "Shall we go in, Mrs. Hicks?" she asked. "I can give you a few moments before lunch."

But Mrs. Hicks felt the need of dealing herself a new hand. The cards that she held had failed to win her any tricks. She was unable to call the girl's bluff. "It's really nothing," she said. "Some other time will do. It's later than I thought and I must be getting along. I'm lunching with Nina Hopper. Good-by and so many congratulations." She smiled upon everybody and stumped away, smarting under her defeat and determined to come back as soon as possible with all the aces and all the kings and the knave which was her constant companion. The girl was a liar then, as well as a light woman. Phew, she had never seen anything like it. The brassy hussy! What audacity to conceive the possibility of marrying into the Peterson family. Well, she had some very pleasant work cut out to frustrate this scheme.

With a sigh of relief, Mrs. Peterson watched the departing figure passing through the sunlight. Mary's hands relaxed, and the strain of fighting left her for the moment. She knew very well, however, that this was only the first round and that she must resharpen her weapons for a renewed combat. The next and only possible thing to do, if the Blue Bird were to continue to sing in her house, was to play the game by Eric—at once, at once.

With all her strength she willed to be left alone with the man in whose eyes she saw a thousand questions, and she gained her point. Mrs. Peterson asked to be excused for a moment and entered the house. Putting her hand on Eric's arm, into the summer house which dominated the rock garden, and there she turned upon him.

"Do you love me?" she asked.

"You know I do."

"Do you trust me?"

"To the limit."

"Will you make me your wife in spite of the fact that I have just lied like a thief?"

And without a moment's hesitation Eric's answer came. "I love you. I've told you so."

"Then listen to this. There are two Mary Millers and I am both of them. I am the Mary Miller that you know and I am the Mary Miller that Mrs. Hicks has heard about, and both of them have never done anything of which you need be ashamed. Will you take my word for that? Will you help me to beat this woman away, and when you know the facts, as you must know them, will you be my champion with your mother and father; will you let me have my chance to prove to them and to you that I have managed to scramble out of the struggle to live with clean hands?"

Her voice broke, but she stood with her chin high and the sun on her fair hair and the spirit of her pluck like a little halo round her head.

And Eric faced her for a moment and looked deep into her eyes. And then he put his arms round her and drew her tenderly all against his heart.

The gong sounded. "Come to lunch," he said, "and let Mrs. Hicks go back to the devil. It's you and me against the world, old thing. I know the two magic words that are to turn the footling Eric Peterson into the proper son of his father, and so do you and so shall everybody. They're Mary Miller."

(Continued Tomorrow.)

S. A. L. SURGEONS MEET WEDNESDAY IN SAVANNAH, GA.

The seventeenth annual session of the Association of Seaboard Air Line Surgeons will be held at the DeSoto hotel in Savannah December 1-2, according to news received Sunday.

Addresses of Welcome from Hon. M. M. Stewart, mayor of Savannah, and Dr. Craig Barrow, chief surgeon of the Central of Georgia, will feature the opening session on Wednesday. Various phases of the surgical profession will be discussed in papers from some of the leading surgeons of the south, and continued in open discussions throughout the meeting. At the Thursday afternoon session business matters will be taken up, and the election and installation of officers will take place.

The visitors will be entertained with a boat ride on the river and a sightseeing trip over the city. On Wednesday evening there will be a banquet at the DeSoto hotel.

MASONS HAVE BANQUET AT FALL CONVOCATION

The fall convocation of Jason Burr Council No. 13, of Masons, was held Saturday night in the Masonic temple. Dr. H. S. Colding, of Savannah, grand master of the grand council of Georgia, made a short talk. A number of past illustrious masters were present. One hundred and forty-two candidates received all the degrees of the council. Following the convocation a banquet was enjoyed. Nearly 500 persons were present.

Among those attending were Dr. John Z. Lawshe, the oldest living past illustrious master, and Ira M. Swartz, who was illustrious master of the council when he left Atlanta 29 years ago to take up his residence in the state of Washington, and who is visiting here for the winter.

Other past illustrious masters present were R. S. Richardson, tax collector-elect of Fulton county; W. A. Sims, who is also past grand illustrious master of the grand council, and F. A. Johnson, W. H. McCutchins, Curtis Buford and others.

ATHENS GREEK DEFENDS KING CONSTANTINE

Athens, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—James Fotou, a prominent local Greek, has made a reply to a recent printed statement by S. J. Georgiades, president of the Atlanta Venizelos club in which he states most emphatically that the prime issue now facing the Greeks in America is not whether they are royalists or Venizeloists, but whether or not they are really taking advantage of the things which American democracy offers to them.

"Mr. Georgiades must not think of my being a royalist, as he has charged me, but think of me as an American citizen. Therefore I can not help either one of the ruling factions in Greece."

Charging that Venizelos did not enter the war until he was certain of the backing of America, Mr. Fotou states that Constantine was right in staying out of the struggle when he did. He states further that the people of Greece are not ready for democracy yet, and that it is the duty of all Greeks in this country who are not citizens and who can do so to go back and help in educating the people to this end.

SAFE OF AUCTION COMPANY ROBBED; $2,000 IS SECURED

The safe of the Jacobs Auction company, 43 Decatur street, was opened Saturday night by crackesmen and approximately $2,000 stolen.

Officers, who found the rear door of the store open Sunday morning, became suspicious and investigated. It at first appeared as if nothing had been missing, but when the proprietor was summoned, it was found that the safe had been robbed of about $2,000.

MANY CRIMINAL CASES WILL BE TRIED TODAY

The United States district court will convene at 10 o'clock this morning for the trial of a number of criminal cases, with Judge Samuel H. Sibley presiding. The government will be represented by W. Paul Carpenter, assistant United States district attorney. The large number of cases, consisting mostly of whisky violations, will consume practically the entire week.

Claude C. Monroe, Rufus Kight, Ivy W. West and C. C. Thomas, all alleged to have been implicated in the robbery of a mail pouch on a northbound Southern railway train on September 9 between Gainesville and Cornelia, will go on trial at this session.

Automobile Is Stolen.

A five-passenger Chalmers automobile owned by D. B. Osborn, 811 Piedmont avenue, was stolen Sunday night from Piedmont avenue, between Fifth and Sixth streets. A report was made to the police, and an investigation started.

THE CANDY BOX

Marshmallow Cherry Chocolates

INGREDIENTS

1 boxful of marshmallows
1 large bar of milk chocolate
½ cupful candied cherries.

FORMULA

Stir the cherries into a small quantity of sugar syrup. Cut a hole in each marshmallow and insert a cherry. Dip the marshmallow into the melted chocolate, which must not be overheated.

AUTOPSY SHOWS HEAD OF CHILD CRUSHED BY BLOW

Hazlehurst, Ga., November 28.—An autopsy performed on a six-weeks-old daughter of Mrs. Maude Stanley, who died Saturday, discloses the fact that the child's head had been crushed by a blow just above the neck, according to Coroner J. K. Davis. The coroner's jury will continue its investigation Monday. No arrest has been made.

According to county officials the mother stated that she left the infant apparently asleep and was gone from the room only ten minutes.

When she returned the child was dead.

County officials also stated that the mother expected to obtain a divorce the coming week and had planned to marry John Gilbreath. It was Gilbreath, they state, who applied for a burial permit for the infant.

GEORGIA BOYS WIN FIRST PRIZE IN STOCK JUDGING

Barnesville, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—Professor T. O. Galloway, principal of the Sixth District A. & M. school here, received a telegram Saturday morning from Chicago informing him that Georgia had won first place in the non-collegiate stock judging contest at the International Live Stock show, winning over Michigan, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois and several other states. On the individual score R. O. Alford, of the Sixth District school, won third place, and Boyce Breedlove, of the Fifth District, won seventh place.

This is regarded as a great victory for Georgia and shows what the district agricultural schools are doing. The team which went to Chicago, under the chaperonage of Professor sheffer, of the State Agricultural college, was composed of the winners in stock judging at the recent Macon fair.

HOLD EDUCATIONAL RALLY AT BARNESVILLE

Barnesville, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—An educational conference was held here yesterday at the Sixth District A. & M. school by the principals and vocational agricultural instructors of the district A. & M. schools of Georgia. The meeting was well attended and is said to have been one of the best ever held.

Paul W. Chapman, state supervisor of vocational agricultural education of Georgia, was in charge of the splendid program.

One of the most appreciated features of the session was the presence and address of Layton S. Hawkins, of Washington, D. C., director of vocational education in the United States. He proved to be a great inspiration to all present.

WINBURN WILL RESIGN AT MEETING MONDAY

Women Teachers Will Ask for Same Pay Male Instructors Receive.

The Atlanta board of education will hold a special meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock at which Fred E. Winburn, representatives from the fifth district and president of the body, will submit his resignation to become effective immediately. Another important matter expected to come before the board is a petition fro mthe high school teachers for an increase of salary.

Two candidates have announced to succeed Mr. Winburn, and the winner will be decided in the general city election, which will be held next Wednesday. They are William L. McCalley, Jr., and W. Garland Cooper. Mr. McCalley lives in the seventh ward and Mr. Cooper is a resident of the tenth ward. These two wards comprise the fifth district, in which a strong fight will be waged. City-wide interest is also being aroused over the election, all voters having a voice in the election.

Equalization will be stressed in the petition which the high school teachers will present to the board. The scale of pay in the high schools is lower for women in all positions except that of principal, which the petition will maintain is an injustice and will ask that the salaries of men and women instructors be equalized.

TAXICAB DRIVER ROBBED OF MONEY AND AUTOMOBILE

Luther T. Wellborn, aged 25, of 57 East Ellis street, a taxicab driver for the Brown Taxi company, was beaten and robbed of between $40 and $50 and his automobile, a Cole 8, by two men in civilian clothes while he was driving them from Fort McPherson to Lakewood last night. The robbery occurred in the vicinity of Lakewood. Wellborn was afterward carried to Grady hospital.

While Wellborn was driving upgrade near Lakewood one of the men struck him upon the head with a blackjack, he says. They then stopped the car and carried him a short distance into some woods beside the road and tied him to a tree.

He regained his senses while they were carrying him into the woods, however, and, believing that they were about to leave him in the woods, got hold of his pocketknife, which he held in the palm of his hand while they searched his clothing, and took his money.

After the men had gone, he managed to cut the ropes which bound him to the tree, and afterward make his way to a nearby house, from which he telephoned some friends in Atlanta, informing them of his plight. They communicated with the county police, who at once rushed to the scene.

Wellborn was taken to Grady hospital in an automobile by friends, and after the wounds in his head had been bound up, he left the hospital.

PRETTY PAGEANT GIVEN AT NORTH AVENUE CHURCH

In the place of the regular evening service at the North Avenue presbyterian church last night, pupils of the Sunday school classes presented a beautiful pageant, entitled "The Pilgrim and the Book," from the pen of Percy Mackaye, and issued by the American Bible society for presentation in commemoration of the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims on American soil.

The pageant was under the direction of Miss Sarah Adelle Eastlack, of the Philathea class. A large audience, consisting of members of the congregation and visitors, witnessed the performance.

The theme of the pageant is based on the covenant made with God by the Pilgrims. The pageant portrays the important part the Bible has played in American history, and depicts its influence over the life of the individual.

OLYMPIA

Self-Rising Flour

Put to any test OLYMPIA SELF-RISING FLOUR will prove its advantages as a means of convenience, purity and practical economy.

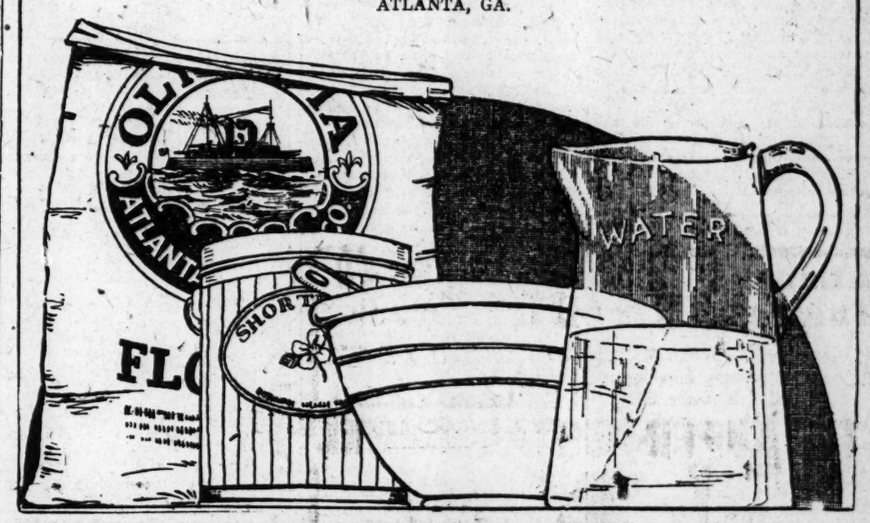
Helps to Solve the H. C. L.

In addition to being absolutely pure and wholesome, the convenience and economy afforded by the use of OLYMPIA SELF-RISING FLOUR is helping many women to reduce their household expense.

No baking powder or salt is needed. Add any white shortening and water, or any kind of milk, to OLYMPIA SELF-RISING FLOUR—mix and bake—and you will have delicious, fluffy biscuit.

Ask Your Grocer Today

ATLANTA MILLING COMPANY
Manufacturers of the Celebrated
Capitola Plain Flour
ATLANTA, GA.



BAILEY BANKS & BIDDLE CO.
JEWELERS SILVERSMITHS STATIONERS
Philadelphia

DIAMONDS

Diamonds and Jewels of Super-Quality may be satisfactorily selected from the Diamond Book—mailed upon request

CHRISTMAS and WEDDING GIFTS

Jewelry; Silver; China, Crystal, Watches, Clocks of exclusive design and quality, illustrated in the Gift Book which will be mailed upon request for use in connection with visiting card plates now ready - Samples upon request.

PERSONAL CHRISTMAS CARDS

Always Ahead!
The Captive Cap puts a new head on

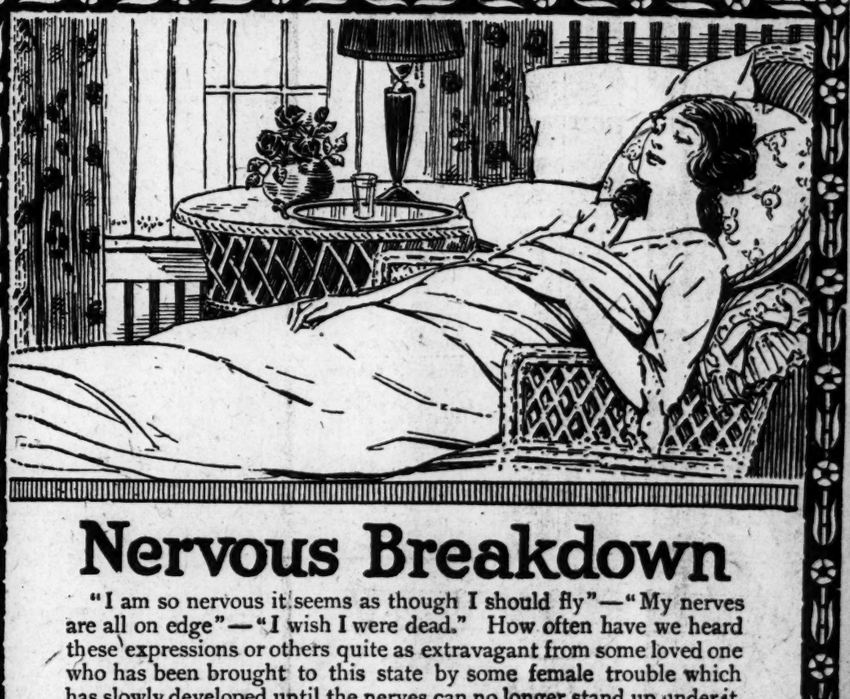
THE new Captive Cap has attached itself to the public as firmly as to the Kolynos tube.

It is one of those provokingly simple things which nobody thought about before!

The additional demand created by this new invention has strained our facilities of production—but there will be no shortage.

THE KOLYNOS CO.
New Haven, Conn. U. S. A.

KOLYNOS
DENTAL CREAM



Nervous Breakdown

"I am so nervous it seems as though I should fly"—"My nerves are all on edge"—"I wish I were dead." How often have we heard these expressions or others quite as extravagant from some loved one who has been brought to this state by some female trouble which has slowly developed until the nerves can no longer stand up under it. No woman should allow herself to drift into this condition without giving that good old-fashioned root and herb remedy Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

Read the Letters of These Two Women.

North East, Md.—"I was in ill health four or five years and doctored with one doctor after another but none helped me. I was irregular and had such terrible pain in my back, lower part of my body and down each side that I had to go to bed three or four days every month I was very nervous, tired, could not sleep and could not eat without getting sick. A friend asked me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I am sorry I did not take it sooner for it has helped me wonderfully. I don't have to go to bed with the pain, can eat without being sick and have more strength. I recommend your medicine and you are at liberty to publish my testimonial."—ELIZABETH WEAVER, R. R. 2, North East, Md.

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was run down and nervous, could not rest at night and was more tired in the morning than when I went to bed. I have two children, the youngest three months old and it was drudgery to care for them as I felt so irritable and generally worn out. From lack of rest and appetite my baby did not get enough nourishment from my milk so I started to give him two bottle feedings a day. After taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman, full of life and energy. It is a pleasure to care for my children, and I am very happy with them and feel fine. I nurse my baby exclusively again, and can't say too much for your medicine."—Mrs. A. L. MILLER, 2633 E. 24th St., Minneapolis, Minn.

Nervous, Ailing Women Should Rely Upon

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., LYNN, MASS.

ALAGA SYRUP

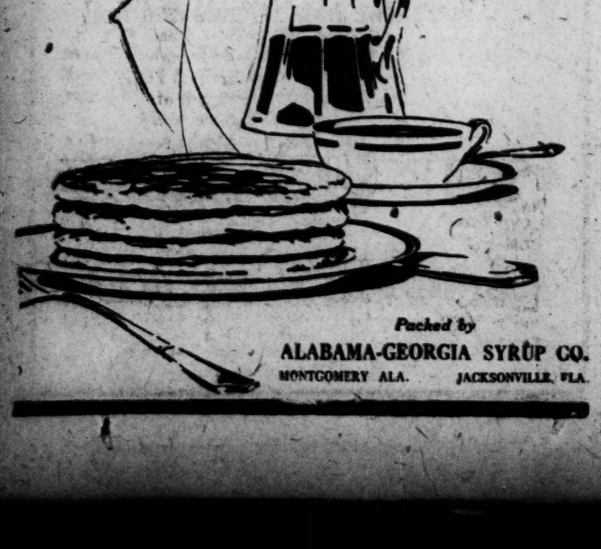
Its wholesome purity and rich cane flavor are made more enjoyable by its great nutritive value.

Made just as it always has been,—the standard of excellence wherever known.

The Quality Syrup



Packed by
ALABAMA-GEORGIA SYRUP CO.
MONTGOMERY ALA. JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Amusement Directory

THEATERS MOVIES

Atlanta Theater, All Week (Matinees, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday)—Alexander, "The Man Who Knows."

Lyric Theater (Keith Vaudeville)—See advertisement for program.

Loew's Grand Theater (Pictures and Vaudeville)—See advertisement for program.

"The Rainbow Girl."

(Coming to Atlanta Theater.)

"The Rainbow Girl," best of all musical comedies, will begin a week's engagement at the Atlanta theater Monday evening, December 6. This will be the second time this entertainment has been to Atlanta, and the present visit should prove to be as successful and joyous as the first. Last season it was pronounced the triumph of the local theatrical season, and since it is authoritatively affirmed that its high quality has been maintained, its record of last spring will undoubtedly be repeated next week. The piece contains some twenty musical numbers by the polific Louis A. Hirsch, composer of this season's big success, "Mary." Its plot is founded on a Jerome comedy, the musical adaptation being by Rennold Wolf. There is a large chorus and the many beautiful musical numbers will be played by an augmented orchestra, under the direction of Fred Solomon.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

M. Teuber is the only producer of optic chemical stage effects. His process not only opens up a new field of scenic art and illusion, but gives to vaudeville a novelty of the first water called "Beginning of the World," which is featured on the bill at Keith's Lyric the first half of this week. It is described as a travesty play performed by living colors and featuring Mlle. Laluce as "The Spirit of Color." Imagine the most beautiful sunset effect that you have ever seen; the red ball of the sun sinking into an opalescent sea, illuminating in ever changing hues the cloud-dotted sky of cerulean blue; then multiply this one hundred fold and you have some conception of the monstrous "Beginning of the World" presented by M. Teuber. Mlle. Laluce, a perfectly shaped and delightfully graceful dancer, does much to enhance the beauty of the act. Four other big acts, headed by Horace Wright and Rene Dietrich, the "somewhat different singers," are on the bill.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

A brilliant musical revue and a powerful motion picture problem play are the high lights on the splendid bill of entertainment that opens the week at Loew's Grand. "The Whirl of Variety," an elaborate blend of melody and dancing, is the headliner attraction behind the footlights, while "Love, Honor and Obey," hailed as "one of the finest dramas of the year," is the drawing card on the film program. A sextet of experts in syncopation present "The Whirl of Variety." Five of this number are gorgeously costumed young women and the entire offering is marked by speed, "pep" and class. Other unusual features of the Grand's bill for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, include George W. Moore, one of the most artful jugglers in vaudeville; Jack and Mary Graham, a popular pair of musical comedy stars in a varied cycle of melody and comedy; Armstrong and Downey, "The Tramp and the Soubrette," and Corelli and Rogers, two entertainers from Italy.

Criterion Theater—All week, Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven in "Twin Beds," and other screen features.

Tudor Theater—All week, Dorothy Phillips in "Once to Every Woman."

Rialto Theater—All week, Charles Ray in "An Old-Fashioned Boy," and other screen features.

Forsyth Theater—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Tom Moore in "Officer 666," and other screen features.

Strand Theater—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Janice Wilson in "The White Circle," and other screen features.

Vaudette Theater—Monday and Tuesday, Wallace Reid in "What's Your Hurry?"

Alamo No. 2—Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Constance Talmadge in "In Search of a Sinner."

Savoy Theater—Monday, Mary Miles Minter in "Nurse Marjorie."

Alpha Theater—Monday, Helen Holmes in "The Broken Circuit."

Plans Complete For Picture Exposition; Many Stars Coming

Plans for the big Southeastern Motion Picture exposition, which is scheduled for Atlanta the week of December 4 to 11, are practically completed, and it is an established fact that it is going to be Atlanta's gala week.

More than fifteen hundred exhibitors from all over the eight southeastern states, as well as any number of film executives from New York and California, are expected here. Eight well-known and established motion picture stars have guaranteed their presence and hotel reservations are being made for them. Another famous star—a feminine star, noted for her elaborate gowns, as much as for her beauty and acting—may be here, although it has not been definitely set, so that no announcement can be made of her name yet, until it is practically certain that she will come.

There will be matinees daily commencing Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock for the children as well as the grown-ups. The feature of these matinees will be the children's impersonations of famous stars—and the judges will be the stars themselves and the entertainment committee. There will be several cash prizes, and, altogether, it's going to be a red-letter day for the kiddies.

There will be balls, special concerts, elaborate booths, and many carnival attractions which will make this one of the most entertaining events ever staged in film circles. Attractive souvenirs will be presented to guests of the exposition and some especially beautiful favors for children.

THEATERS THEATERS

Atlanta Theater TONIGHT And All Week

Ladies' Only Souvenir Matinees Tuesday and Thursday (Special Program) Regular Matinee Saturday.

ANY SEAT $1.00.

THE SUPER-MENTAL MARVEL

THE MAN WHO KNOWS

PRICES: NIGHTS AND SATURDAY, 50c, $1.00, $1.50

Today Tuesday Wednesday

Loew's Grand

Vaudeville 3:30—7:00 9:00

The Syncopated Sensation "The Whirl of Variety" 6— FAMOUS ARTISTS —6 Four Other Loew Hits!

Film Thunderbolt "LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY" Loew-Metro Super-Feature with CLAIRE WHITNEY And All Star Cast

Afternoons 2:30 Lyric KEITH VAUDEVILLE Night 7:30-9:15

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday—EXTRA Special Big Time Bill.

CAITS BROTHERS Tailor-Made Boys And BEATRICE FISK & LLOYD, Songs & Comedy

HOMER RENE WRIGHT & DIETRICH "THE SOMEWHAT DIFFERENT SINGERS"

GRACE Twins Those Girls With the TITIAN HAIR Topics of the Day Pathe News. Pathe Review

VAUDEVILLE'S PRETTIEST SCENIC NOVELTY "The BEGINNING of the WORLD" M. TEUBER'S COLOR PLAY WITH MLLE. LALUCE AS "THE SPIRIT OF COLOR"

'Chi' Glovemakers Open Their Own Factory Monday

Young Women Workers in Co-operation Scheme Commence Business With $10,000 Capital and Ample Confidence.

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, November 28.—Beginning Monday morning, Chicago glovemakers will go into business for themselves, with a young woman as the guiding spirit.

A co-operative glove factory, owned, operated and managed by members of the craft, will be opened on the Northwest side.

Miss Agnes Nestor, who, in 1918, was a member of the labor mission which visited Great Britain and France, will "run" the business, as chairman of the new factory's board of directors.

"I will make the first glove," she said proudly in an interview Sunday.

She said the workers' experiment in co-operative manufacturing was hastened by the prevalent dullness in the glove business. Large glove plants here have been shut down, manufacturers maintaining that the industry is stagnant. Miss Nestor, however, declared that the manufacturers are taking advantage of dull times to enforce the "open shop."

"We are going to show that business is not bad," Miss Nestor said. "We are going to conduct our business on a small scale at the start—probably a dozen workers. Perhaps three times that number will be given part time employment.

"The factory will be managed by a board of five directors. I will be chairman.

44-Hour Week.

"We will put the 44-hour week into effect. We have other motives than dividends. Those motives include good working conditions for employes and a consideration of the interests of both producer and consumer. But we will not undersell. We will pay reasonable wages. Five per cent of the proceeds will be put in a fund to take care of depreciation in machinery, advertising and business expansion. We will work with co-operative concerns all over the country. We will make gloves for workingmen and already have a market."

"Is this a soviet scheme?" she was asked.

"No; our plan has the approval of the American Federation of Labor."

Miss Nestor said the new factory is capitalized at $10,000. She reminded the interviewer that this was not labor's first venture into the field of capital in America—that her factory might be able to borrow money, if necessary, from the co-operative bank which the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers established recently in Cleveland.

CAR IS DERAILED WHEN IT COLLIDES WITH HEAVY TRUCK

Car No. 97, of the Magnolia-Chestnut street line, was derailed at the southern end of the Forsyth street viaduct about 7:30 o'clock last night when it collided with a heavy truck belonging to the Atlanta Baggage and Cab company. A person not yet identified was injured in the accident, but the extent of the injuries could not be ascertained before he was removed from the scene. Traffic was delayed for several minutes.

Bucking a Heavy Wind, Eddie Rickenbacker Makes a Record Flight

San Francisco, November 28.—Eddie Rickenbacker, American ace, flew from Los Angeles to San Francisco today in three hours and ten minutes, said to be a record for a northward flight over the 341 miles. He bucked a heavy wind all the way and made a forced landing at San Jose for gasoline. A mark of three hours and one minute was set for the southward flight over the straight line distance yesterday by Lieutenant E. C. Batten, an army flier.

POWER IS SEIZED IN MEXICAN STATE BY REBEL FORCES

Mexico City, November 28.—Supporters of General Carlos Green, who recently was deposed as governor of the state of Tabasco, forcibly disarmed the police at Villa Hermosa, the state capitol, and appointed Thomas Garido as governor. The seizure of power was carried out without loss of life.

After an entire new official personnel of Green supporters had been named a letter was directed to the state senate stating that the seizure was in retaliation for General Green's deposition.

General Green was deposed several weeks ago after soldiers, alleged to be acting upon his orders, killed two members of the chamber of deputies and wounded several spectators, while attempting to arrest Deputy Lascan, who had fled into the chamber after shooting an army captain.

General Green is now in Mexico City prison awaiting trial. Aguilar Suarez had been serving as provisional governor since General Green's arrest.

Legal Battle Begun Over Cargo of Sugar Bought at High Price

Baltimore, Md., November 28.—The first skirmish in a legal battle over a 3,100-ton cargo of sugar arriving here today on the steamer Texas Maru, which is being waged by Baltimore wholesale grocers against Lambourne & Co., sugar brokers of New York, was won by local dealers when the New York court issued an injunction last Friday restraining the New York firm from collecting on letters of credit deposited by the dealers to cover payment for shipment.

The Texas Maru today immediately began discharging the sugar, which was contracted for by Baltimore firms last April when sugar was quoted at 22 cents wholesale. Because of the granting of injunction the local parties made no attempt to claim the cargo which at the present price of sugar would entail a loss of nearly $400,000. The sugar will remain in the hands of the customs authorities until the matter is finally adjudicated by the courts.

BANKS TRAILING RYAN'S FORTUNE

Collateral Given by the Young Financier Has Slumped in Value and Banks Fear for Loans.

BY ROBERT J. BENDER.
United News Staff Correspondent.

New York, November 28.—Some of the greatest banking institutions in the country Monday will begin a series of conferences designed to establish the latitude and longitude, as well as the breadth and depth of Allan A. Ryan's personal fortune.

Ryan, a relatively young financier, promoter and son of Thomas Fortune Ryan, one of the leading financiers of New York, has again developed into a Wall street sensation. It was only a few months ago that he startled the financial district by cornering stocks of the Stutz Motor company, was ejected form his seat on the New York stock exchange and entered a siut for a million dollars' damage against the exchange board of directors.

The Ryan story of today is a story of many millions; and it has a direct bearing on the great slump in securities' prices which has marked stock market transactions of recent weeks. It involves motors and oil promotions in which class of promotions millions have been turned over during the last year. But, while vast secrecy has surrounded the latest Ryan sensation, it would appear evident that the course of the great banks was decided upon to protect loans they had made to the financier on collateral which had slumped in vaule during the recent market slide.

Ryan Not Disturbed.

Ryan, himself, has expressed his complete lack of concern over the outlook. In fact, it has been declared with confidence by those in a position to know that Ryan's nominal assets should be between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000, whereas his liabilities are said to be but $16,000,000.

Probably thousands of stockholders will be interested in the outcome of the present situation. Ryan is interested to a controlling degree, it is said, in many promotions, among them the Stutz Motor company, whose stock has sold as high as $710, but which Saturday commanded a bid of only $100 with $200 asked; Stromberg Carburetor, which has been quoted as high as $118, but closed Saturday at $38; Chicago Pneumatic Tube, which reached a high of 111 7-8 during the year, but closed Saturday at $80; Continental Candy, which reached $14.50 during the year, but dropped as low as $5 Saturday; Consolidated Textile, which has reached $46.25 but closed Saturday at $19.75, and Ryan Consolidated Oil, which has touched $40.50, but was quoted at $12.50 Saturday. In addition, Ryan has had large holdings in Bethlehem Steel, Bethlehem Motors and other securities.

Used Liquid Capital.

Whether the properties which Ryan actually controls, have an intrinsic value above present market prices is a question that the bankers, in their meetings beginning Monday, will seek to determine. Ryan probably will attend these meetings. In the fight over the Stutz corner Ryan was compelled to utilize much of his liquid suqpply of capital to buy up the floating supply of securities, virtually all of which he now controls. Since then the great market slump has been in progress, impairing, for the time being at least, the liquidating value of his securities.

Some speculation has arisen over the reported visit to Washington of Mr. Ryan, in which it was hinted that he was due for a conference with Comptroller of the Currency Williams. While nothing definite could be learned as to Ryan's actual purpose in making this call, and while bankers generally were wary of giving any opinioin as to its significance, it will be recalled that the comptroller recently published a criticism of New York banking methods which gained wide publicity.

Visit to Comptroller.

The comptroller charged, in effect, that by getting together to fix the daily interest rate on call loans, a certain group of bankers were not only able to control the money market, but that they could and did exact exorbitant interest from borrowers.

Ryan's visit to Williams, therefore, is looked upon as possibly having some bearing on the comptroller's campaign to end this alleged system of combining to regulate loans.

CORPORATIONS URGED TO AID FOREIGN TRADE

Chicago, November 28.—The formation of corporations under the Edge law to finance the development of foreign trade was advocated by the board of governors of the Farm Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, which today concluded its meeting here. The board also went on record as favoring revival of the War Finance corporation and advocated the passage of short-time credit bills by congress.

MINES AND SMELTER CLOSED IN MEXICO

Bisbee, Ariz., November 28.—The mines and smelter of the Cananea Consolidated Copper company, at Cananea, Sonora, Mexico, forty miles south of here, will be closed on December 15, according to notice at the company's office in Cananea today.

The Cananea Consolidated is the largest American-owned copper company operating in Sonora and employs at present approximately 1,000 men, most of them Mexicans.

Demands made by labor, which the company has decided cannot be met without a heavy loss, high taxes imposed by the Mexican government, and the present dullness of the copper market were reported as causes of the closing of operations.

Mexican employees, according to reports from Cananea, are preparing to protest to Adolfo de la Huerta, provisional president of Mexico, in an effort to have the government compel the company to continue operations.

:: The Latest Market News ::

Climax of Depression Thought to Be Past

BY WALTER B. BROWN.
Editor The New York Commercial. Written For the United Press.

New York, November 28.—While the action of the stock market during the week would seem to give color to the theory that the end of the decline has been reached or at least is in sight, the most important development is the steadily growing belief that the climax of the depression has been passed and that the beginning of the recovery has set in. Usually Wall street discounts anything of this kind in advance and if the upturn which made a brave effort to get under way last week makes further progress during the coming week it will begin to look as if Wall street itself is taking bankruptcy. If one fact is borne steadily in mind the present situation will not be considered as a forerunner of general disaster; that is that the deflation now underway is something that was earnestly hoped for a few months ago. Last spring and early summer, there was a great deal of talk of panic based on the belief that the inflation could not last and that there would have to be a day of reckoning sooner or later unless deflation set in. Now that this deflation has come about and is proceeding in an orderly fashion, there should be no more talk of panic for it is hardly logical to predicate a panic upon both inflation and deflation.

Problems of Labor.

The trouble has been that those who have advocated deflation have desired that it should affect everybody, but themselves. One of the best indications of this is given in the program of the labor leaders who are advocating a country in the study of economics for working people and a closer understanding and discussion of mutual problems by the workers and employers, but who include as a part of their program that wages must be maintained upon their present basis. Labor will not have to delve very far into economics to discover that wages form a very large if not largest element in the cost of production, and that already costs in many instances are prohibitive. The wheat farmers are assuming a similar attitude in their refusal to sell wheat until it gets back to the old price. A little study of economics would soon convince them of the fallacy of this attitude.

Wheat is a world proposition and the price cannot be controlled by any group of farmers in Kansas or North Dakota any more than a group of speculators in Chicago. The most that can happen in any case is a temporary disturbance of values. As long as there is a surplus in the United States, which there always is, the price will be made in accordance with world conditions. As long as this country remains out of the world market it will make it so much easier for Canada to dispose of her supplies, and the first thing we know the edge will be taken off the foreign demand and American farmers will have more wheat on their hands than the country can consume. Even if the withholding of supplies should force prices back to their previous level, they would not stay there long enough for the farmers to sell their crops, for with the avalanche of offerings that would follow prices would immediately drop until the natural relationship between supply and demand had again been established.

Cotton Problems Different.

The case of the cotton farmers is different. Cotton has declined almost 65 per cent from the high point, which is considered altogether too much. Unless there is a reaction, there can be no doubt but that the south will suffer enormously. This has been the most expensive crop to make that as ever been known and present prices do not cover one-half the cost of production. The cotton farmers have been besieging Washington in an attempt to secure relief through government aid of exports, but have received little sympathy on the theory that they should stand their share of the burden of deflation along with all the rest of the country. Now, however, the situation has become so serious that unless relief measures are adopted bankruptcy will become prevalent not only among the farmers, but upon business houses drawing their support from the farming communities. It all depends upon whether the farmers can stand the strain long enough for the market to recover, for a comparison of world needs with the world supply shows the latter to be insufficient. If in some way credits can be arranged so that the south can ship its cotton, matters will right themselves. In fact if only the domestic demand will get back to normal, a good part of the loss will be overcome. The present drop is due, not only to the fact that Europe is not buying, but also to the fact that America herself has quit the market.

Money, being a commodity, must also undergo deflation. The supply of money is increasing so that call money rates have been down as low as 4½ per cent on the lowest price in the year. Stock exchange loans have decreased fully 50 per cent and time money also shows an easier tendency. Commercial paper still commands high rates, but the impression is that it will not continue to do so much longer.

Cotton Market Gossip

New Orleans, November 28.—After making substantial advances during the early part of last week the cotton market felt heavy selling pressure during th elast two sessions and all months were sent to new low levels for the season, January trading as low as 13.85 and July as low as 14.11.

Weakness in the spot markets of the interior was one of the main reasons for the decline, although there was also selling on the continued unsatisfactory state of trade in general, small mill takings and reports from England that spinners were balloting on the question of curtailment of 50 per cent in spindles working on the American cotton. The advances of the early part of the week were mainly due to the easier money market in this country, the fall of call money in New York to 4 1-2 per cent after hours Monday being considered one of most important events for cotton in many weeks.

At the highest of the week prices were 82 to 94 points over the closing quotations of the preceding week; at the lowest it was 73 to 142 points under. The range of prices was 165 to 225 points. Closing quotations showed net losses of 59 to 123 points. January closed at 14.04, after having traded as high as 16.10. In the spot department middling lost 125 points and closed at 15.00. A notable development at the end of the week was the disposition of the distant months to go to the premium that is normal over the near months.

This week the spot market will be watched closely, for on next developments there much will hang. Further easiness is bound to cause still further selling of contracts, but the first signs of a real demand or evidence that interior holdings have been withdrawn from the market would give the contract department a much better tone and would probably result in widespread covering of the short interest.

Tuesday will end the sixth ginning period of the season and more than ordinary interest will be taken in the figures on it because of the heavy ginning of late for which there are two explanations, one being that this is a large crop and the other that cotton stored in the seed was freely sent to the gins during the fifth period.

Interest in ginning has increased also because of the announcement by the department of agriculture that its annual estimate of the crop will be issued on the 13th of December. The report on the sixth ginning period will be issued December 8, so that it will be the final ginning report before the government's estimate is published and will be used as the basis of forecasts of the estimate.

LOCAL MARKETS

ATLANTA LIVE STOCK MARKET.

Corrected by W. H. White, Jr., President White Provision Company.

Good to choice steers, 850-1,000 pounds, $8.00@8.50.
Good steers, 750 to 850 pounds, $7.00@7.50.
Medium to good steers, 750 to 850 pounds, $6.50@7.00.
Good to choice beef cows, 750 to 850 pounds, $5.50@6.50.
Medium to good cows, 650 to 750 pounds, $5.00@5.50.
Good to choice heifers, 550 to 650 pounds, $5.00@5.50.
The above represents ruling prices on good quality fed cattle. Inferior grades and dairy types quoted below.
Medium to good steers, 700 to 800 pounds, $6.00@6.50.
Medium to good cows, 600 to 700 pounds, $4.00@4.75.
Mixed common cattle, $2.75@3.50.
Good butchers bulls, $5.50@6.00.
Choice veal calves, $5.00@6.00.
Yearlings, $3.00@3.50.
Prime hogs, 165 to 250 pounds, $8.25@8.50.
Light hogs, 135 to 165 pounds, $7.50@7.75
Heavy pigs, 100 to 130 pounds, $7.00@7.25.
Light pigs, 80 to 100 pounds, $6.50@6.75.
The above applies to good quality mixed fed hogs.

ATLANTA PRODUCE MARKET.

(Prices quoted by wholesalers to retailers. Corrections daily by State Bureau of Markets, State Capitol, Atlanta.)

Eggs, fresh candled, per dozen	$ 0.75
Hens, live, per pound	.20
Friers, live, per pound	.33
Stags	.20
Roosters, live, per pound	.15
Ducks, live, per pound	.25
Turkeys, live, per pound	.35
Butter, choice table, per pound	.50
Butter, cooking, per pound	.30
Butter, creamery, quarters	.61
Cheese, full cream	.30
Groceries.
Corn meal, 96s	$ 2.75
Flour, 24s, per bbl.	11.20
Flour, 48s, per bbl.	10.90
Flour, self-rising	add .25
Sugar, granulated	.10
Vegetables.
Cabbage, per cwt.	$ 2.50
Sweet potatoes, new, per cwt.	2.00
Irish potatoes, 150-lb. sacks	4.50
Onions, per cwt.	2.75
Snap beans, hampers	4.00
Oranges, Florida, crate	4.50
Grapefruit, Florida, crate	3.50
Feedstuffs.
Mixed stock feed, per ton	$55@ 60.00
Oats, No. 3, per bushel	.78
Corn, No. 2, per bushel	1.20
Hay, No. 1 timothy, per ton	44.00
Hay, No. 1 alfalfa, per ton	45.00
Hay, No. 2 alfalfa, per ton	40.00
Shorts, gray, per ton	55.00
Bran, per ton	54.00
Chicken feed, sacked, per cwt.	$3.10@ 3.60
Alfalfa meal, per ton	50.00
Cotton seed meal, 7 pct., per ton	45.00
Cotton seed hulls, per ton	20.00

ATLANTA PROVISION MARKET.

(Corrected by the White Provision Co.)

Cornfield hams, 10-12	34
Cornfield hams, 12-14	34
Cornfield skinned hams, 16-18	37
Cornfield picnic hams, 6-8	28
Cornfield breakfast bacon, wide or narrow	44
Cornfield sliced bacon, 1-lb. cartons, 12 to case	55
Grocers bacon, wide or narrow	32
Cornfield pork sausage, fresh link or bulk	22
Cornfield wieners, 10-lb. cartons	22
Bologna sausage in 25-lb. boxes	20
Cornfield smoked link, 25-lb. boxes	18
Grandmother's lard, tierce basis	26
Country style lard, tierce basis	24
Compound lard, tierce basis	15½
U. S. extra ribs	21
U. S. bellies, light average	22
U. S. bellies, medium average	22

SWIFT & CO.

	No. 1.	No. 2.	No. 3.
Ribs	28	22	18
Loins	40	32	28
Rounds	26	22	18
Chucks	15	10	8
Plates	15	10	10

QUOTATIONS LOCAL STOCKS AND BONDS

	Bid.	Asked.
Atlanta National Bank	325	....
Atlantic Ice and Coal common	86	88
do. pfd.	74	76
Atlanta & West Point R. R.	130	135
Atlantic Steel common	93	95
do. pfd.	90	98
Augusta & Savannah R. R.	80	82
Bibb Mfg. Co. (Macon)	200	....
Central Bank & Trust Corp.	170	175
Exposition Cotton Mills	....	600
Shorts, brown, per ton	....	58.00
Eagle & Phoenix Cotton Mills	225	235
Empire Cotton Oil common	85	88
do. pfd.	84	87
Fulton National Bank	140	145
Fourth National Bank	297	300
Ga. Ry. & Elec. 5s, pfd.	68	70
do. 8s, stock	100	101
Ga. Ry. & Power common	12	14
do. 2d pfd.	14	18
do. 1st pfd.	76	81
Ga. R. R. & Banking Co.	215	220
Hillside Cotton Mills	290	....
Lowry National Bank	245	250
Milstead Mfg. Co.	420	430
Southwestern R. R.	82	86
Securities Sales Co.	....	100
Trust Co. of Ga.	....	360
Bonds.
Atlantic Ice & Coal Corp. 6s	89	90
Atlantic Steel 6s	93	95
Central R. R. & Banking Co. 5s	78	82
do. 4s	70	75

Gigantic Battleships Under Construction For the American Navy

Quincy, Mass., November 28.—The keel of the superdreadnaught Massachusetts will be laid soon after New Year's day, it was announced tonight at the Fore River plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd. The Massachusetts will be larger than any vessel now in the United States navy. Of 660 feet length over all and 106 feet beam, her displacement will be 43,200 tons. She will have electric drive and engines of 60,000 horsepower and her speed is to be 23 knots. The armament will comprise twelve 16-inch guns and a secondary battery of sixteen 6-inch guns.

The keel of the Lexington, a battle cruiser, will be laid soon after that of the Massachusetts. She will have nearly the same beam, but her length over all is to be 880 feet and displacement 43,500 tons. The Lexington's engines of 180,000 horsepower will yield a speed of 35 knots under electric drive. She will mount eight 16-inch guns and sixteen 6-inch guns, and also will have eight torpedo tubes.

Two unnamed scout cruisers with 90,000 horsepower engines and a speed of 35 knots also will be built at Fore River in the coming year. The plant now is working on naval construction that will total approximately $75,000,000

BANK CLEARNGS GIVEN BY CITIES

Bank clearings in the United States for the week ending November 25, reported by telegraph to Bradstreet's Journal, New York, aggregate $6,830,491,000, against $8,624,680,000 week before last and $7,480,388,000 in the same week last year. Canadian clearings aggregate $353,439,000, as against $304,222,000 week before last and $298,646,000 in the same week last year. Following are the returns, with percentages of change shown, compared with the same week last year:

	Nov. 25.	Inc.	Dec.
New York	$3,835,758,000	....	10.6
Chicago	514,418,000	....	2.6
Philadelphia	391,535,000	1.5	....
Boston	289,257,000	....	19.2
Kansas City	161,581,000	....	25.8
St. Louis	122,934,000	15.2	....
San Fran.	128,500,000	....	11.1
Pittsburg	171,547,000	27.6	....
Cleveland	105,456,000	7.1	....
Detroit	90,802,000	2.9	....
Baltimore	77,125,000	6.6	....
ATLANTA	47,758,000	....	34.0
New Orleans	55,197,000	....	26.0
Cincinnati	56,365,000	2.7	....
Richmond	58,887,000	....	33.9
Omaha	44,463,000	....	12.2
Los Angeles	69,893,000	29.9	....
Minneapolis	78,630,000	91.2	....
Seattle	28,906,000	....	21.6
Buffalo	35,142,000	2.3	....
Portland, Ore.	31,471,000	....	1.5
Dallas	44,502,000	9.6	....
Denver	45,164,000	16.1	....
Milwaukee	24,921,000	....	.7
Memphis	18,752,000	....	38.0
xHouston	28,282,000	....	....
St. Paul	15,629,000	....	16.5
Louisville	21,253,000	69.7	....
xFort Worth	20,502,000	....	....
St. Joseph	10,133,000	26.8	....
Nashville	18,281,000	....	11.6
Salt Lake City	16,546,000	....	13.1
Washington, D. C.	15,475,000	....	4.4
Indianapolis	12,758,000	....	11.8
Toledo	11,541,000	1.7	....
Columbus	11,773,000	4.4	....
Oklahoma	26,291,000	69.0	....
Wichita	9,458,000	....	25.3
Providence	9,911,000	....	17.5
Des Moines	7,779,000	....	26.6
xSpokane	15,361,000	....	....
Norfolk	7,368,000	....	32.4
Sioux City	5,743,000	....	34.8
Tulsa	9,179,000	....	2.9
Rochester	8,567,000	4.1	....
Savannah	8,262,000	....	32.2
Akron	7,192,000	....	25.0
Oakland	8,137,000	15.3	....
Hartford	7,537,000	....	.1
Galveston	12,222,000	22.0	....
Total, U. S.	$6,830,491,000	....	8.3
Tot, outside N. Y.	2,994,732,000	....	5.2
Dominion of Canada.
Montreal	$ 137,426,000	....	2.1
Toronto	121,899,000	....	....
Winnipeg	94,472,000	45.6	....
Total	$ 353,439,000	18.4	....

x Last week's.

Bank Transactions.

Following are the debits to individual account at clearing house banks as summarized by federal reserve districts:

Federal Reserve Districts.	(In thousands of dollars.) Nov. 17, 1920.	Nov. 19, 1919.
Boston	$ 504,074	$ 587,035
New York	5,236,714	6,174,690
Philadelphia	449,704	449,053
Cleveland	622,695	549,529
Richmond	194,181	223,047
ATLANTA	237,041	208,236
Chicago	1,175,603	1,207,125
St. Louis	264,073	277,075
Minneapolis	206,208	177,553
Kansas City	333,021	351,607
Dallas	163,257	200,500
San Francisco	604,618	604,749
Total, 152 cities	$9,961,249	$11,101,289

COMMERCIAL FAILURES REPORTED BY R. G. DUN

Commercial failures last week in the United States, as reported by R. G. Dun & Co., are 218, against 263 week before last, 230 in the preceding week, and 87 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada number 25, against 23 week before last, 48 the preceding week, and 20 last year. Of failures last week in the United States 94 were in the east, 37 south, 62 west, and 25 in the Pacific states, and 106 reported liabilities of $5,000 or more, against 142 last week.

SEISMIC SHOCKS FRIGHTEN PEOPLE IN THE NORTHWEST

Portland, Oregon, November 28.—An earthquake felt in various degrees of mildness from here to Spokane, Wash., was experienced early today. At Hood River, Oregon, it was strong enough to awaken sleepers and to cause some alarm to the villagers.

At Spokane it was stated to have been a "pronounced earthquake" of a duration of ten minutes.

LIVING COST LOWEST IN PAST THREE YEARS

Bradstreet's Report Shows Further Declines in Commodities.

Last week's index number, based on the prices per pound of thirty-one articles used for food, is $3.80, which compares with $3.99 week before last and $5.10 for the week ending November 27, 1919. Last week's number shows a loss of 4.7 per cent from week before last and 25.5 per cent from the like week of last year, and it is the lowest level in three years and three months. Of the seventy-six commodities quoted, one advanced as compared with last week, thirty-nine declined and thirty-six remained unchanged.

Jim—Uncle, when a thing is bought it goes to the buyer, doesn't it?

Uncle—Yes.

Jim—Then, how is it, when you buy coal, it goes to the cellar?

Getting Ahead

is the story of Peter Perkins and how he accumulated $10,000 in ten years by saving $25 per month. One of our investors wrote that "Getting Ahead" has made him realize that every dollar he saves he can invest with comparative safety and high yield. Another says it opened up to him the possibility of profitable investment in bonds and stocks. We will gladly send a copy of "Getting Ahead."

KRIEBEL & CO.
INVESTMENT BANKERS
137 South LaSalle St.
CHICAGO

Orders for COTTON, COTTON-SEED OIL & GRAIN solicited.

MOSS & FERGUSON
Members New York Cotton Exchange
No. 1 Wall Street—New York

H. & B. BEER
Established 1873
COTTON, STOCKS, BONDS
Grain, Provisions, Coffee, Sugar and Cottonseed Oil
Private Wires to New York
Chicago and Principal Points
MEMBERS New Orleans Cotton Exchange; New York Cotton Exchange; New York Stock Exchange; New York Produce Exchange; New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, Inc.; Chicago Board of Trade; Associate Members of Liverpool Cotton Association
BRANCH OFFICE 631 Gravier St. Phones Main 6272-6273
MAIN OFFICE 326 Baronne St. Phones Main 6274-6275
NEW ORLEANS

Hubbard Bros. & Co., Cotton Merchants
Hanover Square, New York
Members New York Cotton Exchange, New Orleans Cotton Exchange, New York Produce Exchange; associate members Liverpool Cotton Association. Orders solicited for the purchase and sale of cotton and cotton seed oil for future delivery. Special attention and liberal terms given for consignments of spot cotton for delivery. Correspondence invited.

Midi Railroad Company
(Companie des Chemins de Fer du Midi)
Interest due December 1st, 1920, on the Midi Railroad Co. 6% Bonds will be paid at our office, 36 Wall St., on and after they interim. Made at the option of the holder in francs by check on Paris or in dollars at the current buying rate of exchange.
A. ISELIN & CO.
Thirty-six Wall Street, New York City

NATIONAL BLANK BOOKS & LOOSE LEAF DEVICES

NATIONAL Trade Mark

THERE are few first-class Stationers who do not carry some National Blank Books. A great many dealers carry National products exclusively. You are taking no chances when you buy blank books from a dealer who features Nationals, because back of his personal reliability is the guarantee of the largest blank book factory in the world.

Made at Holyoke, Mass. By NATIONAL BLANK BOOK COMPANY

Promiscuous buying of Account Books results in loss of time, money and office efficiency. As Blank Books are the cornerstones of business, intelligent care should be used in their selection. National Blank Books are uniformly satisfactory.

A set of Dr. & Cr. Posting Slips mailed free from the factory to accountants.

SOLD BY STATIONERS & OFFICE SUPPLY COMPANIES

Baylis Office Equip. Co. Foote & Davies Co. S. P. Richards Co. Fielder & Allen Co. Lester Book & Stn. Co. Wyley Loose Leaf Co. The Hirschberg Co.

Sports — WORLD'S TITLE IS AT STAKE TONIGHT

Edited By Cliff Wheatley

YOU'LL HAVE TO HAND IT TO THE WIFE

By Briggs

Chance of Abel's Whole Career Comes Tonight at Auditorium, When He Fights for the Title

Tonight at the City Auditorium Atlanta will have her first championship boxing bout, with the world's title the prize for the winner. Champions have fought here often in the past, but this is the first time one has agreed to risk his title in a decision bout.

The only stipulations by Britton were that Abel should make the welterweight limit, and that he (Britton) should name the referee. These stipulations were agreed to. Harry Stout, of Milwaukee, one of the foremost referees in the United States, will officiate.

And so, ladies and gentlemen, we have with us tonight Mr. Jack Britton, of New York, welterweight champion of the world, on hand to defend a title that he has defended with honor in the past, and hopes to hold intact when the tenth round is over tonight.

Abel has trained hard for this bout which will give him the first great opportunity of his life. His whole heart and soul are in the struggle. He is confident he can lick Britton and nothing can shake that confidence unless Britton is able to prove his superiority in the ring.

The Preliminaries.

Hume McDonald has arranged an attractive preliminary program for his championship card, of which the best bout will be the ten-round semi-windup between Kid Karst and Jack Denham. Kart will make his reappearance in an Atlanta ring following an absence of a year in the north. He claims to be in the best shape of his life and that he has returned to Atlanta mainly for the purpose of regaining the laurels he lost when he was knocked out by Jake Abel.

The preliminaries will get under way at 8:30 o'clock. Every indication is for the biggest crowd in the history of boxing in Atlanta. Fans all over the state are deeply interested in the championship struggle and will come from all sections to see it.

Record Crowd.

Although it will be a record crowd, Mr. McDonald expects to find seating accommodations for everybody to the spacious capacity of the Auditorium. The stage of the Auditorium has been reserved for the members of Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado. The entire first-string and second-string men will be present, and also Coach Alexander and his staff of pilots. Wop Roman's band will be on hand and will regale the crowd with inspiring selections.

It's Jake's one big opportunity to get his name in the electric signs, and the local boy isn't going to let the chance slip by. He has waited for years for just such an opening, and tonight he gets it. What he will be able to do is entirely a mystery, but the public may be assured of one thing—this Atlantan is going to scrap.

Capable Fighter.

Jake is a capable fighter, and has been in the game long enough not to be overcome by stage fright in pitting his prowess against the power of the greatest of them all. Abel has gone through the best men of his class in the south during his years in the ring, and his right to fight the champion for the privilege of wearing the title belt is a deserved honor.

The Atlantan has everything to win tonight and not a thing to lose. It is possibly the only chance he will ever have of stepping onto the "milk and honey" highway, and it won't be a cautious Jake entering the ring, but one who is determined to give everything he has, and to take the best the kingpin has to offer.

JACK BRITTON

Never Kayoed.

Britton has fought in hundreds of battles, and never yet has he been knocked out. But the miracle might slip in through a side door tonight, and if it does, Jack Britton will share the fate of Mike O'Dowd, who lost his title to a man who "didn't have a chance." Britton has been knocked down probably two or three times in his ring service of fifteen years, and one of them was scored by Jack Perry, a man over whom Jake Abel holds two decisions.

Britton asserts that Perry was one of the best boys he ever faced, and there is a possibility that he will be forced to admit late tonight that Jake Abel was the best one he had ever battled. Jake's success against Perry is a significant feature of the card tonight, and the result might be a complete surprise to some thousands of railbirds over the nation who still cling to the idea that almost any old champion is an unbeatable piece of prize fighting flesh.

Virginia Has Splendid Year; Five Victories

Charlottesville, Va., November 28. (Special.)—The University of Virginia's 1920 football season closed with five victories, two defeats and two ties. Not the most brilliant record in years but nonetheless a creditable showing. The Virginians were anything but strong on the offense, but their defense stacked up with the best of the teams in the south.

Considering the rather disorganized and discouraging condition of affairs at the beginning of the season, Dr. Rice Warren, the Orange and Blue coach, put a good team on th field but, better still, he laid the foundations for what, within the next year or two, bids to fight its way back to southern gridiron supremacy. This season marked the first year under the professional coaching system, a substitute for the old alumni system, which had prevailed for a number of years. The change has proven eminently satisfactory under Dr. Warren.

William and Mary and Randolph-Macon, two smaller Virginia colleges, were defeated 27 to 0 and 65 to 0, respectively. The Randolph-Macon score was the largest made by the Orange and Blue during the season. Johns Hopkins was defeated 14 to 0, Rutgers 7 to 0 and North Carolina 14 to 0.

The Virginians lost to the V. M. I. Cadets for the second time in the history of the playing of the two teams. The Cadets won a clear-cut victory, 22 to 6. Harvard failed to run away with the Virginians, but seemed content with a 24 to 0 win. The Georgia and Vandy games were ties, the first 0 to 0 and the latter 7 to 7. The Virginians amassed 140 points during the season to her opponents' 53. The season failed to develop any particular stars. Hollis Rhinehart, at half, bore the brunt of the offense in most of the games and did all of the punting. While he cannot be compared with past Virginian backfield stars, he was a fairly consistent ground-gainer, and on several occasions, notable in the Rutgers and Vanderbilt games, got away for long runs to touchdowns.

His punting, however, saved the day for Virginia in the Georgia game and was a big factor in the Carolina victory. Oppleman, whom Coach Warren had been using at quarter for the greater part of the season, was shifted to half for the Carolina game and came into his own. He was the bright particular star of that game and gives promise of better work next season.

Zundel and Dunn, though very light, did consistent work at full; Russell, who was used as Rhinehart's running mate through practically the entire season, divided the offensive burden with him and contributed greatly to Virginia victories.

Virginia was lacking in a top-notch quarterback for Witt's injuries early in the season handicapped the team. In the games in which he played, however, he ran the team well and displayed good judgment. He was the lightest man on the squad, weighing but 138 pounds. Harrington and Oppleman were used as substitutes for this position until the latter was shifted to half.

Craig and Parrish were used in a number of games, the latter making a great showing in the V. M. I. game by paving the way for the lone Virginia score by a long run. Captain Hewson Michie, at right end, and Hall at right tackle, were the stars of Virginia's line work, both being hard chargers, sure tacklers and gluttons for work, and were largely responsible for the defensive strength of the teams. Michie and Newman were probably as good wingmen as Virginia has had in several years, their work under punts this season has gained them an enviable reputation in practically every game. Hankins, at center, was a dependable pivot man, and an accurate passer.

Coach Warren used a number of men for his other line positions, including MacDonnell, Shackleford, Clarke, Fenwick, Blackford, Ray, Stephenson and Wood. Coach Warren played a great number of substitutes. There was no man on the team to play through all of the games, there being substitutes for every position on the team.

Virginia is fortunate in this year's team as there is a strong probability that very few men will be lost. Promising candidates of this year's first year team will give Coach Warren a fine start for next season. Russell Craig and possibly one or two others will not be back next year, but the rest of the squad will return and none of them have seen more than two years' service in the varsity. The team will select its captain within a few days.

Crippled Vanderbilt Team Finished With Fine Rally

BY JOE HATCHER.

Nashville, Tenn., November 28.—(Special.)—Facing the unreplacable loss of Tommy Zerfoss, Josh Cody, Alf Adams, Tom Lipscomb and other stars of all-southern selection and caliber, with the toughest schedule tackled by any Vanderbilt team over a span of seasons, the Commodores were able only to offset the tremendous reverses of the early season by a brilliant rally toward the fag end of the campaign for a very creditable record for 1920. Coach McGugin faced the tremendous task of building a machine from the crop of freshmen to meet the most powerful aggregations that have represented their rivals in history.

With only two weeks of preliminary training of the green material the important state title and bitter feud battle with Tennessee faced the coaches. The team was crammed up with football lore and swamped the powerful Tennessee under a 20-to-0 score, chiefly through "Dink" Hendrick's great work in registering three touchdowns during the game.

Badly crippled and suffering from the reactions of the bitter training grind, the Commodores were literally swamped the next week under the powerful Tech machine, the most powerful football eleven hailing from Dixie in all history. In the week following, without rest and with injuries galore, the inexperienced first-year team was swamped by the Auburn Plainsmen under the largest score the Auburnites have ever registered against their ancient rivals. Shirling, behind the tremendous forwards, practically crushed the light and green linesmen of the Commodores for the 56-to-6 defeat.

Again "Dink" Hendrick and Jess Nelly pulled a great forward pass for the lone touchdown.

With the first respite from defeat, the Commodores took a hard week's work and turned b k the Kentucky State team with the little end of a 20-to-0 score. The Commodores played great football against more equal rivals and could have piled up a much larger score, but refrained from t ing the chances with the first stringers, with the Alabama struggle following the next week in Birmingham.

Coach Scott boasted the most powerful aggregation the Alabama school had ever turned out, and then met bitter disappointment when the supposedly weak Commodores came within an inch of snatching victory and only lost the br for a 14-to-7 loss.

"Doc" Kuhn Stars.

"Doc" Kuhn, subbing for the injured Latham, was the brilliant star of the day.

"Doc" was practically unstoppable by the Alabamans and time after time threatened to lead the team to victory. Goar's punting was about the greatest exhibition of footwork the Birmingham fans have witnessed on Rickwood field.

The team was hopelessly crippled against the Auburnites, and completely dazed the Birmingham critics by their complete reversal of form following the slaughter. The line had been reinforced by the recovery from injuries of several experienced men, who were out of trim in the Tech and Auburn game. The st brilliant affair of the season was the Virginia-Vandy, 7-to-7 battle on Dudley field.

The Virginians came down with a go d record and with one of the best defensive teams in the south, having held the powerful Georgia team t a scoreless tie only the week previous in Charlottesville and having run up a good size score against Rutgers earlier in the campaign.

Virginians Dumfounded.

D g the first few minutes of play the Commodores completely dumfounded the Virginians by a brilliant attack and "Dink" Hendri l stepped across the goal line with a pass from Neely for the Commod es' touchdown. Rinehart's brilliant 40-yard sprint scored for the Old Dominion team in the second quarter.

The Virginians fought desperately for a win in the last period, but were twice held for downs inside the Vanderbilt 10-yard line and the game ended following a 75-yard run by the badly crippled Latham after intercepting a pass on his own goal line.

Virginia has one of the greatest pair of ends in the south and Rinehart ranks with the best of them, as an offensive back. Captain Johnny Floyd and "Doc" Kuhn were the out tanding stars offensively for the Commodores, while "Dink" Hendrick, Ike Baker and Percy Conyers were defensive hounds.

Goar and Godchaux entered the scrap in the closing moments of the game and stopped the final Virginia drive inside the Vandy 5-yard line on four successive trials to advance the ball.

The Sewanee team on Turkey day completely surprised the Vandy outfit by registering a 3 to 0 score for the first half and outrushing the Commodores repeatedly. After an intermission lecture and a heart-to-heart talk by Captain Floyd the team played great football and registered a 21 to 3 win for a closer.

Much of the season's credit goes directly to Captain Johnny Floyd, one of the cleanest athletes the south ever produced and one of the most conscientious and hardest working leaders the Commodores ever boasted. Suffering with chronic rheumatism and crippled with a crushed knee, the valiant captain fought gamely and inspired the team with his knowledge and leadership at critical moments as few men and leaders are able to do.

Hendrick and Floyd Praised.

Next to the battered Floyd comes "Dink" Hendrick, Swayne Latham and Jess Neely. Hendrick is said by critics to be the most brilliant pass receiver of all times in the south. The big guard registered the majority of the points scored by the Commodores as a result of the brilliant passes from Neely.

In addition, he played a great defensive game at all times during the season, playing his first game at guard against Alabama. Ike Baker added 50 per cent strength to the Vandy line. The big guard, with Hendrick and the freshmen, Ryan and McCullough, stacked as one of the best lines in the south near the close of the season.

Latham, one of the most brilliant quarters in the south, gained the name of "King" by his slave-driving methods in practice sessions and love for work this season. His wonderful field generalship did much to bring the victories registered this season. His off-tackle plunging equals any in the south, and though never spectacular, his drives have been one of the outstanding features of the year. Jess Neely entering his freshmen year has been one of the brilliant spots, both defensively and offensively. He is expected to make one of the best backs the Vandy aggregation has turned out with his year's experience behind him for next year. His passing to Hendrick has been a vital factor in the scoring, and his covering of punts with Conyers has been unequaled in the south.

By actual figures, Vandy opponents have been able to return punts for less distance than against any team in the south. Conyers and Neely have made returns practically impossible all season. Berryhill rose to great brilliance against Sewanee following numerous injuries earlier in the season.

With a return of practically the entire team next year and with young stars like Frank Godchaux, Red Rountree, Tom Ryan and Jess Neely, the Vanderbilt team is expected to make a hard fight for the crest again next season.

LANDIS TO BAN GAMING

New York, November 28.—The most important matter in the welfare of "the national game" is the complete divorcing from it of the gambling element, Judge Kennesaw M. Landis, new head of organized baseball, said here today before starting back for Chicago. Judge Landis attended the Army-Navy football game here yesterday as the guest of the owners of the New York Giants.

"I don't want to be hailed as a dictator nor a savior," he said. "What I am seeking is to learn the best things to be done, and I want the help of everybody with the best interests of the game at heart."

He said he had no profound or deeply mysterious schemes for dealing with problems of the game, but emphasized his determination to make the game clean.

"The co-operation of the baseball and civil authorities could accomplish much toward eliminating crookedness," he said. "To show how essential it is to get rid of the gambling influence, my experience and observation as a lawyer and judge has been that there is no crime this element won't commit for some ends. I don't mean all professional gamblers are of that kind—some of them are pretty decent fellows—but that such is the spirit of professional gambling.

"If more stringent laws are needed to prevent wrongdoing in baseball they can be effected through either federal or state statutes. I don't believe there would be any difficulty in having such legislation introduced in Washington, for decent people are too fond of the game not to do what they can for its good."

Judge Landis will return to New York December 15 to attend a joint meeting of the American and National leagues for the purpose of discussing reconstructon plans.

SOONERS HAVE FINE SEASON

BY AUSTIN HUGGINS.

Norman, Okla., November 28.—(Special.)—With reams written about the Georgia Tech squad which has proven itself the greatest team any school in Dixie has turned out in years, with Ohio State carrying home the bacon in the Big Ten conference, and a controversy arising over the championship of the big eastern colleges, very little attention has been given to the fast and heavy championship team which Oklahoma university put in the field this year in the Missouri Valley conference.

After trying for years for a berth in the conference Oklahoma finally landed and Benny Owens, the one-armed mentor, who has been making football history in the middle west for years, proved that Oklahoma belonged in the big time by leading his boys to victory the first year.

With the heaviest and at the same time the speediest team in the conference the Sooners bowled over their opponents in every game, except the Kansas scrap when the score was 7 to 7. Missouri had already beaten Kansas, but Oklahoma walloped Missouri by a big score and thus had the edge on the Jayhawkers.

Washington university, University of Missouri, University of Kansas, Drake university, Kansas Aggies, Nebraska, Ames, Iowa—they all fell before the onslaughts of this bunch of Sooners who were determined to make the fur fly in every game.

Owens' method of developing the forward pass had proven beyond a doubt his mastery of this phase of the great game. In more than half of the contests this year the deciding factor has been the ease with which the speedy Sooner ends snagged the passes hurled at them at distances ranging from ten to forty yards.

Practically every man on the Oklahoma squad is a product of Oklahoma's high schools and all of them are loyal to the school.

Paul Johnston, at tackle, and Davis at half are two of the outstanding men of the team. Swatek, a former Oklahoma City high school star, is also a great man in the line, playing in every game at tackle. Davis is the only married man who ever made a place on the Oklahoma squad in the history of the school. He is the father of two fine children.

FRANCE IS AFTER OLYMPIC GAMES TO COME IN 1924

Paris, November 28.—The French Olympic committee has decided formally to propose that the 1924 games be held in Paris. The international committee will decide this question at a meeting to be held at Lausanne next June.

South's Greatest Grid Year Ends; Four Aggregations Are Undefeated

Probably the most successful football season that southern colleges and universities have ever experienced came to a close last week with a number of spectacular contests in which the well coached elevens of the south proved themselves worthy foes of the country's best elevens.

Attendance records were broken at almost all southern fields, according to all reports here, and interest among students and other spectators ran higher than ever before. The greatest feature of the season, in the minds of many, however, was the large number of gridiron machines of outstanding caliber that were developed. In previous years there have been one or two great southern teams that in games with the highly trained elevens of the north showed themselves finished machines capable of ranking high nationally. This year that list was enlarged to include half a dozen or more.

There were a number of intersectional contests during the season and indications are that more will be scheduled next year. Centre is to play Harvard again next season, Georgia Tech will play some big eastern eleven, probably Yale; other teams that are expected to engage in intersectional games include Auburn, North Carolina State, Tulane, V. M. I., Virginia university, Washington and Lee, and possibly others. From their records of this year, many of them have at least an even chance of returning victors.

Of the many great elevens that the season produced, four came through with records of no defeats by other Dixie teams, three of them, Georgia Tech, Georgia university and Tulane, in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association, and one, V. M. I., in the South Atlantic conference. Georgia university and V. M. I. lost no games, the Virginians winning against Pennsylvania university in their only intersectional contest, and Georgia confining its games to southern gridirons. Tech lost only to Pittsburg and Tulane to Michigan. A dozen or more other southern teams made records almost as creditable and showed themselves well drilled machines.

Yanks Looking For Training Camp in Dixie

In order to select a southern training camp that will offer the most for the Yankees, Business Manager Ed Barrow, of the Yanks, has come south to look over a number of cities which have asked for permission to entertain Babe Ruth & Co., next spring.

Colonel Ruppert recently declared many southern cities had offered everything but their national banks for a visit from the Yankees, and before he arrives at a decision decided to investigate each invitation thoroughly. Barrows is well acquainted in the south and is also in a position to know just the kind of camp the Yankees need.

JOHNNY KILBANE HAS BOXING FANS OF U. S. GUESSING

Does Johnny Kilbane intend to fight or has he decided to retire from the ring? Kilbane was recently offered $7,500 guarantee to battle Andy Chaney, in Baltimore. Kilbane's reply to the challenge was that he would not take off his shoes for that amount. Baltimore promotors immediately notified the Clevelander they would make the amount more if they were assured Kilbane would accept. Baltimore fans believe Chaney can stop Kilbane. The featherweight champion is just now engaged in the automobile tire business, and until the past two months has enjoyed an excellent business. Cleveland, Toledo, and Jersey City have also made tenative offers for the bout.

ANNAPOLIS CELEBRATES BIG VICTORY

Annapolis, Md., November 28.—For nearly three hours this afternoon and early this evening the naval reservation was the scene of a riot of noise and jubilation because of the demonstration by the midshipmen returning from the Army-Navy game at New York.

The students returned in four special trains. The celebration began shortly after 4 o'clock with the arrival of the first section of 500 students and reached its climax when the victorious football warriors had been drawn to the reservation, in buses from which the horses had been detached and squads of the happy embryo sea commanders furnished the drawing power. The main, or Maryland avenue entrance to the academy was aglow with red, white and blue electric lights, and bulbs of the same hues were strung from the top of the wireless tower to the ground. A piece of white canvas stretched across the top of the gateway, was embellished by a painting depicting the Navy goat, official Navy athletic mascot, butting Army's mascot, a mule, over an embankment into a river. It also bore the score of the game—Navy 7, Army 0.

The celebration had its climax in front of Bancroft hall, where more than 2,000 students cheered the players, the team and the coaches.

Six Murder Trials.

Chattanooga, Tenn., November 28. Six murder trials are set for hearing in the criminal court beginning here tomorrow, one for each day of the week, and there are others unassigned which will be tried during the present term.

FOOTBALL CROWDS TESTING CAPACITY OF BIG STADIUMS

The crowd of 80,000 fans who watched the Yale-Harvard clash in the Yale bowl has brought about a new problem for engineers who specialize in the construction of athletic stadiums. They are wondering what the limit of attendance at football games will be in ten years hence, if the popularity of the sport continues to grow during that period as it has grown during the past ten years.

When the Yale bowl was built, it was believed its mammoth capacity would not be tested for at least 25 years. At that time crowds of 40,000 people at a football game was something decidedly unusual. The bowl was built for future as well as present needs. The game last week proved the bowl inadequate for demands at this time, because more than 40,000 applications for tickets were refused, and thousands did not attempt to gain admission after it was learned the capacity had been sold. With an unlimited seating capacity it is believed the game would have been witnessed by at least 125,000 fans.

Engineers hold out little hope of ever successfully building a stadium bowl to accommodate more people than the Yale bowl will accommodate. An increase in the size of such a plant would make many of the seats almost valueless for spectators, as in some sections of the stands surrounding the Yale bowl at present it is impossible to recognize the players.

BILLIARD RACE GETTING CLOSE IN PRELIMINARIES

Chicago, November 28.—The preliminaries for the national three-cushion billiard championship have developed into an unusually tight race, with seven men fighting for the three positions which will give them the privilege of competing in the finals against Robert Cannefax, title holder.

The preliminary tournament will end this week. Clarence Jackson and Alfred de Oro now hold the first two positions, with Augie Kieckhefer and John Layton tied for third. Pierre Maupome and John Daly are just under them and Charles Otis still is a mathematical possibility for a qualifying place.

DARTMOUTH DROPS BROWN UNIVERSITY AS A LETTER GAME

The removal of the Brown university game from the list of letter games by Dartmouth may result in a complete severance of relations between the two colleges. Recently the Dartmouth Athletic council named the Pennsylvania, Cornell and Washington university games as the letter contests. Players will be required to play at least 15 minutes in one of these games in order to be eligible to receive the letter.

The dropping of Brown is taken by the Providence institution as an indication of the lack of importance of the meeting, in the eyes of the Dartmouth officials. Brown cohorts declare Dartmouth is honoring Washington university with more dignity than is called for in making the western clash a letter game. Some interesting developments are expected when the 1921 schedules are brought up for adoption at Brown.

QUITS BALK-LINE GAME

Albert Cutler Enters Three-Cushion Field.

Warden A. V. Anderson, of Leavenworth penitentiary, where former Champion Jack Johnson is incarcerated, has replied to those who criticized him for permitting Johnson to take part in boxing contests in the pen, by stating that all inmates are required to take some form of exercise daily and Johnson is perfectly within his rights in adopting boxing. He added that the former heavyweight champion is not accorded any more favors than other prisoners.

LARSEN TO CAPTAIN NAVY FOOTBALL TEAM

Annapolis, Md., November 28.—The members of the Naval academy football team have named Emery E. Larsen, of Minneapolis, captain for the coming year.

Bob Folwell will accept the offer to coach the eleven next year, but some details remain to be settled.

ENGLISH ANXIOUS FOR MAN O' WAR TO RACE THERE

The English Thoroughbred association has interested itself in the proposal to have Samuel Riddle send the super-horse, Man o' War, to England next year. A recent communication from the officials of that body to Mr. Riddle, stated English fans would be glad of an opportunity to see the celebrated son of Fair Play in action. The officials offered their services in entering the thoroughbred in the English classics, and assured the American owner of a square deal at all times.

SAVANNAH HIGH PROTESTS GAME WITH BENEDICTINE

Savannah, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—The coach of the Savannah High school football team has protested the Thanksgiving game with the Benedictine Cadets—in which the Cadets downed the High's 13 to 7—and has asked for another game to be played December 4.

FLORIDA PLAYERS ARE OBTAINED BY KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, November 28.—George Muehlbach, president of the local American Association club, received word last night that Kansas City had been awarded E. S. Bennett and James Gross, of the Daytona club, of the Florida State league, by the National association. Muelbach purchased the players last August, he said. Later Daytona sold the players to the Columbus American association team, according to Muehlbach, and he filed a protest.

HEAD OF ROWING AT YALE TO MAKE TRIP TO ENGLAND

Rowing Coach Guy Nickalls, of Yale, announced last week he would return to England after Thanksgiving. Then he staged a big shake-up of the Yale crew, which has been getting some excellent outdoor work during the fall. During Nickalls' absence, Joe Corbet, former English professional sculler, will continue the work as long as possible, then take the crew into the gym. Nickalls expects to return to Yale soon after January 1.

Bread Price Cut.

Philadelphia, November 28.—The price of bread in Philadelphia will be reduced one cent a loaf December 1, Frank B. McClain, fair price commissioner, announced tonight. The present price is 11 cents for a one-pound loaf, and 15 cents for a 24-ounce loaf.

Flor de MELBA
The Cigar Supreme

The banana is protected from human hands, so we protect the FLOR de MELBA the Cigar Supreme.

Each cigar wrapped to retain its original AROMA and FRAGRANCE — they are Hand Made and Mild. — No expense spared in quality and workmanship to make FLOR de MELBA the Cigar Supreme.

Flor de Melba is better, bigger and more pleasing than any other MILD HAVANA CIGAR.

You get the very best for your money by buying FLOR de MELBA, truly the Cigar Supreme.

After you smoke a few you'll say so too.

10c. and UP.

Ask your dealer for your favorite size.

I. LEWIS CIGAR MFG. CO.
NEWARK, N. J.
Largest Independent Cigar Factory in the World.

J. N. HIRSCH
Atlanta — Distributor

RAILROAD SCHEDULES

Arrival and departure of passenger trains Atlanta Terminal Station and Union Passenger Station.

The following schedule figures published as information and not guaranteed. (Central Standard Time.)

Atlanta Terminal Station.

ATLANTA, BIRMINGHAM AND ATLANTIC RAILWAY

Arrives—		—Leaves
*5:50 am	Brunswick-Waycross	7:15 am
*5:50 am	Tifton-Thomasville	7:15 am
11:30 am	Cordele-Pitzgerald	3:30 pm
8:15 pm	Brunswick-Waycross	*10:00 pm
8:15 pm	Tifton-Thomasville	*10:00 pm

() Sleeping cars on these trains ()

ATLANTA AND WEST POINT RAILROAD

Arrives—		—Leaves
11:35 pm	New Orleans-Montgomery	5:50 am
7:50 pm	Newnan-Columbus	7:10 am
9:10 pm	Montgomery—Local	8:15 am
2:30 pm	New Orleans-Montgomery	1:25 pm
10:55 am	Newnan-Columbus	4:05 pm
8:15 am	West Point—Local	5:35 pm
12:30 pm	New Orleans-Montgomery	6:10 pm

CENTRAL OF GEORGIA RAILWAY.

Arrives—		—Leaves
6:20 am	Savannah-Albany	7:50 am
6:20 am	Macon	7:50 am
8:20 am	Jacksonville	7:30 pm
7:50 am	Jacksonville	11:15 pm
10:50 am	Macon	12:30 pm
2:10 pm	Macon	4:00 pm
3:50 pm	Savannah	9:40 pm
8:15 pm	Macon-Albany	11:00 pm

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY

Arrives—		—Leaves
8:30 pm	Hamlet-Monroe	6:10 am
8:15 pm	Birmingham-Atlanta	8:10 am
3:50 pm	New York-Washington	12 noon
3:50 pm	Richmond-Norfolk	12 noon
9:40 am	Abbeville-Atlanta	4:00 pm
11:45 am	Birmingham-Memphis	4:40 pm
7:50 am	New York-Washington	8:25 pm
7:50 am	Richmond-Norfolk	8:25 pm
7:55 am	Birmingham-Atlanta	1:00 am

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM.

Arrives—		—Leaves—
5:55 am	Macon-V'sta-Jaxville	12:05 am
5:25 am	N. Y.-Washington	12:15 am
9:15 pm	Cincl.-Chicago-Detroit	5:35 am
11:50 pm	Cleveland-Cincl.	6:10 am
10:35 pm	Kansas City-B'ham	6:15 am
4:40 pm	Charlotte—Local	6:30 am
8:35 pm	Chatta-Rome—Local	6:40 am
8:35 pm	Columbus—Local	7:20 am
7:45 pm	Brunswick-Macon-Jaxville	7:50 am
5:35 pm	N. Y.-Wash.-Richmond	11:40 am
4:20 pm	Macon-Jacksonville	12:05 pm
2:00 pm	Macon	12:20 pm
5:50 pm	New York-Wash.	12:50 pm
12:00 m	Greenville—Local	12:55 pm
11:05 am	Chatta.-Rome—Local	3:00 pm
12:00 m	Birmingham-Memphis	4:30 pm
11:50 am	Cincinnati-Louisville	4:35 pm
8:10 am	Air Line Belle	4:45 pm
11:20 am	Columbus—Local	4:45 pm
11:15 am	Fort Valley—Local	4:56 pm
10:40 am	Macon—Local	5:00 pm
8:00 am	Heflin—Local	5:25 pm
7:35 am	Macon-V'sta-Jaxville	7:00 pm
5:20 am	Jacksonville	9:30 pm
7:20 am	Shreveport-B'ham	10:20 pm
7:45 am	Char'te-Asheville-Wash.	10:40 pm
5:45 am	Jaxville-Brunswick	10:50 pm

Following Southern railway trains arrive and depart from Peachtree station and do not enter Terminal station:

Arrives—		—Leaves—
3:00 pm	Birmingham	11:30 am
11:25 am	Washington-Richmond	3:12 pm

NASHVILLE, CHATTANOOGA AND ST. LOUIS.

Arrives—		—Leaves
7:10 pm	Chicago-St. Louis	8:40 am
7:10 pm	Nashville-Chattanooga	8:40 am

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD

Arrives—		—Leaves
10:50 pm	Chicago-Indianapolis / Louisville and beyond	See Union
11:00 pm	Cincinnati-Knoxville	Station

Union Passenger Station.

GEORGIA RAILROAD

Arrives—		—Leaves
12:20 pm	Augusta	5:55 am
3:35 pm	Augusta-Columbia	12:15 pm
8:20 pm	Augusta	3:00 pm
†7:40 am	Monroe	6:10 pm
‡8:50 am	Monroe	6:10 pm
7:25 am	Charleston-Wilmington	7:40 pm
7:28 am	Augusta-Columbia	7:40 pm

†Daily except Sunday. ‡Sunday only.

LOUISVILLE & NASHVILLE RAILROAD.

Arrives—		—Leaves
See Term. Sta.	Cin.-Louisv'le	7:55 am
5:05 pm	Knoxville via Blue Ridge	7:30 am
10:15 am	Copper Hill—Local	3:30 pm
11:50 am	Cincinnati-Louisville	4:25 pm
11:50 am	Knoxville via Cartersville	4:25 pm

NASHVILLE, CHATTANOOGA AND ST. LOUIS.

Arrives—		—Leaves
7:00 pm.	Nashville-Chattanooga	8:05 am
10:30 am	Rome-Chattanooga—Local	5:15 pm
7:30 am	Nashville-St. Louis	8:30 pm

TAXICABS

BELLE ISLE—TAXICABS
IVY 166. 4 LUCKIE ST. IVY 6190

Classified Rates

One time .....18c a line
Three times .....16c a line
Seven times .....14c a line
Thirty times or more .....12c a line
Each Issue

Advertisements under the following classifications will only be inserted when cash accompanies the order:

For Rent—Rooms, Furnished or Unfurnished.
Wanted—Boarders.
Wanted—Board.

TELEPHONE MAIN 5000

PERSONAL

MATERNITY Sanitarium, private, refined homelike. Homes provided for infants. Mrs. M. T. Mitchell, 22 Windsor street.

DANCING

HURST DANCING SCHOOL. I. 8766
56½ Houston street.
PRIVATE lessons daily 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Classes daily 8 to 10 p. m., Friday excepted.

"WE KNOW HOW"
LANE'S DANCING. Teaching, Adults, children. Phone Ivy 5788.

EDUCATIONAL

FRENCH AND PIANO instruction. Gabriel-Tabib, 61 St. Charles. I. 4785. M. 6119.

LOST AND FOUND

$50——REWARD——$50
FOR ARREST and conviction of thieves who stole 1920 Chevrolet touring car; motor No. 88414, license No. 133108, from Auditorium, November 20. Notify Automobile Underwriters Detective Bureau, 401 Hurt Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

$50——REWARD——$50
FOR ARREST and conviction of thieves who stole 1920 Buick roadster, frame No. 641360, from Atlanta, Ga., November 20. Notify Automobile Underwriters Detective Bureau, 401 Hurt Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

$50——REWARD——$50
FOR arrest and conviction of thieves who stole 1920 Studebaker touring car; motor No. 20824, from in front Segadlo's hall November 24. Notify 401 Hurt building, Atlanta, Ga.

FORD coupe car; Ga. license No. 10632, motor No. 3946994. Notify R. F. Head, 776 S. North avenue, Atlanta, Ga. Hemlock 2127-J. Reward.

LOST—Out of car one tan leather brief case containing catalogues and photos. Reward given if returned to Good Roads Machinery Co., 567 Whitehall st.

LOST OR STOLEN from Ford roadster Thanksgiving evening one brand-new U. S. chain tread 30x3½ tire on rim. Advise Certainteed Products Corporation.

JERSEY cow lost. Strayed from pasture on White street. Return Mrs. Hudson, 3 Oglethorpe. Reward. West 1503-W.

LOST—Pocket book containing government check for $50, payable Richard W. Bryan. Also $18 in bills. Reward. Call I. 2858-J.

$50 REWARD for one large black hound, "G. C. Kilpatrick," name on collar. Also telephone number. 174 Hampton street. Ivy 7319-W.

LOST Nov. 22, one blue mare mule, weight about 950 or 1,000 pounds, 6 years old. If found notify R. L. Carver, Newnan, Ga., Route 6. Reward.

HELP WANTED—MALE

A BOOKKEEPER, must be a man with thorough knowledge and some executive ability. State age, experience, number of dependents, salary required, etc. H. J. Pearce, Gainesville, Ga. Brenau College.

WANTED—Experienced hardware clerk, 30 to 35 years of age. Excellent opportunity for right man. References required. Replying, furnish names former employers. Address C-333, Constitution.

MEN AND WOMEN to operate phonograph record exchanges from your own home anywhere; $35 capital required; $500 monthly easily made. Catalog, particulars free. Broadway Music Shop, Detroit.

WANTED—Good job man, permanent place, good salary. Dispatch Publishing Company, Cordele, Ga.

HELP WANTED—MALE

WANTED — City manager for Decatur, Ga., population 6,200. Employment begins January 1, 1921. Opportunity for first-class man at good salary and advancement. For application blank, address, Raymond E. White, secretary, 209 Hopkins St., Decatur, Ga.

NEWSPAPER carriers can make good money delivering daily and Sunday Constitution in city of Atlanta. For information call on S. R. Green, City Circulation Dept. Constitution.

WANTED—Competent Linotype operator at once. Apply Atlanta Printing Co., 53½ Auburn Avenue.

WANTED—COLORED CHRISTIAN YOUNG MEN IN EVERY CITY AND TOWN IN THE SOUTH TO DISTRIBUTE LITERATURE. WILL MAKE GOOD MONEY AND AT THE SAME TIME YOU WILL BE DOING MISSIONARY WORK. SEND 50C FOR SAMPLE OF LITERATURE AND INSTRUCTION. ADDRESS THE MISSIONARY WORKERS, HOME OFFICE 160½ AUBURN AVENUE, ATLANTA, GA.

BEST place to register for office positions of all kinds. The Employment Exchange, 400 Central bldg. Main 5566.

WANTED—Draftsmen, several first-class men with at least three years' experience in the design and detail of steel and concrete buildings and mechanical equipment. Good opportunity with new manufacturing concern at Kingsport, Tenn. State age, experience and salary expected. Address M. B. Pringle, Kingsport, Tenn.

YOU CAN make $30 daily vulcanizing; $5 daily while learning. Anderson Steam Vulcanizer Co., 38 James street.

AUTO MECHANICS—Is there a future to your position? If not, you can better yourself by addressing C-287, care Const.

$170 MONTH average; railway mail clerks; hundreds wanted. List positions free. Write immediately. Franklin Institute, Dept. 55-J, Rochester, N. Y.

YES—Professor Branning guarantees to teach you the barber trade in few weeks; chain of shops; good wages. 14 E. Mitchell

WANTED—Experienced fertilizer collector. Man with legal training preferred. Address P. O. Box 1725, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—Young man to run as news agent on railroad trains. Apply 11 to 2, Union News Co., Terminal Station.

WANTED—Competent, experienced clerk for parts newsing, handling car records and other general office work. State age, experience, references and salary. Alcolu Railroad Co., Alcolu, S. C.

HELP WANTED—Female

WANTED—Experienced saleswomen for jewelry dept. Prefer one with experience in high-class shop. Come prepared to furnish good references. J. M. High Co.

WANTED—Experienced and competent stenographer for stenographic and clerical work. 816 Forsyth Building.

COLORED—COOKS, MAIDS, NURSES, PRESSERS, NIGHT MAIDS, DISHWASHERS, WAITRESSES 160½ AUBURN AVE.

FOUR graduate trained nurses over 30 years of age to demonstrate new antiseptic in drug stores. Must be educated, refined and of good appearance. Good salary and splendid opportunity for advancement. Apply Mr. Satterwait, room 1101 Fourth National Bank bldg.

WANTED—Reliable and intelligent white woman to act as nurse day and night for infant; good place for right party. Write Box 132, Macon, Ga., stating age, experience and wages expected.

THREE experienced stenographers, acquiring executive ability; temporary work for 2 or 4 weeks; $5 per day. 325 Atlanta Trust Co. bldg.

IMMEDIATELY, two attractive, educated young women for fascinating road position, paying up to $100 weekly; references required. Phone Miss Turner, I. 3269, Y. W. C. A. 10 to 2 only.

BEST place to register for office positions of all kinds. The Employment Exchange, 400 Central bldg. Main 5566.

Help Wanted--Male, Female

THE EMPLOYMENT EXCHANGE has moved from 325 Atlanta Trust building to 400 Central building, South Pryor and E. Alabama. Phone Main 5566. Stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, clerks, etc., wishing positions should call at once. Hours, 8:30 to 6, and also 7 to 9 p. m. every Monday and Friday. Out-of-town applicants write full particulars, work and salary desired. No charge to employers for our prompt, efficient service. When in need of clerical or commercial help save time by calling us.

RAILWAY mail clerks, stenographers, typists wanted by government. Examinations weekly. Prepare at home. Write for free list and plan 309, payment after securing position. CSS, 1017 Chestnut st., Philadelphia.

IF YOU NEED HELP OF ANY KIND CALL IVY 85.

Salesman Wanted

WANTED — SALESMAN WITH EXPERIENCE SELLING LIGHT CARS AND TRUCKS. JAS. H. PRICHARD MOTOR CO., WEST 2100.

THREE sales daily clears $3,000 yearly; sells everywhere; repeats. Box 1571, Atlanta, Ga.

WANTED—A high-grade well-recommended cigar salesman to sell a first-class line of Tampa-made clear Havana cigars on commission in southern territory. Address D. L. H., 204½ Plant avenue, Tampa, Fla.

SALESMAN—We desire a forceful and aggressive salesman to sell our 1922 line of high-class calendars and advertising specialties in Atlanta and adjacent territory. Will consider applications only from men of reliable character and real selling ability. Send references of banks or business men. Thos. J. Beckman Co., 310 N. 11th street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WANTED—EXPERIENCED SALESMEN TO SELL A HIGH-GRADE LINE OF DRUG SUNDRIES IN THE STATES OF GEORGIA, ALABAMA, FLORIDA, SOUTH CAROLINA AND TENNESSEE. APPLY BY LETTER, GIVING EXPERIENCE, AGE AND TERRITORY COVERED. UNITED STATES RUBBER CO. 115 S. PRYOR ST.

SALESMEN wanted to handle several lines portable and stationary material, handling machinery, conveyors, industrial tractors, etc. Straight commission; exclusive territory. State full details. Box F-999, Const.

TEACHERS

WANTED—Ten thousand more grade, village and rural teachers to ask us for complimentary copy of Teachers' Bible Book No. 20. Clanton & Webb Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ACME TEACHERS' AGENCY, Healey bldg., Atlanta, constantly placing teachers.

WANTED—Grade and high school teachers 306 Walton bldg.

Situation Wanted—Female

COLORED woman wants position as maid in dry goods store or hair dressing parlor. Address M. P., 20 Lucy st.

GOVERNESS—Can teach music, French. Address C-319, Constitution.

EXPERIENCED stenographer and office assistant desires position at once. Ivy 500.

WANTED—At once, permanent or temporary position by competent stenographer; 7 years' experience. Ivy 7520-J.

COMPETENT bookkeeper, six years' experience, knowledge of typing and general office work. Address C-335, Const.

BUSINESS CHANCES

DISTRICT MANAGER FOR SOUTHERN STATES

THIS offers to a really high grade business man of proven ability a profitable connection with a prosperous expanding company manufacturing high grade speed wagons and trucks from 3-4 to 2 tons. A capable, industrious man will have no difficulty in realizing from fifteen to thirty thousand dollars per year and a contract with this company for 5 years. Those with the experience and qualifications necessary for this proposition desiring an interview with factory representative, address C-336, Atlanta Constitution, giving full name, street address or phone together with references.

FOR SALE—Drug store, lease, fixtures and stock; doing business $100,000 yearly. Also well established and paying restaurant, complete in every detail. Two good grocery stores, stock and fixtures, and completely equipped machine shop. All of the above will bear closest investigation. Sam Johnson Company, First National Bank bldg., Orlando, Fla.

MODERN drug business for sale. Located in live southeast Alabama town; good, clean stock, good stand, nice fixtures; cheap lease, doing fine business; will give terms to right party. For particulars address F-639, care Constitution.

THE COMMERCIAL EMPLOYMENT AGENCY, 325 EMPIRE BLDG. IVY 1883.

WANTED—Party to invest two to five thousand dollars in local company amply secured by contracts and 10 per cent interest. No fly-by-night, but safe, legitimate business. Address C-252, care Constitution.

Situation Wanted—Male

ACCOUNTANT-AUDITOR (C. P. A.) desires connection with Georgia firm certified public accountants or with reliable commercial organization as chief accountant and office manager. Address F-638, care Constitution.

MARRIED man desires position as chauffeur with private family in Atlanta. Best of references. Address F-641, care Constitution, or call Douglasville 88 between 7 a. m. and 6 p. m. except Sunday.

EXPERIENCED office man, 27, thoroughly familiar with general office work, knowledge of bookkeeping, expert typist, desires good connection. A-1 references. Address C-321, Constitution.

WANTED—Position as manager or clerk; eight years' experience as clerk, two years' experience as manager in general mdse. store. Address Hustler, Box 24, Olar, South Carolina.

YOUNG high school graduate will consider any proposition that offers future. Address C-334, Constitution.

REGISTERED pharmacist; good references; several years' experience. C-337, Const.

WANTED—Position as meat cutter or grocery clerk. Can go anywhere. J. A. Brown, Flowery Branch, Ga.

HAVE had clerical, collection experience, operate dictaphone; good references. Salary wanted $80 for immediate acceptance. Address B-980, Constitution.

FOR SALE—Miscellaneous

SALVAGED LUMBER, $15.00 PER M., F. O. B. ATLANTA. SEVERAL CARLOADS SALVAGED FROM ARMY CANTONMENT. ADDRESS S. E. BATES, ATLANTA, GA.

RAINCOATS
Arcade Raincoat Shop
136 Peachtree Arcade

FOR SALE—One large Westinghouse direct current air compresser with motor attached; all casting blocks. Call Quick Tire & Service, Incorporated.

SALVAGING K. C. & Y. bldgs., Gordon. Bargains: Lumber Yard, 240 Elliott.

BULBS, jonquils, barri, Sir Watkins, reasonable. Mrs. E. A. Moore. E. P. exchange 254-W.

FURNITURE at bargain. Go to United Furniture Co., 73 South Pryor street.

PIANO, Kranich & Bach; also player piano slightly used. Special bargain. Walter Hughes Piano Co., 48 Auburn avenue.

NOW is time to smoke EEM tobacco for colds, catarrh, bronchitis and influenza. Your druggist, or EEM Co., Atlanta, Ga.

ONE NO. 10 Radiant home heater, splendid condition; one office chair. 208 E. Fourth street. H. 3394-W.

DIAMOND—1½ karats, perfect blue white Wesselton, best grade. P. O. Box 437.

For Furniture and Stoves
Go to BOOKSTEIN, 33 No. Pryor. I. 1611.

SAFES—New and 2d-hand; all sizes. Vault doors. C. J. Daniel, 408 4th Natl. Bk. bldg.

CASH REGISTER and showcases; practically new; small or large. Bargain. Terms. 60 Decatur street.

TYPEWRITERS

BUY
WE SELL All makesc of typewriters.
REPAIR
Rebuilt Typewriters at Attractive Prices.
ATLANTA TYPEWRITER EXCHANGE.
71 S. Pryor St. Main 5641. Atlanta, Ga.

TYPEWRITERS for sale and rent. Nonvisible, 3 months, $5; visible, 3 months, $8 and up. Write for Catalog C-70. American Writing Machine Co., 135 Peachtree Arcade, Atlanta, Ga. Phone Main 3805.
SEE OUR NEW MACHINE, THE CENTURY

WHEN typewriter needs repairs, call expert. K. M. Schell. M. 2707. 13½ W. Ala.

BUILDING MATERIAL

SAND $2 per ton. Prompt delivering. Call W. E. Kingston. Main 6155. Ivy 8757.

LIVE STOCK

HOGS.

FOR SALE—Five pigs. Address Box 443 Howell Mill road or telephone Ivy 688 Monday.

ONE registered Poland-China sow, age 18 months; also her 8 pigs, 5 months old. Can furnish registration papers. Address Mrs. K. K. Edmundson, Madison, Ga.

HORSES AND VEHICLES.

FOR SALE—Pair large bay mares, $95; also large bay horse, 6 years old, weight 1,500 lbs., $125; also several 5-year-old mares and mules at all prices cheap. Vittur's Horse & Mule Co., 454 Marietta street.

FOR SALE—Sound, fat 6-year-old mule; new harness and new farm wagon; outfit $175. Vittur's Horse and Mule Co., 454 Marietta street.

THE FANCIERS' DEPT.

DOGS.

FOR SALE—Thoroughbred English bull terriers, 3 months old; both male and female. Fred S. Gould, 112 East Ellis street. Telephone Ivy 1091.

SEEDS AND PLANTS

ORCHARD, grape and lawn pruning agent. Rochester Nurseries. Phone West 1850. L. A. Dozier.

Pet Stock

IMPORTED CANARIES.

IMPORTED Hartz mountain canary birds; guaranteed singers, $12.50 each. Main 2568. 16 W. Mitchell st. H. G. Hastings Co.

WANTED—Miscellaneous

BIG MONEY!!
For your second-hand furniture, rugs, etc. We pay the highest cash prices. Ring Main 1173 for estimate man.
FULTON
FURNITURE STORE
16-18 East Mitchell St.

WE PAY HIGHEST CASH PRICES FOR USED FURNITURE. MAIN 156.

FURNITURE Etc. bought for cash E.B.Gibson. M.4647

HOUSEHOLD goods bought by Central Auction Co., 10-12 E. Mitchell. M. 2424.

BOOKS—In good condition; best possible prices paid for salable material. Ivy 482 Pratt's Book Shop, 92 North Forsyth st.

WE BUY House and office furniture. Boorstein's. I. 1611.

AUCTION SALES

AT AUCTION

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1920, the entire furnishings of several Atlanta homes which we have removed to our auction rooms. Included in this sale are the following items:

Brown mahogany and oak bedroom suites, 5 chifforobes, 2 chiffoniers, Radiant home parlor heater, gas and oil heaters, Victor talking machines, Napanee and 4 other kitchen cabinets, brass, iron and steel beds, coil and national springs, felt and cotton mattresses, mahogany dining suite, mission dining suite, solid mahogany buffet, bookcases, electroliers, library tables, living room suites, hat racks, costumers, oak and mahogany dressers, washstands and dressing tables, china closets, dining table, rockers and straight chairs, ladies' writing desk, rugs of all kinds, sewing machines, oil stoves, wardrobes, toilet sets and odd mirrors. All to be sold to the highest bidder at 10:30 a. m.

FULTON
FURNITURE CO.
16-18 East Mitchell Street.

AT AUCTION, Monday, November 29, at 2 p. m., on the premises at 27½ South Pryor, the entire furnishings of 36 rooms, consisting of furniture, bedding, linen, gas ranges, heaters, office equipment, etc. Sale rain or shine, Monday at 2 p. m. B. Bernard, auctioneer.

FURNITURE—For Sale

FURNITURE for sale. Must be sold immediately. 60 Currier street.

AUTOMOBILES

TIRES.

3 for 1 TIRE SALE
3 TIRES FOR THE PRICE OF 1
These tires are all standard make, and in original wrappers.
ALL FIRSTS—NO SECONDS
Sold on Cash Basis.
FULTON TIRE CO.
6 W. Peachtree St.

TIRES.

DAYTON AIRLESS TIRES
115 S. FORSYTH ST.

WIRE WHEELS.

Rebuilt and Repaired
BRIGMAN MOTORS CO.
207-9-11 IVY ST. IVY 2246

AUTOMOBILE REPAIRING

JOHN M. SMITH CO.
AUTOMOBILE COACH WORK
CARS REPAINTED.
Tops recovered and repaired. Wheels springs and axles repaired.
120-122-124 AUBURN AVE.

IGNITION AND STARTING.

HOPE MOTOR CO., 143 Marietta st. White Hickory Trucks. Sales and service.

AUTO TOPS AND PAINTING.

WE CAN RECOVER YOUR TOP ON SHORT NOTICE. WE CARRY ALL MAKES OF AUTO TOP MATERIAL. ATLANTA AUTO TOP & TRIMMING CO., 155 AND 157 EDGEWOOD AVENUE.

WE rebuild and paint used Stutz cars. See us. We might have what you want. STUTZ COMPANY OF GEORGIA. 224 Peachtree St.

ELECTRIC REPAIRING.

SIMS Magneto Service station. All kinds elec. repairing done. S. H. Odom Bros. Atlanta. Gill stop-leak piston rings $1 each

AUTOMOBILES

FOR SALE.

FORDS—DODGES

1920 Ford Touring; new, $100 extras		$ 650
1920 Ford Touring; starter		475
1919 Ford Truck; worm drive		375
1920 Dodge Touring; new		1,325
1920 Dodge Truck; new		1,300
1920 Dodge Roadster		850
1918 Dodge Touring		450

Fuller, Elrod & Powell
32 MADISON AVE. LA. 2704.

Special Bargains

1917 Ford truck		$175.00
1919 Chevrolet truck		250.00
1919 Ford worm-drive truck		350.00
One Ford cutdown		175.00
1918 Ford roadster		250.00
One Chevrolet touring		135.00
One Buick touring		80.00
1918 Maxwell touring		200.00
1918 Paige		450.00

USED CAR CLEARING HOUSE.
Second Floor—181 Marietta St.—Main 4231

FOR USED CARS see J. W. Goldsmith, Jr.—Grant Co., 229 Peachtree.

WOULD trade new Chalmers car for diamond. Address C-330, care Constitution.

FORD sedan, 1920 model, complete; in perfect condition. Apply 29 Peachtree Arcade.

1918 LEXINGTON, 7-pass., perfect condition, $750. Must be sold quick. Cash sacrifice. S. M. Futch. 613 Y. M. C. A.

SPECIAL BARGAINS

1918 Dodge, sedan		$ 725.00
1917 Buick Six touring		550.00
1917 Buick		650.00
Prac. new Hudson speedster		1,550.00
New Oakland 6 touring		950.00
1920 Ford worm-drive truck		425.00

LEGG & PICKETT.
118 Marietta Street. Ivy 868.

VIM TRUCK with panel body; in service 6 months; first-class condition; will sell on terms. Church & Stokes, 160 Edgewood avenue.

1920 MAXWELL—Good as new, $75 extras on it; best of condition; best offer by Dec. 1 gets it. Will take diamonds part or all payment. 210 Richardson st. Main 3244-J.

USED FORDS for sale. David T. Bussey, 188 Peachtree street.

WE BUY and sell used cars. L. B. Strauss Motor Co., 46 Houston street.

FOR good autos see Bass-Dimmitt Co., 28 Peachtree st. Ivy 5409.

SMALL 5-passenger car; perfect condition, $600. Packard, perfect mechanically, new tires, $700. Oakland sedan, like new, $825. See Weiss, 91 Houston street.

USED CARS. Georgia Motor Co., 875 Peachtree St. Ivy 370.

SEE THAT VELIE 34.

1920 Ford Touring; new		$550
1919 Ford Sedan with starter		525
1918 Ford Ton Truck		250
Used Ford Touring Body		60

J. M. PHARR
23 S. FORSYTH ST. MAIN 2981.

GOOD used cars. J. H. Lifsey-Smith Co., 170 West Peachtree street.

USED cars and trucks. Fegder Motor Co. Paige dealer. 822 Peachtree.

GOOD used cars bought and sold. J. M. Harrison & Co., 8-10 Ivy st. Ivy 3136.

HIGH CLASS USED CARS AT A GOOD PRICE. H. B. ODELL.

USED TRUCK AND CAR BARGAINS, THE WHITE CO., 66 IVY STREET.

FORDS—Apperson, Buicks, Overland, Ford Auto Exchange, 30 Wall street. Main 5297.

USED CAR Bargains, Newkirk-George Motor Co., 447 Peachtree street.

MONROE MOTOR CARS
C. S. LEE MOTOR CO. 455 PEACHTREE.

USED CARS bought, sold and traded. J. M. Pharr, 23 South Forsyth street.

OAKLAND used cars; good line to select from. So. Oakland Co., 272 Peachtree.

1919 HUPMOBILE touring, for sale cheap. Ivy 7787.

20-6 KISSEL—Just gone over. Hill-Holden Co., 247 Peachtree street.

DODGE BROTHERS new and used cars. Black & Maffett, 414 Peachtree.

DODGE touring car Bargain. John Lottridge Motor Sales Co., 264 Peachtree.

FORD USED CARS. Belle Isle, 580 Peachtree street. Ivy 507.

Used Cars BARGAINS. Willys-Overland, Inc., 451 Peachtree.

USED cars—Newsom & Kelly Motor Corp., 471 Peachtree street.

Used Car bargains. C. C. Baggs Auto Co., Main 2848.

GOOD RENEWED CARS. Joseph G. Blount, 385 Peachtree st. Ivy 4152.

USED cars at bargain. J. G. Lewis Motor Co., 282 Peachtree st.

USED CARS 169-171 Marietta St.

USED CARS SEE Atlanta Cadillac Co., 183 Peachtree st.

GARAGE AND REPAIRS | SERVICE STATIONS

YOURS FOR SERVICE

IF YOU OWN AN AUTOMOBILE you are bound to have some kind of trouble some time, and with a large crew of only first-class mechanics and electricians, we are prepared to give you very PROMPT and EFFICIENT SERVICE.

Let us put your car in good shape before the real cold days come.

C. A. TAPPAN B. FRANK HALL
Owners and Operators.

Southern Auto & Equipment Co., Inc.
111 S. Forsyth Street. Established 1905, Atlanta.

BUSINESS CARDS | BUSINESS CARDS

ANY FIRM—ANY SERVICE

LOOK for the heading denoting the particular service or article you desire. Or better, read each of them and get many suggestions as to household and business conveniences that you are now doing without simply because it has never occurred to you that the services offered were so easily to be commanded.
A DAILY FEATURE.

STORAGE—MOVING | STORAGE—MOVING

We Haul Your Goods Free of Charge

STORE WITH US IN OUR LARGE, UP-TO-DATE WAREHOUSE at 330 and 336 Edgewood avenue. The best and largest warehouse in the city for storage of household goods.

$7.50 SAVED ON EVERY LOAD.

Vittur's Transfer and Storage Co.
WE DO COUNTRY HAULING. BELL PHONE, IVY 7554.

ALTERING AND TAILORING.

OLD CLOTHES made to look like new. Wright Tailoring Co., 24 E. Hunter. M. 1896.

BUILDING—ROOFING—REPAIRING.

HOUSE repairs, garage and cement work, wall tinting, old roofs repaired reasonably. Credit. J. M. Daniel, Co., Ivy 7720-J.

BARGAINS IN FURNITURE.

COAL ranges, cook stoves, gas stoves, etc., bought, exchanged. Main 1653-J. 234 Peters street.

CEMENTING—BUILDING—REPAIRING.

R. W. DAVIS, cement drive way, steps and walks, building and general repair work. Phone East Point 407-W.

DENTAL WORK.

DENTIST DR. R. JENSEN, 78½ WHITEHALL STREET.

DEBTS—DEBTS.

Collects Doubtful Debts
Guaranteed Results, or No Cost.
Gill Bros. Co., 910 Austell Bldg.

ELECTRICAL CONTRACTORS.

BRYAN ELECTRIC CO.
DEALERS IN NEW AND USED ELECTRIC MACHINERY.
58 Edgewood Ave., Atlanta, Ga.
WIRING DEPARTMENT,
Bell Phone, Ivy 1760.
SHOP DEPARTMENT,
Bell Phone, Ivy 1788.

ELEVATOR ENGINEERS.

ATLANTA ELEVATOR CO., 18 Gilmer st. Ivy 6686. Builders and designers of all types of elevators, electric, hydraulic and hand stock of used machines.

EVERYTHING ELECTRICAL.

IF IT'S electrical, we can repair it. ROBT. L. BEDGOOD. 9A E. Alabama St.

GENERAL REPAIR WORK OF ALL KINDS

M. & D. roof doctors, carpenter, cabinet work specialty. All work guar. I. 5507-J.

GENERAL HOUSE CLEANING.

FOR general house cleaning, repairing, painting call Ivy 4508. 51 Carnegie way.

JANITORS' SUPPLIES.

GARBAGE cans, brooms, mops, brushes, dusters, sponges, chamoise polishes. Sanitary Supply Co., 72-74 Edgewood. Ivy 2280

MOVING—STORAGE.

FLANAGAN BROS., general transfer Heavy and light hauling, country hauls and straw rides. 53 Central Ave. Telephone Main 2377.

MATTRESS RENOVATING.

Trouton Mattress company, renovating a specialty. Phone Main 6134. 113 Peters St.

OLD HATS MADE NEW.

OLD HATS made new; satisfaction guaranteed. Mail orders given prompt attention. Acme Hatters, 20 East Hunter St.

PLUMBING AND HEATING.

ESTIMATES furnished. Special attention given to all repair work. 81 S. Pryor st. W. S. Davis & Son. Main 2493.

PAINTING AND WALL TINTING.

WALTER BARTLETT
Open shop. 72 S. Forsyth. Main 1655.

PAINTING AND TINTING.

PAINTING AND PAPERING—Rooms, $5 to $7. Leaks guaranteed. Call West 630-J.

ROOFING AND REPAIRING.

LET ME put on your new roof. Why? Because I specialize on composition roofing. Old roofs repaired. W. J. Armstrong, West 1054-W.

ROOFING AND REPAIRS.

ROOFING
ANY KIND OF ROOFS PUT ON. NEW OR REPAIRED. WORK GUARANTEED.
WALKER ROOFING CO.
207-09 MARIETTA ST. M 3291-1856

ROOFING.

See Us Before You Do Any Roofing.
BARRETT-LIMBAUGH CO.
81 Marietta St. Phone Ivy 8138

ROOFING AND REPAIRING.

STROUD ROOFING CO.—Anything in roofing and repairing. Phone West 118-J.

STORAGE.

LARGE truckload furniture stored, $5 per month. Hauling free. Call Atlanta Transfer and Storage Co.

TRUNKS AND SUIT CASES

ROUNTREE'S 77 Whitehall Street. M. 1576

TYPEWRITERS.

TYPEWRITERS bought, sold and rebuilt. W. S. Smith, 217 Arcade. Main 4469.

UPHOLSTERING AND REFINISHING.

CAPITOL UPHOLSTERING CO.—Repair work of all kinds. We pack and ship; also covers made; save 1-3 on your work by calling West 1637, or Main 2906.

AUTOMOBILES

FOR SALE.

NEW standard make car, 1920 model. Run less than 400 miles. Perfect mechanical and physical condition. Will sell at great sacrifice. Telephone Hemlock 736.

NASH—1919 7-passenger Touring; JUST repainted and is in perfect condition. Has good tires, looks and runs good and is priced below its real value; for your convenience we are open evenings until 9 o'clock, and will be glad to have you inspect this car or arrange for demonstration.
SOUTHERN NASH MOTOR CO.,
541 PEACHTREE ST. IVY 5362.

OAKLAND sedan; like new; tires new; sacrifice for $800 cash. Phone Main 971.

TIRES at 30 cents on the dollar. McPherson Rubber Co., 15 Houston street.

USED FORD TRUCKS
CANNON, STRINGFELLOW & CO.
264 Peachtree.

CYLINDERS, crankshafts ground right. Ragan Scales Co., 167 Forsyth. Main 3768.

REBUILT automobiles, guaranteed. E. R. Parker Motor Co., 316 Peachtree street.

AUTO EXCHANGE

I WOULD like to trade $4,000 equity in 1920 model Twin Six Packard for diamonds, real estate or a Cadillac. Address J. G., care Constitution.

WILL trade Overland 90-T, 1919 model for diamond. Address J. G., care Const.

MONEY TO LOAN

LICENSE NO. 1.

Lincensed and Bonded
LOANS
$24 to $300

YOU can borrow money so cheap and on such easy terms of repayment that no one need hesitate to come to us in an emergency.

This company is licensed and bonded, under supervision of the State Banking Commissioner and a member of the American Industrial Licensed Lenders' association.

LOANS $24 TO $300
On Furniture, Pianos, Etc.

OUR plan of repayment is positively the best in the

ORDER TO GREECE NOT TO CUT ARMY

Britain Demands Army Be Kept at the Present Strength—Foes of Allies Barred Cabinet..

London, November 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British government will insist on the Greek army being maintained at its present strength and that the Rhallis cabinet shall not include men viewed with disfavor by the allies.

The foregoing views are set forth in a memorandum which Earl Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, has handed to the French premier, M. Leygues, for perusal by the French cabinet when M. Leygues returns to Paris.

Great Britain disapproves the return of Constantine to the Greek throne, being made the subject of a formal protest, but nevertheless wishes that the British views shall be emphasized to the new Greek government. This is a firmer attitude than the British government held a few days ago, and it is believed in conference circles that it will appeal to the view of the French government. It is further interpreted as meaning that Great Britain at present does not favor revision of the Turkish peace treaty.

Premiers Suspend Conferences.

The conferences between Premiers Lloyd-George and Leygues have been temporarily suspended owing to the necessity of the French premier's return to Paris tomorrow morning. Premier Leygues is anxious to be present when the chamber of deputies discusses the question of French representation at the vatican. He hopes to return to London Wednesday morning.

Count Sforza, the Italian foreign minister, who is to take part in the conferences with the premiers, notably in connection with their consideration of the question of Greece, in view of the Greek demand for the return of former King Constantine to the throne, arrived in London tonight. It does not appear likely, however, that the Greek affair will be straightened out until the representatives of all three nations—Great Britain, France and Italy—get together.

GREEK TROOPS SENT TO CRETE.

Athens, November 27.—The government has dispatched a regiment of infantry to Crete. It is stated officially that no troubles have broken out in Crete, but that unrest exists in some villages, and that the troops have been sent merely as a matter of precaution.

THE GUMPS—AND THE BABY LAUGHED OUT LOUD

TALK OF ASKING UNITED STATES TO ACT ON GREECE

BY EDWIN HULLINGER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Paris, November 28.—A declaration by Foreign Minister Sforza of Italy, passing through Paris on his way to London, where he will discuss the allied attitude towards the new Greek government and Constantine, that he would take sides with Premier Leygues, of France, favoring a revision of the Sevres treaty, has revived hope here that Lloyd-George may be forced to recede from his position.

Working in combination, the two Latin premiers may be able, it is predicted, to swing the British chief over to their method of dealing with the nation which has thrown out the government considered most friendly to the entente.

"I, alone of all the diplomats at Paris during the peace conference," declared Sforza in an interview published by The Temps, "advised a revision of the Sevres treaty, making its terms more acceptable to Turkey. Events have justified my standpoint, and I am going to London with exactly the same conviction."

The two Latin government heads are pitted against Lloyd-George. According to his present plans, Premier Leygues intends to leave the conference only long enough to make a statement on the vatican question before the French chamber, returning to the British capital on Wednesday.

May Invite United States.

According to The Matin, the United States may be invited to join the allies in jurisdiction over Smyrna and other Near-Eastern territories accorded to Greece by the Sevres treaty.

Stephane Lauzanne, the editor, declares that the premiers favor an international regime consisting of Great Britain, France, Italy and the United States, to administer affairs in Smyrna jointly. Premier Leygues, however, has found considerable opposition to his proposition of turning the provinces back to the Turks.

Great Britain recognizes, of course, the advantage of preventing a pro-German power, such as the Constantine government, from gaining dominance in the Near East. She is equally unwilling, however, to see the Ottoman empire restored, and to give back to the Turks the territory confiscated from them as a penalty for their war crimes.

Pertinax, writing in The Echo de Paris, says that Lord Curzon has delivered a memorandum to the French government suggesting that Premier Rhallis of Greece be summoned to London to confer with the premiers. In this event he would be asked to try out a compromise government, which would exclude the notoriously pro-German politicians.

Cruzon pointed out the difficulties of tampering with the Sevres treaty unless it were absolutely necessary, adding that the Greek army is a powerful factor for order in Asia Minor, and that the allies should profit from it, if possible.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Louisa Carmichael.

Mrs. Louisa Carmichael, aged 58, died Saturday night at 11 o'clock, at the residence of a friend, Mrs. E. A. Hardy, 263 Lee street. She is survived by three brothers, J. A. West, M. D. West and G. A. West, all of Dalton, Ga., where the funeral and burial will be held Monday.

George A. Graber.

George A. Graber, 49 years old, died Sunday morning at the residence, 1422 Peachtree street. He is survived by his wife, daughters, Miss Agnes Graber, Mrs. J. T. Nunn, of Belleville, Ontario, Dominion of Canada, and a son, George Graber, of Chicago, Ill. The body will be sent to Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Elvia Leola Nix.

Mrs. Elvia Leola Nix, aged 46, of 871 Gordon street, West End, died at a local hospital Saturday afternoon. She is survived by her husband, D. H. Nix; one daughter, Mrs. H. C. Eskridge, Atlanta; three sons, C. F. Homer C. and Guy, all of Atlanta; her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Fridell, Cobb county, Ga.; three brothers, John Fridell, Cobb county; Floyd Fridell, Charlotte, N. C.; Irving Fridell, Marietta, Georgia.

Robert S. Hilliard, Sr.

Robert S. Hilliard, Sr., aged 56, of 287 Lawton street, West End, died at a local hospital Saturday night. He is survived by his widow, two sons, R. S. Hilliard, Jr., of Atlanta; F. H. Hilliard, of Fitzgerald, Ga.; two sisters, Mrs. G. C. McDonald, Waycross, Ga.; Mrs. J. G. Clough, Blackshear, Ga.; three brothers, C. A. Hilliard, Jacksonville, Fla.; C. W. Hilliard, Jacksonville, Fla.; T. G. Hilliard, Fort Pierce, Fla. The body was taken to Waycross.

NO CASE IS MADE AGAINST DRIVER OF DEATH MACHINE

Upon reading in Sunday's newspapers of the death of Mrs. Dora Fillingin, of 57 Candler street, which occurred Saturday night at Grady hospital, following internal injuries sustained when she was knocked down and run over by an automobile, E. L. King, of Lanier university, who was driving the machine which figured in the accident, surrendered Sunday to Marshal Phillips, of Kirkwood.

Marshal Phillips declined to take King into custody, however, as no case had been docketed against him. Witnesses to the tragedy had stated that the accident, which occurred at the corner of Candler and McLendon streets, was unavoidable. It was claimed that Mrs. Fillingin was crossing the street and stepped directly into the path of the approaching machine.

MRS. MAY MORRIS LOSES HER PURSE TO YOUNG NEGRO

Mrs. May Morris, of 191 Courtland street, was the victim Sunday of what detectives believe to be a professional purse-snatcher, who has operated in Atlanta for several weeks. Mrs. Morris, while returning from a call on a relative on Pine street, was followed by a negro man who, upon reaching the corner of Courtland and Pine streets, ran up to her and snatched her purse, which she carried on her wrist.

The case is being investigated by Detectives Doyle and Brown. The purse is said to have contained 50 cents and a gold ring. Instances of purse snatching are becoming almost nightly occurrences in the city, according to reports at police station.

Notice of Bond Issue

Notice is hereby given that Atlanta Gas Light company has made application to the railroad commission of Georgia for authority to create an issue of its negotiable refunding and improvement mortgage 50-year sinking fund gold bonds, to the amount of $5,000,000 face value, $1,150,000 of which bonds are to be used in retiring outstanding bonds of similar amount, and $650,000 to be used in the payment for the acquisition of property, construction of plants, stations, distribution system, etc.; the remaining $4,200,000 of bonds issued and secured by such mortgage to be reserved to be executed at a later date.

This application will be heard by the railroad commission of Georgia at meeting beginning at 10 o'clock a. m., December 9, 1920. All parties desiring to be heard in connection with the same should communicate with the commission on or before the date above named.

This notice is given in accordance with the requirements of the railroad commission of Georgia.

ATLANTA GAS LIGHT COMPANY—By G. W. BRINE, President.

TRUSTEE'S SALE.

GEORGIA—Fulton County.

By order of court, the trustee of the estate of LeRoy E. Humphries, bankrupt, will offer for sale in the office of the referee, Judge P. H. Adams, 512 Grant building, Atlanta, Ga., at 3 o'clock p. m., on December 3, 1920, the assets of bankrupt as follows:

1. Automobiles: One Model C 5-passenger American touring car, No. 3210, factory cost $1,945; one Model C 5-passenger American touring car, No. 3211, factory cost $1,945; one Model C 5-passenger American touring car, No. 3219, factory cost $1,945; one Model B sedan American demonstration, No. 48461, factory cost $2,515; one Model C American demonstrator, No. 1068-A, factory cost $1,945; one Model B American maroon roadster demonstrator, No. 48513, factory cost $1,638; one Model B American green roadster, torn down, No. 48201, factory cost $1,638; one Model B American sedan, No. 48160, factory cost, $2,350; one used Hudson 1918 touring car, No. 44596, factory cost $1,209; one Chandler touring 7-passenger, wire wheel, factory cost $1,200.

2. Office furniture and fixtures, inventoried at $1,442.75.

3. Shop tools, equipment, supplies and accessories, inventoried at $3,003.46.

4. Notes and accounts receivable, face value $9,839.73.

Terms cash. For examination of property and further information see undersigned.

W. S. DILLON, Receiver,
620 Hurt Bldg.

W. A. FULLER, Attorney, 1029 Healey Building.

Powder Springs Eleven Makes Good Record

BY FRED HANEY.

Powder Springs, Ga., November 28.—(Special.)—After enjoying one of the best seasons of football in the history of the school, the Seventh District Agricultural and Mechanical school, near this city, has rung down the curtain for the 1920 season after playing a total of six games, entering three on the won side of the book and three on the lost page.

The school played some of the best teams in the state and the games lost were by a small margin. The first game that Powder Springs played was with the strong G. M. A. eleven, holding the "thin red line" to a 20-to-0 score, all of the points being scored in the last half after the A. & M. line weakened. The second game of the season was entered on the right side of the ledger, this win coming from the Carrollton A. & M. school, and was played on the local field. The final score was 25 to 7.

Powder Springs lost the third battle when she tackled the Locust Grove eleven at Locust Grove, but not until she had put up a fight that the Locust Grove cadets will not forget for a long time, the score at the end of the fourth period being Locust Grove 7, Powder Springs 0.

After taking on the Locust Grove team the A. & M. Aggies locked their football skill against that of Marietta High and was returned the victor by a large score. The final game came Thanksgiving day, when the Grant Park team from Atlanta met Powder Springs on the school field and the Grant Park team was forced to take the small end of a 32-to-7 score. In the Grant Park game the gridiron fans of and around Powder Springs were given a chance to see one of the greatest prep players that Atlanta has turned out in a long time, this player being the popular Joe Gaston, who won fame on the Tech High eleven a few years back.

The school will lose several letter men this year, among them being Captain Ward and Roland "Bull" Arnold, two of the best players that the school has ever had. Besides these two backfield men the school will lose several of its line men, who will graduate next spring to higher schools, where they can show their football ability.

While the loss of these men will be felt, Locust Grove has good material left. Among some of the most promising stars are Chafin, Keys, Bryant, Paris and Griffith. All of these men except one are in the junior class and have only one more season to play as a high school student.

Since the football season is over, sports will be quiet until the men are called out for the baseball teams in January or February, since the school does not carry basketball on its menu of sports.

Alleged Burglar Jailed.

Titus Lester, aged 25, colored, who is wanted in Fayetteville on a charge of burglarizing the store of John M. Jackson and stealing one dozen pairs of shoes, was arrested downtown late Sunday night by Deputy Sheriff Brogdon of Fayette county. He will probably be taken to Fayetteville today or tomorrow. The alleged burglary was committed two or three nights ago.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

P. H. Brewster. Albert Howell, Jr.
Arthur Herman.
Brewster, Howell & Herman.
Attorneys-at-Law.
Offices—507 to 520 Connally Building.
Atlanta, Ga.
Long Distance Telephone: Main 3023, 3024 and 3026 Atlanta, Ga.

FOR SALE—CATTLE

For sale, for immediate delivery, 40 Kentucky graded steers, weighing from 600 to 800 pounds each. Also 25 head of local cattle, weighing from 400 to 600 pounds, all in good order. Write or wire PRATHER STINSON, Talbotton, Ga.

NORTH SIDE BUNGALOW

ATKINS PARK: In this restricted residential park we are offering a beautiful six-room brick veneer bungalow, with tile roof. It has a large living room, dining room, sun parlor, kitchen, two bed rooms, bath and laundry in the basement. All the rooms are papered in excellent taste, and the lighting and plumbing fixtures are the best. There is a large tile front porch, cement side drive and garage. Price $15,500; terms.

ST. CHARLES AVE. Near Highland avenue we are offering a six-room frame bungalow. It has hardwood floors, beam ceilings, two bedrooms and a glassed in sleeping porch. It is furnace heated and there is an exceptionally large back yard. As the owner is leaving Atlanta, possession can be secured in a very short time. Price $8,000.

FORREST & GEORGE ADAIR
"WE SELL LOTS"
HEALEY BUILDING. IVY 100

"The Business Man's Department Store" can supply you with
The Gift that will please:
Fountain Pens
Eversharp Pencils
Cut Glass Ink Stands
Bronze and Silver Desk Sets
Ask for other suggestions
Foote & Davies Co.
Five Seconds from 5 Points
Edgewood and Pryor Ivy 4600

COAL STEAM and DOMESTIC LUMP For Quick Shipment
STANDARD COAL COMPANY
309-10-11 Peters Bldg. ATLANTA, GA. Main 2268—Main 1972

Joel Hunter & Co., Atlanta
CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANTS
FEDERAL TAX ADVISERS
BUSINESS COUNSELLORS

JAMES L. RESPESS
CERTIFIED PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT
ATLANTA, GA.
EXPERT ON SPECIAL INVESTIGATIONS FOR INCOME TAX.
PERSONALLY REPRESENTING CLIENTS IN WASHINGTON

COAL We offer, subject to prior sale, some high-grade Kentucky Velvet Lump, and good Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama mine run coal. Phone or write us for prices.
Phone Ivy 753. Truitt Coal & Iron Company

ALONZO RICHARDSON & CO.
Certified Public Accountants
ATLANTA TRUST CO BLDG. ATLANTA
BIBB REALTY BLDG MACON

THAT PUZZLING PRESENT

We can solve many of your Xmas gift problems, with our full line of KODAKS, FOUNTAIN PENS, EVERSHARP PENCILS, THERMOMETERS, ETC.

Our wide range of prices and stock renders such a gift both economical and serviceable.

A. K. HAWKES CO.
14 Whitehall St. Opticians Atlanta, Ga.

HUNTER & FORSYTH
Atlanta's New Retail District
Right in the Shopping District. Just a few steps off Whitehall. Most desirable location for any kind of retail, wholesale or light manufacturing business.
Stores, Lofts and Basements
Strictly Modern--5-Year Leases
For further information and plans see
A. G. RHODES & SON
202 RHODES BUILDING.

Certain-teed
HOUSE PAINTS
Extra Quality

Compare Formula with other Paints

PIGMENT
Basic Lead Carbonate	49.81
Basic Lead Sulphate	10.91
Oxide of Zinc	29.12
Magnesium Silicate	6.97
Silica	3.19
	100.00%
VEHICLE
Refined Linseed Oil	86.24
Turpentine	5.70
Japan Dryer	8.06
	100.00%

Outside White $3.75
French Gray . . . 3.35
Ivory 3.35
Brown 2.90
Green 2.90

These are Quality Paints, for use where Long Service is required. Where highest quality is not necessary we offer Medium Grade Paints Down to— $1.15 per Gal.

Price Vary for Different Shades, According to Cost

Barrett-Limbaugh Co., Inc.
81 Marietta Street
Phone Ivy 8138 Atlanta

CUT FLOWERS
West View FLORIST
115 PEACHTREE STREET
FUNERAL DESIGNS

Do It Now Save Worry

You don't wait until your stocks are exhausted to place new orders. You'd lose business if you did.

Why wait until the last minute to plan for your annual audit, when you may lose in service by delay?

An early contract insures you both the best experts and the promptest service.

DO IT NOW!

Alonzo Richardson & Company
Certified Public Accountants, Atlanta Trust Co. Bldg. Atlanta.
TAX SPECIALISTS

WE PAINT CARS
Experts in Charge of Our Shop Guarantee Best Possible Work.
Call Ivy 1117 for Estimate.
J W Goldsmith, Jr. Grant Co.
229 Peachtree St.

FEDERAL
Need a Truck? Then You Need—Another FEDERAL
Brigman Motors Co.
207-11 Ivy St. Ivy 2246

KO-NUT KO-NUT MAKES A NICKEL LOOK THIRSTY— 5c
Made by THE RED ROCK COMPANY

Lodge Notices

A called communication of Palestine Lodge No. 486, F. & A. M., will be held in Masonic Temple this (Monday) evening, November 29. The Fellowcraft degree will be conferred. All qualified brothers are cordially invited to attend.

EWELL GAY, W. M.
R. Y. BARRETT, Secretary.

A called communication of Capital City Lodge No. 642, F. & A. M., will be held this (Monday) evening at Fraternity Hall, 423½ Marietta street, at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of conferring the Master Mason's degree. All duly qualified brethren are cordially and fraternally invited to meet with us. Candidates will present themselves promptly. By order of

J. E. HALEY, W. M.
J. G. BENTON, Secretary.

At a called communication of College Park Lodge No. 454, F. & A. M., to be held in their Lodge Room, Longino building, this (Monday) evening, November 29, commencing at 7:30 o'clock, the Entered Apprentice degree will be conferred. All qualified brethren are cordially invited.

H. S. WILHEIT, W. M.
J. D. STONE, Secretary.

A special conclave of Atlanta Commandery No. 9, K. T., will be held in its Asylum this (Monday) evening at 7:30 o'clock, for the purpose of instruction in Commandery Tactics. All newly made Sir Knights are especially urged to be present. Instruction will be in charge of Captain General Sir O. C. Long. Members of Coeur de Lion are invited to meet with us.

THOS. C. BURFORD, E. C.
O. C. LONG, C. G.
WILLIAM A. SIMS, Recorder.

There will be a regular meeting of Eureka Council No. 7 this (Monday) evening, November 29, at 7:30 o'clock in their hall, corner Marietta and Alexander streets. Degree work. All visiting brethren cordially invited to meet with us. By order of

E. B. HULL, Councilor.
F. A. MILLER, R. S.

A called communication of Lebanon Lodge No. 655, F. & A. M., this (Monday) evening at Lebanon Temple, corner Georgia avenue and South Pryor street, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Work in the Master's degree. Candidates please be present promptly. Visiting brethren cordially invited to meet with us. By order of M. J. WRIGHT, W. M.

ARTHUR J. DUNLAP, Secretary.

Funeral Notices

HODGES—Died, at a private sanitarium, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hodges. The remains will be laid to rest this afternoon in Casey's cemetery. A. O. & Roy Donehoo, directors.

HILLIARD—Mr. Robert L. Hilliard, age 56, died Saturday night at a local hospital. The remains were carried Sunday night to Waycross, Ga., 10 o'clock, via A. B. & A. railway, for funeral and interment. Awtry & Lowndes Co., funeral directors. Joseph B. Gartrell, Jr., in charge.

BALDWIN—Died, Charles Hubert, the two-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baldwin, early Sunday morning at the home on the Forest Park road. Besides his parents he is survived by one little sister and three brothers. The remains will be laid to rest this afternoon at 2 o'clock in New Hope churchyard. A. O. & Roy Ronehoo, directors.

M'MILLAN—Mr. Alex G. McMillan, age 58, died at his home, 341 Myrtle street, Saturday night. He is survived by his widow, and two daughters, Mrs. D. W. Dillingslee and Miss May McMillan; one son, Mr. T. L. McMillan; two sisters, Mrs. J. C. Manning and Miss Jennie McMillan, and two brothers, Messrs. J. G. and Thomas McMillan. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Barclay & Brandon Co., morticians.

GRABER—Died, Sunday, November 28, 1920, at the residence, 1422 Peachtree street, Mr. George A. Graber, in the 50th year of his age. He is survived by his wife, daughter, Miss Agnes; son, George Graber, of Chicago, Ill., and a sister, Mrs. J. T. Nunn, of Belleville, Province of Ontario, Dominion of Canada. The remains will be sent to Chicago, Ill., this (Monday) morning via Dixie Flyer at 8:40 o'clock by H. M. Patterson & Son, for funeral and interment.

LAKE—Mrs. Laura M. Lake, of 250 Ponce de Leon avenue, died at a private sanitarium Saturday afternoon. She is survived by one son, Mr. Frank G. Lake. Funeral services were held Sunday, November 28, 1920, at 3:30 p. m., from the home, Rev. B. R. Lacy, Jr., officiating. The remains will be taken this (Monday) morning at 7:50 o'clock via Central of Georgia railroad to Macon, Ga., for interment at Rose Hill cemetery by Barclay & Brandon Co., morticians.

FILLINGIN—Mrs. Dora Fillingin, age 55, of 57 Candler street, died from injuries received in an auto accident Saturday night. She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary C. Milner, of Atlanta; four daughters, Mrs. W. D. Cochran, of Newton, N. C.; Mrs. Vivian Walker and Mrs. Joseph Armentrout and Miss Julian Fillingin, of Atlanta; three sons, Messrs. Robert H. and F. M. Fillingin, of Des Moines, Iowa, and W. F. Fillingin, of Hartford, Conn.; one brother, Mr. McWhorter Milner, and one sister, Mrs. Julia Painter, both of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Barclay & Brandon Co., morticians.

MURPHY—The friends and relatives of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Murphy, Miss Mary Murphy, Mrs. Ella Jenkins, of Columbus, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crawford, of Columbus, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davidson, and Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Jenkins, of Columbus, Ga., are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. C. E. Murphy today (Monday), November 29, 1920, at 2:30 p. m., from the residence, 156 Peachtree circle. The Rev. S. E. Wasson will officiate. The interment will be at Oakland cemetery. The following gentlemen will please act as pallbearers and meet at the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son at 2 o'clock: Mr. W. A. Albright, Mr. O. L. Jernigan, Mr. N. F. Davidson, Dr. W. N. Powell, Mr. R. P. Ripley and Mr. J. H. Ewing.

NIX—The friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Nix, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Eskridge, Mr. C. F. Nix and Mr. Homer C. Nix and Mr. Guy Nix, of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fridell, Mr. and Mrs. John Fridell, all of Cobb county; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Fridell, of Charlotte, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Fridell, of Marietta, Ga., are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. Elvia Leola Nix this (Monday) afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 871 Gordon street. The Rev. Robert Tyler will officiate. The following gentlemen will act as pallbearers and meet at residence: Mr. V. E. Cliatt, Mr. P. A. Shipp, Mr. M. C. Adair, Mr. J. C. Cox, Mr. H. T. Stroud, Mr. J. T. Marler. Interment will be in West View cemetery. Awtry & Lowndes Co., funeral directors.

AUTOMOBILES FOR FUNERALS
Limousines and Open Cars
BELLE ISLE
Ivy 166-5190. 38-40 Auburn Ave.

AUCTION SALE OF BUILDINGS—Office of Quartermaster, Camp Gordon, Ga. 132 buildings at Central Officers' Training School area will be sold at public auction, beginning at 10 a. m., December 6, 1920. Further information on application.

NOTICE

Having bought out Sam Kaplin's business at 274 Decatur street, this is notice to the public I am not responsible for any debts of said Sam Kaplin, This, November 26, 1920.

SALLEY.

Positively Beautiful
The form letters we are turning out with our new-type equipment.
Atlanta Multigraphing Co
810 Flatiron Bldg.
Phone, Ivy 1436.